QUEEN ALEXANDRA IS DEAD

TODAY

Poor Little Lambs.
If It Were a Dog.
Too Busy to Die.
Tut's Decorations.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Look at stock market quotations today!

Unfortunately little men with weak "margins" will be the victims. A few speculative stocks dropped, and others, non-speculative are thrown overboard, prices slashed to meet losses. Quiet men that know real values pick up the bargains, and that is another chapter in stock exchange history.

Moral—Don't gamble.

Our glorious navy, not efficient in aircraft building or management, shows no lack of efficiency when it comes to worrying an unfortunate woman, widow of the Shenandoah's commander, called to testify about the killing of her husband.

She is informed by the learned court that she is not entitled to counsel. If somebody had stolen her dog, she would be allowed to have a lawyer. Why can't she have one when her husband has been taken from her?

The American people would like to have a convincing answer to that question.

They would like to know why her lawyer was forcibly put out of the court. When a cabinet officer steals a naval oil reserve he can have 50 lawyers and nobody objects.

When a woman's husband is stolen from her by official stupidity, she ought to have all possible protection—as many lawyers as she wants.

What Mrs. Lansdowne says is simple and true—namely, that her husband objected to taking the Shenandoah on a stupid political "state fair" trip.

This writer can corroborate his statement.

Last June, Commander Lansdowne, in his wife's presence, told this writer at Lakewood, N. J., that sending the Shenandoah across this country in the thunderstorm season would be highly dangerous, and in case a thunderstorm were encountered, would probably result in disaster.

The ship was ordered to go across the country, and Lansdowne, who had crossed the ocean in a dirigible and knew his business, protested. He was overruled by ignoramuses, and their stupidity killed him. The least the navy can do is to treat his widow chivalrously, having killed her husband.

Clemenceau, the French "Tiger," reported dying on Tuesday, was working at his desk. He told reporters, "I am too busy to die." A good description of a man whose mental energy lasts past 80.

Voltaire, always "dying," but too busy to die, enjoyed his greatest triumph in Paris when, past 84. The crowd took the horses from his carriage and dragged him home after the production of his play. He might have lived to see the last "volume" of his work, which was the French revolution, had he not been, as he said, "killed by kindness."

Free! Free! Guide to Reading

Books are the greatest builders of happiness.

They stand for education and culture in our lives. They are a resource that we can not afford to overlook.

The trouble is to find the right books to read and study.

This has now been made easy by the American Library Association. It has prepared an authoritative list of "One Thousand Useful Books." The titles selected for this compilation have been chosen from the standpoint of the layman and the student who may wish suggestions for study along certain lines.

A copy of this valuable and instructive booklet is waiting for you. Fill in your name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage.

COOLIDGE, BACK FROM NEW YORK, PENS MESSAGE FOR CONGRESS

WORLD COURT O. K.

Compliments Directing Heads of Nation's Great Industries.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Having assured organized business that, irrespective of its size, it has nothing to fear from his administration so long as it travels along the road of public service, President Coolidge returned to the capital today and started whipping into shape the most important address of the year—his annual message to congress on the state of the nation.

The president came back from New York well pleased with his trip. His audience of more than a thousand leaders of so-called "Big Business" gave him an enthusiastic reception, and warmly applauded his pledge to keep the government out of business so long as business keeps out of the government.

"The present generation of business has shown every disposition to correct its own abuses with as little intervention of the government as possible," said Mr. Coolidge. This compliment to the directing heads of great industries in his audience was enormously applauded.

Message To Bankers.

Mr. Coolidge purposely refrained from any extended review of national or international questions in his address, preferring to reserve this for communication to congress two weeks hence.

He did, however, renew his endorsement of the world court, pointing out

Elks' Lodge Plans Memorial Services Sunday, December 6

The East Liverpool lodge of Elks will hold memorial exercises in the Ceramic theatre, Sunday, December 6, in accordance with a nation-wide movement on the part of the lodge.

The committee in charge includes Carl Gruber, William Robinson, James Webber and George Goppert. A program is now being arranged for the service. The name of the memorial speaker has not been announced.

Fire Chief Makes Pre-holiday Visits In Business Zone

Fire Chief Thomas Bryan and other members of the fire department are making their annual pre-holiday inspection of the business district. Cellars, warehouses, stock rooms and other places where blazes are likely to originate are being visited. Clean-ups are being ordered wherever conditions are believed to be hazardous. The inspection probably will be completed this week.

Attorney Bennett Will be Memorial Speaker at Sharon

Attorney Ben L. Bennett, of this city, will be the speaker at the annual memorial exercises to be conducted by the B. P. O. Elks' lodge of Sharon, Pa., on Sunday, Dec. 6. His subject will be "The Religion of the Four-Leaf Clover." The exercises will be held in a Sharon theatre.

RATE OF TAXES IN CITY AND 46 OTHER DISTRICTS OF COUNTY DECREASED

East Liverpool Property Owners Given Six Tenths of Mill Reduction by County.

WELLSVILLE CUT BUT TOPS LIST

Increases in Payments Due Jan. 20 Reported in 19 Zones, While Four are Unchanged.

Taxes in East Liverpool, Wellsville and 45 other districts of Columbiana county for 192 have been decreased. In 19 zones the rate has been increased, while in four others there will be no change, it was announced today by County Auditor Charles E. Hamilton of Lisbon.

East Liverpool's rate has been reduced from 20.90 to 20.30 mills.

East Palestine Rate Declines.

Wellsville taxpayers' rate will be 28.70 instead of 29.20, in effect during the present tax year. This will be the highest tax in the 70 districts of the county.

East Palestine's rate declines from 23.60 to 22.90, while Columbiana village, which had a rate during 1925 of 23.10, will pay 21.40.

On account of the approval of a bond issue at the recent election, New Waterford's rate has been increased from 20.30 to 20.60 mills.

Other Reductions.

In Salineville village, the rate of 24.20 for 1925 has been slashed to 23.20, while the heaviest decline is shown in the Lisbon village rate, which during the last fiscal year was 25.60, and this has been reduced to 23.20.

A marked decrease is also shown

Several Families Desert Homes as High Cliff Settles

CLEVELAND, Nov. 20.—Several families have deserted their homes on the northwest rim of the Cuyahoga river valley here near Auburn and West 11th avenue, because the hill on which the houses stand, is settling and threatens to crumble the buildings.

Several of the houses have broken loose from their foundations and huge cracks have been made in the concrete bases threatening to slide the buildings down a 50-foot cliff.

Building inspectors lay the blame to quick sand dumped there recent rains and decaying rubbish as the site was formerly a city dump.

SCOUT CHIEFS' NOON LUNCHEON HERE SATURDAY

Regional Executive C. E. Carmack Will be Honor Guest.

CANVASS SCHOOLS

Conference Precedes District Council Campaign.

Regional Scout Executive C. E. Carmack will be the guest of honor at a noon luncheon to be held in the Y. M. C. A. banquet hall tomorrow by scout officials of the East Liverpool district council which consists of nine troops—nine in the city proper and one each in Chester and Newell.

Carmack, who will confer with leaders of Columbiana county Scout troops during the day, will make an address after the luncheon.

Harry A. Wilson, of Salem, county Scout executive, will also be a guest.

The district council this week made a canvass of the public and parochial schools in East Liverpool, seeking the names of all boys from the fifth grade to the sophomore year in high school who are desirous of enrolling in the Scout movement.

Meeting In Leetonia.

Plans for a district membership campaign will be discussed at tomorrow's luncheon.

Leetonia was host to 30 scout leaders on Wednesday evening, when a chicken dinner was served in the St. Paul's Lutheran chapel. Guests were present from East Liverpool, Leetonia, Lisbon, Columbiana and Salem.

After the dinner a program was

Dr. John Fraser Returns From State Health Chiefs' Meet

Dr. John Fraser, city health commissioner, returned home last evening from Columbus, where he has been attending a state meeting of health officials.

The convention opened Monday evening, all sessions being held in the new Neil house. Tuesday's sessions were given over to the study of milk. The convention will close tomorrow.

Dr. T. T. Church, Salem, county health commissioner, also attended the Columbus meeting.

FIRE DESTROYS FRAME GARAGE

Origin of Drury Lane Blaze is Undetermined.

A two-story frame garage building, in Drury Lane, near the Bell Telephone exchange, owned by Lawrence Thomas, was virtually destroyed by fire shortly before 6 o'clock last night. The loss, estimated at $500, is said to have been partly covered by insurance.

The garage, located at the rear of the residence property occupied by Mr. and Mrs. George F. Toland, was used by Toland for his machine. Barney Peterson, who lives in an adjoining structure, discovered the blaze and, after calling the fire department, drove the car from the burning building.

The blaze had gained considerable headway before firemen from the Central station arrived, but it was under control within a few minutes after the hose was brought into play.

Several windows in the rear of the Beers-Hanks Motor company's service station and garage, just across the alley from the structure, were broken by the intense heat.

Fire Chief Thomas Bryan today made an investigation of the blaze but was unable to ascertain its origin. No fires were burning in the building, it was declared.

LADIES GUESTS AT ROTARIANS' COUNTRY CLUB DINNER-DANCE

125 ARE PRESENT

Sturgis-Miller Orchestra Furnishes Music for Party.

Approximately 125 guests attended the affair which opened with a three-course turkey dinner at 7 o'clock.

The chorus singing was directed by Attorney Blaine H. Cochran, with Mrs. Bertha Cochran as accompanist. Music for the dance was furnished by the Sturgis-Miller orchestra.

F. L. Wells, Wellsville, welcomed the guests and presented Edward L. Carson chairman of the committee on arrangements who presided during the program.

The tables were cleared from the banquet hall and a program of entertainment was offered by four students from the Department of Drama, Pittsburgh Institute of Technology. The quartet included Miss Dorothy Cohen, Mrs. Theodore Diehman, Hardy Albright and Ellsworth Perrin.

The program included monologues and vaudeville numbers by Messrs. Albright and Perrin. Miss Cohen rendered two vocal selections, acting as her own accompanist. Solo numbers were also presented by Mrs. Diehman, soprano, with Miss Cohen at the piano. An interpretative dance number by Mrs. Diehman concluded the half-hour program.

A dance followed.

The committee in charge was made up of E. L. Carson, chairman, Corydon Arbold and William Louthan.

Professional Grid League Head Denies Signing of Grange

"I have investigated rumor after rumor," Carr said, "but have been unable to find any facts justifying them. Under our rulings Grange is ineligible to sign a contract until after Saturday's game. He cannot play with any league team until one year after he finishes his college football career unless, of course, he decides to quit school. In that event I shall be glad to welcome him into the league."

Steamer, Reported Sunk With 200 on Board, is Found

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The Haitain steamer Villes Des Cayes, reported to have been sunk with 200 persons aboard, has been found and is being towed into Pilon harbor, Cuba, by an American tanker, according to advices to the navy department today.

The dispatch mentioned no casualties, and contained no details.

The vessel was out of Santiago and is believed to have run into rough seas.

ENGLAND MOURNS AS HEART ATTACK CLAIMS KING GEORGE'S MOTHER

Widow of Late King Edward Passes Away at Her Country Home at Sandringham, Where She Has Been in Retirement for More Than Year Due to Ill Health.

ALL MEMBERS OF ROYAL FAMILY SUMMONED TO BEDSIDE BEFORE END

Dowager Queen, Who Would Have Been 81 Had She Lived Until December 1, Made Brave Fight for Life and Had Made Plans for Reunion on Birthday.

By H. K. REYNOLDS

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Alexandra, dowager queen of Great Britain, is dead.

The well beloved queen mother, widow of the late King Edward, died at her country home at Sandringham, where she has been in retirement for more than a year due to ill health.

She died at 5:25 this afternoon. The announcement of her death was made a half an hour later.

Queen Alexandra, who would have been 81 had she lived until December 1, suffered a heart attack at noon yesterday, and though she made a brave fight for life, her age was against here and she was not able to survive the attack.

Until Thursday the queen mother had been improving in health and was out motoring on Wednesday and actively making plans for a re-union of her family on the occasion of her birthday.

Official Bulletin.

"Her majesty Queen Alexandra passed away peacefully at 5:25 today. The king and queen and members of the royal family were present."

(Signed) F. J. WILLIAMS.
SIR THOMAS HORDER.

The royal family of Great Britain was at the bedside of the queen mother when death came.

King George and Queen Mary had been constantly with the dying queen since morning. The Princess Royal arrived from London during the early afternoon. The queen of Norway, daughter of Queen Alexandra, has been staying at her Sandringham residence and was hastily summoned to the sick room during the early afternoon. The Prince of Wales and the Duke and Duchess of York also went down from London.

Favorite With People.

Announcement of the death of the queen mother threw all England into deep mourning.

Court mourning will be announced in the Court Gazette and social life has already come to a standstill.

That the death of the queen mother had been expected, nevertheless the British public was greatly saddened by the news of the death, for Queen Alexandra during her many years in England has endeared herself to the British people and there has been no greater royal favorite than this kindly queen."

Official notifications that the British empire is in mourning for a period of three months are now being issued.

The queen mother will probably be buried by the side of her husband, the late King Edward.

BOY RUN DOWN BY MOTOR TRUCK

Albert Donahew, 12, Commerce street, Wellsville, was brought to the City hospital at noon today suffering from a broken left arm, sustained when run down by a motor truck. The broken arm was reset by Dr. E. F. Swift of Wellsville after which the youth was removed to his home.

Two Burned To Death.

MELROSE, Mass., Nov. 20.—Heroic efforts at rescue by firemen failed to save the lives of Mrs. Isabella Boyd, 68, and her daughter, Isabel, 38, early today. Both were burned to death in their home here.

President Sends Message of Regret To King George

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—President Coolidge today sent the following expression of regret over the serious illness of Queen Alexandria of England to King George:

"I learn with deepest regret of the critical illness of your majesty's beloved mother, Queen Alexandra of England to King George: fervent hope the people of the United States, wholeheartedly share, that your majesty's anxiety may soon be relievd by her complete recovery."

PLANE CRASHES, PILOT UNHURT

Second Air Mail Accident in Allegheny Mountains.

ROCKLAND, Pa., Nov. 20.—The second serious air mail crash in the Allegheny mountains within a little more than a month occurred a mile and a half southwest of here today when Air Mail Pilot Stephen Kaufman crashed into trees on the mountainside. His plane was demolished, but Kaufman was uninjured.

Flying to Chicago from New York, Kaufman descended to a low altitude preparatory to crossing the Allegheny river at Kennerdell. A dense mist obscured his vision and before he realized how low he was flying, the plane brushed the tall mountain trees and fell.

Recovering from the shock, pilot Kaufman went to Clarion and notified air mail authorities. His mail was sent to Clarion in a truck. It was met there by a special air mail plane from Cleveland, which continued the cargo on to its destination.

Detroit Man Kills Two Sons, Probably Fatally Wounds Wife

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 20.—Richard Brusseau, 40, shot and killed his two sons and probably fatally wounded his wife today at their home, according to Mrs. Brusseau's story to the police. The dead are: Harvey, 14, and Richard, 7. Mrs. Brusseau is dying. A family quarrel prompted the shooting, according to police.

Brusseau sent another son, Clifford, 16, on an errand and then killed the others in the family, police say.

Fire Destroys Two Factories.

PASSAIC, N. J., Nov. 20.—Two factory buildings on Park place were destroyed by fire today at an estimated loss of $100,000.

WICHITA POET-FARMER-FATHER IN NEW "HUMAN HUSK" CASE SANCTIONS DR. H. E. BLAZER'S ACT

WICHITA, Kan., Nov. 20.—A "human husk" case, eclipsing that of the famous Dr. H. E. Blazer incident, has been discovered near Wichita. While in many respects the details parallel those of the Colorado episode, in this instance the "soulless body" yet retains life. The final chapter remains to be written.

Where Dr. Blazer gave up and resorted to poison in the hope of solving his life problem, the Kansan has performed his hopeless task for 31 years, meanwhile contributing to science and literature and maintaining a cheerful, philosophical outlook on life.

Although having devoted so many years in keeping alive the slight spark of life in his son's undeveloped body, the Kansas man frankly admits that if confronted with the alternative faced by Dr. Blazer, he would adopt the same course and destroy his son. His attitude, it is predicted, will reopen the scientific discussion surrounding proposals to enact legislation which would do away with incompetents.

Father Poet-Philosopher.

The central figure in this story is William Whitby, whose poetry under the pseudonym "The Mud Flats Poet," is well known in farm and trade journals throughout the country. Mr. Whitby acquired a farm near Goddard, 12 miles west of Wichita, in 1879. In 1894 his son, Rolla, then three years old, fell from a barn loft and was made a hopeless cripple.

The child suffered paralysis of nerves which rendered him speechless, motionless and bereft of any method of communication. His plight was even worse than that of the Blazer girl, who could signal her father when she experienced pain, hunger or other emotions.

Medical specialists declared that nothing could be done to benefit the boy. Only constant attendance, they declared, would prevent him from having "spells" during which he would die unless properly nursed. He was doomed to an artificial life. Mr. Whitby's lifetime vigil began then.

Friends tried long to persuade the father to place his invalid son in an institution, but for 20 years he refused to listen, declaring that his life was dedicated to alleviating any possible sufferings of the child.

Accident Handicaps Father.

Then another tragic blow fell upon the Whitby household—a double catastrophe. A friend went plover hunting with Mr. Whitby. While crossing a gully the neighbor stumbled, his shotgun being discharged. Whitby's left arm was shot off above the elbow.

Just after he recovered and returned from the hospital, Mrs. Whitby died suddenly, leaving the care of Rolla and the farm to the father and a younger son. Then the farmer-poet consented to putting the boy in the state institution at Winfield. Two weeks later, he visited the sanitarium and was told that his son was dying. Attendants declared that there was no possible hope for Rolla.

Cares for Boy and Farm.

Forbidden by hospital attaches to remove the boy and handicapped by the loss of one arm, he virtually kidnapped the child, taking him to the Whitby home.

Today Rolla is existing, despite his inability to eat, move or signal. His father's vigilance, nevertheless, is just as carefully maintained as it was 31 years ago. And the farm is as neat and thrifty as any in the county.

Paradoxically, this remarkable parent sympathizes with Dr. Blazer and favors adoption of a legal method by which imbeciles could be eliminated through a scientific, painless method.

"If such a law were enacted, would you submit your son to elimination?" he was asked.

"Yes," calmly remarked the venerable poet.

"Who can criticize Dr. Blazer?" he queried: "Who on this earth knows what will please God? We rush the bloom of our young manhood off to wars, where they are killed, butchered and made cripples for life. Yet we per-

Q. Can you inform me what part of the Friends marriage ceremony makes the contract bining. H. L. E.

A. The laws of the various states provide that a marriage may be solemnized in accordance with the rule of Friends, which consists in simply taking each other for husband and wife before witnesses.

Q. Name some of the longest wearing furs? M. P.

A. Among the more durable furs are Bear, Fisher, Dyed Skunk, Stone Marten, European Fitch, Russian Fitch, Otter, Beaver, Dogskin, Natural Skunk, Northern Mink, Blended Muskrat, Raccoon of all kinds, Opossum of all kinds, Hudson Bay Sable, Russian Sable, and Wolverine.

Q. Please state how steep the grades are on the Unitah railroad. F. G. M.

A. The Unitah railway, a narrow gauge railroad 70 miles long, passing over the Book Cliff mountains in Western Colorado, and running into the Unitah Basin of Utah, is probably the most severe operation in the United States, if not in the world. In crossing the Book Cliff mountains, a branch of the Rockies, this railroad has six miles of 7½ per cent grade and eight miles of 5 per cent grade, and in the 12 miles between Mile Post 23 and Mile Post 40 there are 233 curves ranging from 4 degrees to 80 degrees, an average degree of curvature for 100 feet being 60 degrees. Special types of locomotives known as Shays are required to haul freight over the mountain; this type of engine being propelled by gears in contrast to the rod type locomotives used on all of the standard railways in the country and outside of this railroad, used only on a few logging roads.

Q. What is lace bark? O. W.

A. A lace bark is the inner bark of several species of trees, the best known being the lace bark tree of Jamaica, and is readily detached in sheets or layers like birch bark, each layer being a delicate network of fibre.

Q. Are green oysters poisonous? G. P.

A. There is a widespread opinion that "greening" is injurious. The color has been attributed to disease, to parasites, and to the presence of copper. Experiments have shown that quite commonly the green color of American oysters at least is due to the fact that they feed on green plants of very simple structure. The opinion of those who have investigated the matter carefully, is that such color is harmless. In Europe similar green oysters called "groenbarden" are especially prized and to meet the demand oysters are greened by placing them in sea water where they are fed on a species of seaweed which imparts the coloring matter to the gills. However, some oysters owe their green coloring to the presence of copper. Such oysters are grass green and not dark green and have a slimy secretion on the folds of the mantle. These are not generally considered wholesome.

Q. I see statements that the Louisiana Purchase cost $15,000,000 and others that it cost about $27,000,000. Which is correct? W. J.

A. The original price was $11,250,000; claims were assumed amounting to $3,750,000; the interest payments incidental to the final settlement raising the total eventually to $27,267,662.

More than 250 persons in this country are killed from falls every week, say government statistics just given out.

BRITISH LABOR DEAF TO REDS HODGES SAYS

Miners' Secretary Sees Progress by Evolution.

CONDITIONS BAD

Urges Hard Work, Study and Greater Political Activity.

By Frank Hodges, J. P.

(Copyright, 1925, by I. N. S.)

LONDON.—Many are the misgivings about the future of Great Britain. But then we have always been "going to the dogs." True the economic and social conditions of our country are as bad as they have ever been within living memory. Our unemployment army numbers over 1,400,00, our national pay roll is low, our imports are increasing, our exports are decreasing, whilst our trade outlook is far from rosy. Our main industry, coal, is being artificially stimulated by a government subsidy, which is to last at least until May of next year. The sum of government money for the coal subsidy may reach the stupendous figure of thirty million pounds by next May. What is to happen then?

There are those who say that the termination of the coal subsidy in May next will be the spark which will ignite the high explosive of revolution. The prophets of disorder maintain that the accumulation of misery among the workers will carry on the initial explosion to complete our national ruin.

Hits Disciples of Woe.

May next has been marked off for the upheaval After that we are presumed to embrace Bolshevism and to be the first great industrial country to establish "the distatorship of the proletariat.." The view is actively propagated by the energetic disciples of Lenin and receives the passive, though unconscious, support of those of our countrymen who have no beliefs whatsoever, except the one that our fate is written in the sands and that nothing we can do can stave it off.

There is absolutely no foundation for the optimism of the Communist nor for the pessimism of the Fatalist—these twin disciples of woe.

Great Britain is having a hard time. With this all agree. Her people suffer but do no give way to despair. By tradition and temperament we are prone to let things slide until catastrophe appears upon the horizon. Then we act. The bare thought of revolution by violence is more then the Britisher can stand.

The workers are in no wise different from the rest in this respect. They are in fact Britain s bulwark against revolution by force. They passionately desire improvement. Both politically and industrially they are organized for improvement. They rage against inertia and ineptitude. They are evolutionists by experience and training. In politics they enjoy a full and free franchise. In industry their trade union activities are limited only by the non-unionists of some of their fellows.

Proof Against Reds.

They see in trade unionsim something finer and nobler than the struggle for better wages and shorter hours. They recognize that it involves certain responsibilities for the general prosperity of the industries in which they are engaged. It is just this which will help to make up proof against revolution.

Though we desire many changes and though there is infinite room for improvement in our industrial and social life, we do not accept the doctrine that the way to betterment is by destroying such order as we now possess. The British way is the way for Britain. This way, in the face of the most distresing difficulties, is the way of co-operation in industry. Unity of purpose is increasing between the technician, the scientist and the manual worker. The present joint enquiries into the sick state of certain industries like shipbuilding and coal are welcome signs of the times.

The workmen have the sense to see that greater production and lower costs are the prerequsite of prosperity. In this highly specialized industrial country, possessing no agricultural background, it is realized that our dense and growing population can only be maintained and progress on an ever-growing industrial efficiency. This knowledge is a sure shield against industrial disruption.

Drinking Ambition Of Husband Gives Liberty to Woman

LOS ANGELES — "It is my ambition to become a perfect drunkard."

That was told Mrs. Bernice Allen by her husband, Horace D. Allen, according to testimony of the woman in a suit for divorce.

"It was a continual debauch and I think he realized his ambition," Mrs Allen said.

"He never drew a sober breath." She was granted a decree.

Cottage Philosopher Fears Modern Progress Is Bar to Happiness

CLEVELAND — Thomas Fairfield, cottage philosopher, is wondering whether modern progress isn't a bit far-fetched. His old, ivy-covered house, is located on a small strip of wooded land. There is a small orchard, a little flower garden, chicken coops, dove cotes and some dilapidated benches.

His pets—canaries, bantam chickens and tumbler doves—have made his life peaceful and enjoyable, he says. He boasts without the slightest conceit of his birds' marvelous singing.

"But they've been blasting for new sewers and other modern improvements around here," he sighed, "and the noise has frightened my birds into a state which makes my heart ache."

Higher Taxes

Federal taxes are going down, but state and local taxes generally are going up. Both movements are natural and almost inevitable.

Federal taxes, of course, are lowered as war expenses diminish. But many a community finds peace more costly than war, as far as local public expenditures are concerned. And this doesn't necessarily mean extravagance. It does mean living up to new standards. Often it means a wise facing of new problems and courage to meet them.

More money is needed nowadays for the average American community, per capita or per dollar of valuation, because the community demands more than it used to. Taxpayers insist on better roads, better bridges, better public buildings, better parks, better schools, better sewers, better sidewalks, better water supply. The community is not content with the simple, frugal old standards, any more than the individual is. And in some aspects, in things affecting traffic for instance, the community cannot very well help itself. Traffic has to be taken care of. There are other needs almost as big, obvious and imperative.

So the trend of local taxes in most communities is upward, and may continue so for some time. It hurts, but usually it cannot be helped and should be borne as ungrudgingly as possible. The real question is not the number of dollars spent, nor even the tax rate itself, but the wisdom of the particular expenditures and the care with which the money is handled.

Well spent taxes, especially when devoted to public investment in long-lived or permanent improvements, nearly always pay big dividends, not only in public use and enjoyment but in the creation of new wealth which helps to pay the cost.

Calendar Reform

Every year when the league of nations meets, a little more is heard about calendar reform. The league has a special committee of experts studying the problem of simplifying the present calendar. Several changes have been suggested and several tentative schemes mapped out, but as yet nothing has been evolved which appears wholly practicable.

At present three suggested improvements have won the general approval of those studying the subject. They are the fixing of Easter permanently about the second Sunday in April; the establishment of the 365th day of the year as "Year-day" and setting it aside as an international Sabbath and of an extra day to end June in the leap-years as "Leap-day," and, finally, the division of the year into 13 months of exactly 28 days each.

It would undoubtedly be a good thing to have a uniform calendar year for all the peoples of the earth. Its advocates believe it would benefit civilization financially and otherwise to have 13 months of equal length. But somehow the public hasn't yet got so worked up about it as the reformers, and until the public does take more interest in the matter the work of the reformer is bound to remain rather theoretical.

Radio Regulation

American business men have been insisting for some time that "government should let business alone." Business might accomplish almost anything, they have suggested, if only it could make its own rules.

Yet here comes the giant young radio industry, insisting with tears in its eyes that the government must take and regulate it, and let the department of commerce exercise the authority. The radio magnates profess their eagerness to obey whatever rules the secretary of commerce shall see fit to impose.

"I feel that you are giving too much power to one man," says Mr. Hoover modestly. And the radio men protest that they are not.

Never was there a better example of the fact that modern business needs public regulation. Almost any big business would soon find itself in a heap of trouble if the government really "let it alone." It is merely a question of how much regulation is needed by any industry at any time.

Fireproof Lumber

Builders, and those who pay builders' bills, may be interested in a new kind of lumber produced in Tacoma, Wash. It is in the form of "synthetic boards" produced from sawdust, and is said to be fireproof.

The sawdust and other mill waste are treated with chemicals and made into a pulp, which is then pressed into boards of any desired size and shape. The boards are said to withstand a flame that would cut through steel. The prospect is held out of making fireproof houses of wood. Such a combination of lightness, strength, easy working and non-inflammability is very desirable.

The men producing this material say it can be made as cheaply as $15 a thousand feet for thin boards. A pleasant prospect—if nobody monopolizes it.

There are vast quantities of sawdust and lumber waste that ought to be put to some good use, anyway. Wood alcohol can be made from it. but the country needs boards more than alcohol.

Take an example from King Tut-Ankh-Amen. Be X-rayed to find out what's inside of you, and whether anything's wrong there. But don't wait, as Tut did, until 3,500 years after you're dead.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Thoughts and scenes while strolling around New York: Naivete in a Forty-second street souvenir shop: "Moose heads for returning hunters." Whatever became of the Turkish corners? A nip in the air and out come fur collared overcoats.

Ned Weyburn, however, in the customary cap and sweater. More morbid plays. Fogs of neuresthenia. As heavy as cold mutton and dull as rice pudding. The cafe keeper who walks with his blind dog. A pawnshop displaying a croix de guerre with palms.

Antiques that hold collectors in awe of reverence. Brass rings that may have been pillaged in the sack of Rome. Or pounded out week before last in Trenton, N. J. The ugly today may be beautiful tomorrow. Imagine a girl with her hair shingled off 20 years ago.

Foxhall Keene. A trifle bowlegged from polo. A novelist could not concoct a better name for a sportsman. They now say "Bungo!" instead of "Here's how!" over cocktails. Laurence D'Orsay in town again. And wearing a canary colored vest.

Fannie Brice's nose is becoming as famous as Pres'dent Coolidge's freckles. Or Ann Pennington's knees. The advertising bulldog that carries a pipe. Greek fruit vendors in red waistcoats. The hotel where David Belasco lives—the Marie Antoinette.

Bernard Sobel, Ziegfeld's press agent, who was a professor of English literature. The one-legged newsboy at Seventy-second street. The hotel named for an actor who says he doesn't like his name in print. I have beaten you to the smile.

One of the Algonquin poets who once wrote of a distinguished writer as "one of the little literary lice." Because he said Dadaism was the bunk. A louse may have his moments. He may worry a king. Ladies rolling dice in a limousine. The stroll is over.

The first act of a play was striving to lift itself above the din of theater coughers who were hitting on all twelve. It was a difficult task and finally a shrill voice in the gallery piped up: "Get a croup kettle!"

On a cross street in midtown a young man with a cane made his way at the pace of a sick turtle. It was a painful struggling performance. His body was bent and his head held at an abnormal angle. He was the waiter who was hurled from the ninth story of a hotel window by drunken revelers.

West Forty-seventh street, between Broadway and Sixth avenue, is loafer's paradise. They call it "The Forty Seventh Street Malaria." The police have made several sudden excursions there and arrested many. Others are told to move on. It is a haven for vaudevillians and patrons of the cluster of hotels in the block, but it is also said to be infested by many not so innocent—touts, gambling runners and others who live by nimble wits. Winter makes no difference, and even in a rain surbs will be lined.

Midtown New York now seems entirely free of the advertising "French and Parisian doctors" who stressed horror of social ills. They used to have gaudy electric signs and were open all night. Long ago newspapers barred their advertising, and while a few still flourish on the populated districts of the East Side, the great majority have sought greener pastures. "Old Doctor Grindle" was a famous character of 25 years ago and his signs were all over the town.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Highway Making.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 20.—Tincanners and other motor tourists are now assured that journeying up and down and across this broad land has been greatly simplified and that they can arrive at their destination without getting lost or traveling unnecessary distances and without running undue risks from road conditions and traffic hazards.

It will be just as easy for them to go from Maine to California, or from Minnesota to Florida, so far as keeping on the chosen route and avoiding recognizable road dangers are concerned, as to make a forty or fifty mile run between cities in their own states.

This will be due to the work of the joint board composed of experts of the United States Bureau of Public Roads and state highway officials, which has perfected a uniform system of marking highways that is to be used on 75,000 miles of roads traversing every state in the union. This work was initiated two years ago when the state highway departments called on the secretary of Agriculture to appoint a board or commission that could effect cooperation between the states and the nation in the matter of highway control.

Uniformity is the fundamental principle upon which the board has worked, with the result that the motorist, no matter where he may be, will no longer be confused, provided he can read signs and will rely for guidance upon the standard markers that carry, in effect, Uncle Sam's guarantee as to their accuracy. There will be signs along the highways that as now will probably conflict as to distances, directions, road names, and other information or alleged information which they convey to tourists, but if no attention is paid to them no confusion will result.

Moreover, the driver who is watching for Uncle Sam's signs will be able to recognize them and know by their shape and other distinctive features the information they convey long before he reaches them and even before he can read them, and can govern himself accordingly. This does not apply to distance and speed limit signs, of course, which necessarily must be read, but it goes for direction markers, and for all the other warnings as to curves, hills, right or left turns, bridges, schools, hospitals, etc.

Numbering the Roads.

All the highways will be numbered and to guard the motorist against going astray and getting off in a westerly direction when he wants to head south, the experts who developed the highway scheme have made a sharp distinction between roads running north and south and those running east and west by giving the former odd numbers and the latter even numbers.

Main roads are designated with units and tens, such as 1-11-21, etc., for north and south roads, and 10-20-30 etc., for east and west routes. Alternate routes, cross-roads and branches are to be given numbers expressed in hundreds.

Thus if a tourist who wants to go from some northern point to Florida finds himself on an even numbered road he will know at once that he is headed wrong. As long as the road he follows is designated with an odd number he may be assured that generally speaking he is going in the direction he wants, even if he may not be on the specific route he had chosen.

Road numbers are placed on shield-shaped signs with a black and white color scheme—black letters and figures on a white background. Across the top of the shield will be the name of the state in which the sign is erected. Immediately below that will be the letters "U. S." and below that the route number in large numerals.

Some of the principal roads running east and west in this United States Highway System are as follows: 50, Washington to Wadsworth, Nevada; 40, Baltimore to San Francisco; 20, Philadelphia to Salt Lake City; 20, Boston to Portland, Oregon; 70, Beaufort, N. C., to Holbrook, Arizona; 80, Savannah, Georgia, to San Diego; 90, Jacksonville, Fla., to El Paso, Texas; 60, Chicago to Los Angeles, and 10, Chicago to Seattle.

More important among the north and south highways are: 1, Fort Kent, Maine, to Miami, Florida; 11, Rouses Point, N. Y., to New Orleans; 21, Cleveland, O., to Jacksonville, Fla.; 31, Mackinaw Straits to Mobile; 41; Houghton, Mich., to Miami, Fla.; 45, Chicago to Meridian, Miss.; 51, Lake Superior, at Hurley, Wis., to New Orleans; 67, Fort Williams, Canada, to Baton Rouge, La.; 71, International Falls, Minn., to New Orleans; 81, Pembina, N. D., to Laredo, Texas; 91, Great Falls, Mont., to Route No. 60 for Los Angeles; 99, Blaine, Washington, to Mexican border; 101; Port Angeles, Astoria, etc., along the Pacific Coast to Tia Juana, Mexico.

Two General Classes of Signs.

The signs group themselves naturally into two classes—one including the standard shield and signs of a directional and informational nature, and the other comprising the danger and cautionary signs.

Since yellow is the color to be uniformly used to warn of danger on a street and big highway safety contrivances, all the cautionary signs will have a yellow background with black letters and symbols. The white background with black markings will characterize all signs of the first group of class.

Thus a round device, twenty-four inches in diameter, with a yellow background, and bearing the usual railroad cross and the letter "R. R." in the upper quadrants in black, will be the sign that will warn of the approach to railroad crossings on all highways in the U. S. system. It is of a size and will be so located that it can be seen and its warnings understood in ample time for the motorist to slow down. Where a complete stop is advisable the word "Stop" will be placed on an octagonal sign twenty-four inches in size.

Diamond-shaped yellow signs will let the tourist know that he is approaching curves, narrow bridges, steep hills, and other hazardous points along the road. A curved arrow will indicate the direction in

Spanish-American Fair to be Held at Seville in Two Years

BARCELONA—Work is proceeding on the buildings of the "Exposicion Ibero-Americana" to take place in 1927-28 at Seville.

All the Central and South American countries of Spanish origin, as well as Brazil, are to be represented. Nothing has pleased the royal commissary, the Conde de Columbi and King Alphonso more than the vote of the United States senate of $700,000 for a palace in the grounds—for the display of American products—and it is predicted this will be one of the finest buildings in the expedition.

Of 86,103,000 bushels of apples raised in this country last year, people of England ate 12,361,000 bushels.

Buys Bull Terrier To Guard Property But Thieves Take It

She went shopping, leaving the dog at home to take care of the house. Upon returning she found while she was gone thieves had effected an entrance by means of a false key and had stolen the dog. Although the house had been thoroughly ransacked, nothing else was taken.

Pact Between Soviet Russia and Greece Considered Important

SOFIA.—The proposed commercial treaty between Soviet Russia and the Greek Republic is considered with importance throughout Southern Europe.

The treaty is on the basis of the most favored nation, and apparently Russia will have the best of the bargain. Political observers think that the treaty is a ruse on the part of the Soviets to draw Greece into the Communist net, and that once it has been concluded the Soviets will take steps to establish a political influence in Greece.

Says Ed is Skinniest Man in Town

Cheerup, Ed—things aren't as bad as they look to you right now. Many hundreds of skinny, gaunt, emaciated men looked even worse than you do till someone told them about McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets (the new way to take Cod Liver Oil) and how it would put pounds of good firm, healthy flesh on their bones in just a few weeks.

Nothing like these health creating weight producing tablets for skinny, underweight men, as thousands can testify. Start to take them today—60 tablets—60 cents at Mathews Medicine Store or any druggist anywhere.

And listen; if they don't put 5 pounds of good flesh on you in 30 days, your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.

That's fair enough, but be sure—very sure that you get McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—the original and genuine.

Bowler Hat Wins Over Fez as Turks National Headgear

CONSTANTINOPLE — The bowler hat, the one-time favorite headgear of the American and northern European nations, which has been ousted from its popularity by the soft felt hat, looks like becoming the national headgear of the Turk, to the detriment of the time-honored fez.

Recently Mustapha Kemal, the Turkish president, appealed to his countrymen to abandon the fez and wear European covering for their heads. In consequence Turkish hatters have sent post-haste for large supplies of bowler hats from Europe.

So far most of the orders have been for cheap brands, since the Turk has always been accustomed to getting his fez for almost next to nothing.

7 STATES HOPE COLORADO DAM WILL BE BUILT

Boulder Canyon Plan Would Harness River's Rapids.

COST $70,000,000

Swing-Johnson Bill Will be Introduced in Congress.

LOS ANGELES—For three-quarters of a century residents of seven southwestern states have watched the battle over the problem of harnessing and developing the water of the madly racing rapids of the Colorado river.

Today, a short time before the opening of congress, belief is expressed in Los Angeles and the southwest generally that the Swing-Johnson bill, providing legislation for development of the Colorado, will be favorably considered and the long-cherished dream of a dam in Boulder canyon may come true. This sentiment was freely expressed on every hand following the visit in the west of the senate committe on irrigation, which conducted hearings in California, Arizona and Nevada.

To Cost $70,000,000.

That members of the senate committee, following their visit to the southwest and an inspection of the various proposed projects and dam sites, are convinced a dam at least must be built in Boulder canyon to provide flood control to protect the Imperial valley in California, is confidently believed. Cost of the dam project is estimated at more than $70,000,000.

Twelve members of the committee of 15 senators are known to favor a high dam, as provided in the Swing-Johnson measure for development of power from the river waters. This power, investigators declared, is badly needed by Los Angeles, other southern California cities and Arizona.

Principal objection to pending legislation in regard to the Colorado rests in the building of a canal from the river to the Imperial valley, which would be known as the all-American canal and be located entirely in the United States, according to those active in the fight for the Boulder dam project. The Alamo canal, in use at present, extends over the international line into Mexico, watering about 450,000 acres in this country and 200,000 acres in Mexico.

Claims of Both Sides.

Proponents of the all-American canal claim:

Opponents of the all-American plan assert:

1—Additional water is not needed.

2—Its estimated cost is excessive.

3—Because it is to be built in "shifting" sand hills, the canal is not feasible.

Interest in the Swing-Johnson bill is intense throughout California and the coming congress is looked upon as at least certain to consider the Swing-Johnson legislation other than in committee, something that has not happened in the many years Colorado river development has been discussed in Washington.

MATTERHORN IS WASTING AWAY

Celebrated Peak Keeping Up Habit of Sending Down Rock Slides.

Washington, D. C.—Rumors that the famous Matterhorn of Switzerland is "moving," published in Germany recently, seem to indicate only that that stony spire is keeping up its age-old habit of sending down rock slides, according to a bulletin from the Washington (D. C.) headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"That the Matterhorn (or Mount Cervin, as French-speaking Swiss call it) is slowly wasting away, has been known for a long time," says the bulletin. "But there is reassurance in the thought that it will live in its present shape for a few more geologic minutes—that is, for several thousand calendar years.

Tons of Rock Fall Daily.

"The lower slopes of the Matterhorn are of softer rock than its upper portion; and while the higher section yields few fragments to the continual onslaught of weather and gravity, the supporting section is robbed of hundreds, and sometimes thousands of tons of material a day in fine, sunny, thawing weather. The mechanism of destruction is the release of 'trigger' rocks by the sinking of moisture into crevices; its freezing and expansion, so forcing the rock fragments from their beds; and the subsequent thawing, which lets the fragments slip down the cliff or rock slope. The 'trigger' rock dislodges other pieces of rock, some of them of considerable size, and these in turn may jar loose boulders. Soon the first flying rock has grown into a huge avalanche of stones, ice, and snow, which thunders downward until checked by the flatter slopes, built through the ages by similar slides. All other mountains, of course, are undergoing similar changes, although in most cases more slowly.

"Now and then, when exceptional weather conditions favor it, an avalanche on the Matterhorn may grow to huge proportions with a momentum which sweeps its flying missiles over the lower slopes and out onto the valley floors used for pasturage. Several such far-wandering slides rolled down the Italian side of the mountain during the past summer, and these are supposed to be responsible for the German rumors of a 'moving' Matterhorn.

"The falling boulders of the Matterhorn have caused some fatalities and many narrow escapes. Each season some climbers must flatten themselves against the cliffs while small rocks whiz by with the speed and the rasping sound of rifle bullets, or great boulders bound from shoulder to shoulder, sometimes missing the heads of the mountaineers by only a foot or so. Many of the falling fragments are gathered into regular paths by tunnel-like depressions in the face of the mountain. One of the most valuable services of the guides is their knowledge of these dangerous couloirs and their additional knowledge of the weather conditions and times of day for safest crossing.

"Most Matterhorn ascents are made from the Swiss side with Zarmatt the starting point, though the climb from Breuil, in Italy, is rated the greater feat. The Italian-Swiss boundary runs over the crest of the mountain. Zermatt grew from a village to a respectable litfle town largely because of the rise in popularity of the Matterhorn and the consequent influx of those who wished to look upon it in its various moods, and those who wished to scale it. The town is also the center from which many less difficult climbs are made. On its one main street hotels are almost as numerous as shops. The latter are well stocked with mountaineering outfits. A low stone wall opposite one of the leading hotels is 'Guide's row.' On it guides out of employment sit until patrons engage their services. Housing, outfitting and guiding climbers are Zermatt's three leading industries.

Long Rated Unattainable.

"The Matterhorn is one of the most dangerous of the Alpine peaks to climb, and if weather conditions are not right, one of the most difficult. Long after many other famous heights of the Alps were scaled the Matterhorn remained unvanquished, and by 1850 it was rated unattainable. It was first climbed by a party of four Englishmen and three guides on July 14, 1865. It was a tragic attainment. On the way down three of the climbers and one guide, tied together, fell over a 4,000-foot precipice to their deaths. Only the breaking of the rope saved the lives of one climber and the two other guides.

"Day by day in warm weather the Matterhorn continues to shower down a part of itself. Already the hard upper pyramid hangs over a bit in places, where the softer rock below has wasted away. Some day—how many thousands of years hence it is useless to guess—the supporting rock will give way, geologists say, and the huge top, weighing millions of tons, will topple over with one of the most tremendous crashes ever heard by the ear of man."

Bible in 835 Tongues

London.—The Bible has been translated into 835 languages, according to a chronological list of translations just published by Dr. R. Kilgour, superintendent of the translating and editorial department of the British and Foreign Bible society.

Railroads of the Netherlands propose to cut wages and at the same time reduce rates on coal transportation.

which the road curves, and the warning, "Hill, 2nd Gear,' will tell the motorist when he is coming to a grade that should be taken with extreme caution.

Large square signs with the yellow background and in black letters the word "School" or "Hospital" will call the motorist's attention to the fact that he is drawing near to one or the other of those public institutions and should regulate the speed of his car accordingly.

One of the most important of the signs, because it may save the tourist many miles of retracing his way, is a smaller shield of black and white, with the letter "R" or "L" to be placed under the large shield with the route number as a warning that a fork in the road is near at hand and that to stick to the route indicated the driver should bear to the right or left, as the case may be.

Also there will be black and white signs bearing the names of rivers, creeks and towns, indicating the speed limit, and giving the direction and distance to points not on the route.

All the motorists of the future will have to do to keep straight is to believe in signs, and pick out Uncle Sam's markers as the ones to which he will pin his faith.

DEFIANCE—A Defiance hunter is out for bear—the real grizzly kind.

At any rate that's what he told Clerk Maxwell when he applied for a hunting license.

"I had a license last year and never even had a shot at a rabbit. This year I'm out for two bears."

Sokol Congress Will Take Place at Prague During Next Summer

PRAGUE — A gigantic Sokol Congress will take place at Prague in June and July of 1926. Although this will be the eighth Sokol Congress, it is only the second purely Slavonic Congress. The last one was held in 1922. A huge new stadium is being constructed in a suburb for the purposes of this meeting.

The Sokol movement was started as far back as the 'sixties, when the Slav minorities under the Austrian yoke were struggling for freedom.

It started in a small private circle called Sokol, or Falcon, which practiced athletics and gymnastics. Altogether 14,600 clubs will take part in next year's congress, as against 11,000 in 1922.

CONVICTS FLEE STATE PRISON

Third Jail Delivery in Eight Days at Moundsville.

Three more convicts made their escape last night from the state prison at Moundsville by forcing their way through the roof covering the north cell hall and making a 25 foot drop over the west wall of the institution.

It is the third delivery in eight days at the penitentiary, liberating a total of seven prisoners, and only one has been recaptured. One of the men, Harry Sowers, was later recaptured at Rosby's Rock and returned to the institution.

Last night's delivery was cleverly planned and executed. It was while the usual "lockout" was being enjoyed, between the hours of five and six o'clock, that the three men hid in their cells, watched the guards all leave to supervise the conduct of the men at liberty in the courtyard and then sped up the bars of the cell tier to a point just under the roof.

The roof is of light boards and tar paper, and it was the work of but a few moments with a rudely fashioned saw to break an opening which provided a gateway to liberty.

All three of the escaped men were known as "third-termers,' thus called because each had three times been received at the prison to serve terms for different crimes. They were all white men, and the oldest was but 31 years of age.

The list of escaped men, and a description of each, was furnished Warden S. P. Smith of the prison, as follows:

George Harrington, 31, of Bellaire. Sent up from Wetzel county in 1920 to serve five years for forgery. He is five feet, five inches tall, weighs 114 pounds, slightly bald. His hair, eyes and complexion are dark. Harrington had served out his original sentence, and was serving an additional year for having escaped from a road camp.

Harry Sowers, 30, sent up from Wood county to serve five years for larceny. He was given five years additional for a former conviction. Sowers was receivced in November, 1921.

Harless James, 28, was sent up from Cabell county to serve 10 years for burglary. An additional sentence of 10 years was imposed for former conviction. He has dark brown hair, gray eyes, is five feet, eight inches tall and weighs 165 pounds.

Warden Smith said last night that a reward of $50 has been placed on the head of each of the men who have escaped within the past eight days, and are still at large.

MILDRED MONCRIEF AGED 22, DEAD

Mildred Moncrief, 22 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew M. Moncrief, died last evening in the home, Dunn street and Indiana avenue, following a long illness.

She was a member of the First Presbyterian church and a graduate of the Chester high school with the class of 1921.

Funeral services will probably be held in the home Sunday afternoon. Rev W. T. McKee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will be in charge.

Burial will be made in Spring Hill cemetery, Wellsville.

LARGE CROWD AT CHURCH BANQUET

Rev. Alexander Steele, of Pittsburgh, and C. R. Boyce were the principal speakers at the banquet and get-together meeting held last evening by the congregation of the First Methodist Episcopal church in the rooms of Jesse Burge post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, First National bank building, Third street and Carolina avenue.

The banquet was served by the women of the church. The affair was one of the most successful held by the church and the large hall was taxed to capacity.

PLAYLET WILL BE STAGED TONIGHT

Large crowd is expected to attend the performance of the playlet, entitled the "Old New Hampshire Home," to be given this evening in the Chester theater under the auspices of the Eastern Star Fancywork club. The production will be directed by Fleta McMillan.

Matinee was given this afternoon for school children of the city.

Jurors Excused.

Jurors serving at the November term of court at New Cumberland were excused until Monday yesterday by Judge J. Harold Brennan. Most of the criminal cases have been disposed of, but there are a number of civil actions still remaining on the calendar.

Miss Esther Ankrim, Bride-elect, Honor Guest at Luncheon

Honoring Miss Esther G. Ankrim of West Fourth street, who will become the bride of Millard Emerson Blythe in the near future, the prospective bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Gilbert Follansbee entertained a group of friends at a luncheon-bridge party yesterday afternoon in the Fort Steuben hotel in Steubenville.

The luncheon table was arranged with a large basket of roses and chrysanthemums, tied with pink and blue, while at each end of the table lighted candles were arranged. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. J. Millard Boyd, of Toronto, a cousin.

The afternoon was spent with progressive bridge, trophies being awarded Mrs. Lawrence W. Thomas, Jr., Miss Mildred Ankrim and Mrs. Robert Weinstein, of Steubenville. Mis Esther Ankrim received an honor guest gift.

Among the out-of-town guests were: Mrs. H. H. Blythe of College street, Mrs. B. D. Kenney of Pennsylvania avenue; Misses Esther and Mildred Ankrim of West Fouth street; Mrs. Frank M. Gardner of West Seventh street; Mrs. Lawrence W. Thomas Jr., of East Fifth street; Mrs. Robert W. Harker of Newell Heights, and Mrs. George A. Patterson of Park Way and Mrs. Stewart Thompson, of Third street, all of this city; Mrs. M. E. Boyd of Wheeling, W. Va., and Mrs. Clifford Poole and Mrs. J. Millard Boyd, of Toronto.

Presbyterian Choir's Program.

Following the usual custom, the First Presbyterian church choir will present the third of a series of musical programs in the auditorium of the church at 10:50 o'clock Sunday morning. W. A. Macdonald, director, has assembled the representative singers of the city to assist at these special services.

In addition to soprano solo numbers by Mrs. John Patton and Mrs. W. H. Gerber, choruses from "St. Cecilia Mass" and "The Creation" will be presented. Special organ selections are being arranged for these programs by Mrs. J. F. Calhoun.

The Sunday evening service, Nov. 29, will be devoted entirely to music. The general public is invited.

Considerable interest has been shown in the program by music lovers. The choir is considered as one of the best in eastern Ohio.

Mrs. Smith Fowler Entertains.

In her home in Eighth street Tuesday evening, Mrs. Smith Fowler entertained the members of the Ohio club with fancywork, games and radio music. Guessing contests were won by Mrs. James Emmerling and Mrs. John Seckman. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Tom Jones.

Special guests were Mrs. Herbert and Mrs. Thomas Jones.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. John Seckman of West Eighth street.

Mrs. Clyde Davidson Hostess.

Mrs. Clyde C. Davidson made a charming hostess yesterday afternoon at her home in Thompson avenue at a luncheon-bridge party. The tables were decorated with rosebuds. The hostess was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Harry Koch of Pittsburgh, who was an out-of-town guest.

During the afternoon nine tables of bridge were in play. Mrs. Francis J. Wehner and Mrs. Herbert A. Smith received trophies.

HIGH GRIDDERS PLAY AT MINGO

Final Game Before Clash With Steubenville Eleven.

In the next to the final game of the 1925 campaign, Coach Earl Klinck's high school football team will tackle the Mingo Junction scholastic eleven tomorrow afternoon at Mingo.

The locals have had the advantage of two weeks' rest as a result of the fact that no game was scheduled for last Saturday, and, consequently, will be in first class condition for their battle with the down-river aggregation.

Although the Mingoans are not as strong as the Mingo elevens of former years, judging by their record of the present season, they are expected to give the Orange and Black a stiff tussle, with the advantage of playing on their own field aiding them to a certain extent. In a recent engagement at Mingo, the Toronto high eleven was able to earn a decisive 16 to 0 decision.

The big game of the schedule for the Orange and Black, however, will be staged next Thursday at Central park when the locals battle Steubenville in the second tilt of a home and home series.

Wellsville was defeated last year at Steubenville, and the prospects for this year's meeting are anything but rosy in view of the fact that the Jefferson county combine is one of the best in recent years at Steubenville.

C. E. FOGLE OPENS MEETINGS HERE

Evangelist Charles E. Fogle, of St. Marys, W. Va., is scheduled to launch a series of revival services tonight in the Church of Christ, Seventeenth and Commerce streets.

Services will be held each evening at 7:30 o'clock, according to announcement by church officials. An invitation is extended to the public.

C. & P. TEAM READY FOR GREYS' GAME

The Wellsville C. & P. football team tonight will conclude a week of hard practice work in preparation for its contest tomorrow with the East Liverpool Greys at Columbian park, East Liverpool.

Although the contest was originally booked at Patterson field, officials of the two teams agreed to transfer the engagement to the East End lot as a result of almost impossible playing conditions at the former lot.

The contest will be the first of a three-game series for the semi-pro grid championship of the two cities. The second battle will be staged the Saturday after Thanksgiving at Central park.

TRIBUTE IS PAID TO LATE MAYOR

Throughout the morning and afternoon of yesterday, and into the night up until 10 o'clock, there was almost a steady stream of men, women and children, filing in and out of the residence of Chief of Police John Fultz, Henry avenue, where lay the body of the late Mayor James S. Barnes.

From Wednesday night until last night at 10 o'clock, the doors of the Fultz home were open to those who wished to view the mayor's body preparatory to funeral service.

Men and women, old and young, of various business callings and professions, of a wide variety of nationalities, paid last respects to the city's former executive who died without completing his two-year term.

The large parlor of the home was a veritable garden of flowers, tribute from high and low.

The body was removed from the Fultz home this morning to the John Haugh funeral home in Seventh and Main streets, where last rites will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

A large number of local business establishments, complying with Mayor Frank C. Blackburn's request, were to suspend operations from 2 until 4 this afternoon during the funeral services.

The children of the public schools were dismissed at 2 o'clock as a tribute of respect to the late executive.

Gets Hearing Nov. 28.

Dick Springer, arrested recently by Patrolman Hurd on a charge of selling mortgaged property, is scheduled to appear for a hearing before Mayor Blackburn on November 28. The charge was filed by C. H. Patterson.

Miss Semple, at Wellsville, has just had her studio painted and papered throughout and with new equipment, is prepared to make photographs of quality.

How pleasantly surprised your friends would be to receive a photo of yourself. You are invited to make all appointments now before it is too late for Christmas orders.

WILL GIVE FINAL SERMON TONIGHT

Dr. J. H. Lawther, widely known evangelist, who has been conducting services for two weeks in the First Presbyterian church, tonight will deliver the final address of his series in the local church.

Last night he delivered an interesting talk on the subject, "Man's Great Question in Life." His final sermon topic will be, "The Great Invitation, or God's Infinite Love."

With special services on Sunday evening, Rev. Frank H. Magill will close the two weeks' revivals, called the most successful of their kind ever held in the local church. The revivals, it was announced, have resulted in large number of accessions to the church which Dr. Lawther leaves in excellent condition.

The best wishes of the entire church have been tendered Dr. Lawther as he returns to his own pastorate, the First Presbyterian church of Niles, by the congregation and friends of the local church.

PARTHENON CLASS IS ENTERTAINED

Members of the Parthenon Sunday school class of the First Methodist Episcopal church were entertained Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Mary Tasker, in Commerce street, with Mrs. Genevieve Wolf as co-hostess.

Music and games were diversions following the regular business session. A two-course luncheon was served at the close of the affair by Mrs. Tasker and Mrs. Wolf, covers being laid for the following guests:

Miss Jean Fogo, Mrs. Pearl Robinson, Miss Birdie Rice, Mrs. Mabel McConnell, Mrs. Reba Lloys, Miss Ruth Manypenny, Mrs. Enid Yost, Mrs. Lottie Wilson, Mrs. Elizabeth Stoakes, Mrs. Genevieve Yates, Mrs. Cecil Hassell, Mrs. Mary Tasker, Mrs. Helen Crawford, Mrs. Genevieve Wolf and Mrs. Mary Hammond.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Pearl Robinson, in Clark avenue.

MRS. W. F. LONES CLUB HOSTESS

Mrs. W. F. Lones will be hostess to members of the Wellsville Twentieth Century club this afternoon at her home in Tenth street.

"Cora Harris"—Miss Carrie Southwick.

"Walt Mason"—Mrs. J. S. Lambing.

"Edward W. Bok"—Mrs. Naomi Forber.

"Immigration"—Mrs. D. P. Morrison.

GRID FANS TO SEE ILLINOIS STAR

All roads of the Ohio sport world tonight and early tomorrow will lead to Columbus, where the famous Harold "Red" Grange is scheduled to appear in the final game of his collegiate career with Illinois against Ohio State.

And Wellsville will probably be represented by a delegation of football fans at the Columbus classic. Among those who plan to motor to the capital are Corydon Arnold and Edward T. Fogo.

Re-Enters Allegheny Hospital.

C. F. McCafferty, of Main street, has re-entered Allegheny General hospital for further treatment for mastoiditis. Mr. McCafferty recently left the hospital, where he had been a patient for a number of days and up until Wednesday was at his home here.

Loyal Women Entertain.

Loyal Women's class of the First Christian church entertained members of the Loyal Men's class last evening in the church. Nine members of the former organization were tendered a handkerchief shower in honor of their birthdays.

Plans were completed for the annual Royal Watch concert to be held December 5.

Miss Tosker Hostess.

Parthenon class of the First Methodist Episcopal Sunday school met last evening with Miss Mary Tosker at her home in Commerce street. At the close of the business session lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Misses Helen Crawford and Genevieve Wolf.

POLICIES GUARD SOCIAL CAREER OF DEBUTANTES

Court Presentation Insurance is Latest Novelty.

$2,500 PAYMENT

Protects Daughters if Parents Suffer Reverses.

LONDON—Court presentation insurance is the latest novelty offered by Enlish insurance companies to parents, titled or otherwise, of daughters anywhere from one day to 12 years old.

The idea is that if the parents suffer financial reverses their daughters will not necessarily have to endure social oblivion.

Parents may take out $2,500 policies on their daughters, payable when they attain the age of 18. For girls up to one year old the premium is approximately $100 annually. The fee increases with age, the fee of a girl of 10 being $250 annually.

The policies have been carefully worked out from estimates made by peeresses that it costs at least $2,500 for a girl's first season "out."

How Money Goes.

This is the way the insurance companies estimate that the $2,500 will have to be spent:

Court gown—$150.
Six evening gowns—$360.
Ten day dresses—$400.
Nine pairs of shoes—$100.
Eighteen pairs of stockings—$65.
One dozen pairs of gloves—$60.
Town and country coats, skirts, jumpers and woolen clothes—$375.
Opera cloak—$60.

The remainder of the $2,500, it is estimated, will have to be spent on incidentals.

Thanksgiving Day — Age 304 Years!

Three hundred and four years go—1621, the Plymouth Fthears celebrated the FIRST Thanksgiving Day in acknowledgement of their FIRST harvest in America! Its National celebration in recognition of the year's blessings was FIRST proclaimed in New York in 1789 by George Washington and set for observation Thursday, November 26th of that year. In 1863 Abraham Lincoln, by proclamation, set the last Thursday in November as the day of Thanksgiving.

If those sturdy, early pioneers could today visit the country that received them so harshly, could see what their children and children's children had made of the barren wastes in only a short three centries, amazement and wonder would sit in their minds!

Probably the only vestige left of a typical Thanksgiving ceremony of the 17th Century is our insistence on the TURKEY as the centerpiece for the Thanksgiving feast. To thousands, Thanksgiving Day is called "Turkey Day," only the more thoughtful sensing the deeper and more beautiful meaning of its title.

Our Publicists, our Economistss, our Observers in the High Tower of matters financial join in a mighty chorus, without discord, that NEVER in the proud history of this proud and mighty country have the people thereof enjoyed more prosperity than in 1925.

And the sky has few, if any, clouds in it! Our future is bright! Thursday, November 26th, is our 1925 day of Thanksgiving!

JOHN CARNAHAN.

Shorty Says:

I looked up some dope on how these Plymouth folks celebrated their Thanksgiving days and bleeve ME they must have been real exciting meals! Half of 'em would eat while the other half were on guard to see that the Indians didn't set fire to the house! The head of the house generally excused himself a couple of times before dessert to adjourn to a peephole with a blunderbus to nick a redskin.

Nowadays the only Indians we're bothered with are bootleggers! And they've got so blamed civilized you don't have to shoot them only occasionally! Wouldn't a bootlegger look foolish in 1621?

Yes, times change in 300 years. Wonder what kind of Indians they'll have on Thanksgiving Day in 2239? There's a thought for you!

HONOR GUARD STILL WATCHES HARDING TOMB

Sentries on Duty at Marion for Two Years.

MEET THOUSANDS

Soldiers are Now Allowed to Talk to Visitors.

MARION — Guarding the tomb of President and Mrs. Warren G. Harding in Marion cemetery may appear to be an easy task to the casual visitor, but to the men on guard it is a duty fraught with many trying circumstances.

Members of the Tenth infantry guard detachment, Lieut. Walter Lee Sherfrey, find pleasure and a certain compensation in the work, however. Above all it is a signal honor to them as individuals, and to the regiment to be stationed as honorary guard at the last resting place of their late chief.

Then, too, they are meeting thousands of persons every week, rubbing shoulders with prominent men and women from all over the world. Theirs is an important assignment.

Every one in Marion knows that the soldiers stand watch over the city's illustrious dead. Many people have personal friends in the detachment. Few, however, know just what the soldiers' duties are.

A day with the honor guard might not be uninteresting.

At 6 in the morning the troopers are aroused by a blast of the first sergeant's whistle. They have an hour in which to make beds, sweep out the quarters, get ready for breakfast. "Police up," the soldiers say.

Drill periods are held each morning. If the weather is good, the drill is held outdoors with rifles. On stormy days calisthenics and volleyball in the gymnasium at the "Y" is the order.

Two men comprise each relief on duty at the tomb. When there are visitors at or near the vault, these men stand in the formal position of "at ease." If there are no persons about, they are permitted to walk up and down before the tomb. During the months of good weather, it is seldom that there are no visitors. Then standing motionless for two hours becomes a task that no civilian and only a well-trained soldier could perform.

Unlike a guard on a military reservation, the sentries at the tomb of President Harding are permitted to talk with tourists and other visitors. This breach of military discipline is necessary, as all who come to view the tomb, have questions that they ask. Information must be given clearly, polite, and briefly.

After two hours on post, the sentries are relieved for four hours, when they are again posted. During the time they are off, they may sleep, or just sit around. They are not permitted to leave the vicinity of the little guard house during the 24 hours they are on duty.

From 8:30 p. m. until 6 a. m. there are no visitors at the tomb, but through the night the guard is constantly kept. In the stillness of the cemetery no sound falls save maybe the screaming of a hoot-owl, the honking of a goose, or the crying of some bird disturbed from slumber by a hunting enemy. In these hours sentries on duty walk and walk.

For two years the guard has been maintained at President Harding's tomb. Things happen every day that change the scheme of individual lives; but, until the order that relieves this honr guard is receeived, the soldiers will continue their walk. If that order is 100 years in coming, it will yet find sentries on post.

Whole World Contributes to Medicine

Ginger from India—Iodine from Chile—Olive Oil from Italy—Epsom Salts from England—Menthol from Japan and roots and herbs from almost every country in the world contribute their share towards alleviating the ills of the race. No other medicine, however, compounded from roots and herbs has ever attained such a marvelous record for success as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For over fifty years it has been overcoming some of the most stubborn ailments of womanhood, and is constantly growing in popularity and favor.

ACTION UPHELD

Secretary Wilbur Will Ignore Attorney's Demand.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Captain Paul Foley today was given official exoneration by the Shenandoah court of inquiry in the charges of attempting to influence the testimony of Mrs. Margaret Ross Lansdowne, widow of the commander of the dirigible that crashed in Ohio with a loss of 14 lives.

The decision was regarded as a direct blow at the widow who told both the navy tribunal and the Col. William Mitchell court martial that Foley sought to "twist the facts" in her testimony.

The court held that Foley, as its former judge advocate, was required by navy regulations to visit Mrs. Lansdowne before she took the stand to determine whether her testimony would be germane.

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur probably will ignore the demand of Joseph Davies, counsel for Mrs. Lansdowne, that the Shenandoah court be discharged because attempts had been made to influence the widow's testimony, it was indicated at the navy department today.

Davies accused the court of using "unfair" methods in prosecuting its investigation.

After reading Davies' letter, Wilbur sent it to the judge advocate general of the navy without making a reply.

Navy officials said Wilbur had no intention of discharging the court.

The court specifically held that Capt. Foley was not guilty of unethical or improper conduct and discharged him as a defendant.

Chancellor Luther Will Resign After Locarno Pact O. K.

BERLIN, Nov. 20. — Chancellor Luther has informed members of the reichstag that he will resign immediately after the Locarno treaty has been signed, according to the newspaper Vorwaerts.

Magnificent were the designs, in pure gold, of different gods, with which his frail corpse was decorated.

There were the "upper Egyptian vulture, Nekhbet" and the "lower Egyptian serpent, Buto," winged scarabs, and sacred ewes. Thirteen rings were on the young king's fingers. A gold mask on his face, is not yet removed. All that seemed sufficient to carry him safely to the happy land of the great god Amean-Ra. Instead of that, he, his upper vulture and his lower serpent will go no farther than the Cairo museum.

Those that relied on ancient religious certainly had surprises in store for him—starting for heaven and landing in a museum.

France may find it necessary to bombard the seaport of Beirut, starting point of the Beirut-Damascus railway, if the rebel Druses succeed in capturing the city.

Such a bombardment, following that of Damascus, with great destruction of property and lives will have a bad effect on the Mohammedan population. The result of the French mandate in Syria may be a Mohammedan coalition and uprising, very troublesome to Europe.

Asiatics left to themselves find occupation and pleasure in fighting each other. The wise British know that in India, Hindus and Mohammedans hate and fight each other, while the British rule.

To build up Europe and stop killing among the white races the wise policy would be to permit Asiatics to manage themselves in their ancient way.

The next county meeting will be held in Columbiana on Wednesday evening, December 16, when a dinner will be served.

Columbus Priest Dies.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 20.—Father Alphonsus M. Leyden, 67, died at his home here today of complication of diseases. He was the founder of St. Francis of Assisi church here.

TWO MURDERERS ARE EXECUTED

Double Electrocution Takes Place at Ohio Prison.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 20.—The seventh double electrocution in Ohio's history took place here this morning when Bucor Tudor, 39, Cleveland, and Robert Little, 21, colored, Cincinnati, convicted murderers, met death in the electric chair at the penitentiary.

Their lips moving inaudibly in prayer, both men maintained silence in the death chamber. Each man was accompanied to the chair by clergymen, who had been their spiritual advisers.

Tudor was convicted of killing his wife while jealous because she received attentions from another man. Little was found guilty of murdering John Keeler, Cincinnati night watchman. A life sentence is being served at the penitentiary by John Fitzhugh, who was Little's accomplice in the crime.

Tudor's body will be sent to the home of his sister at Cleveland, while that of Little will be shipped to Birmingham, Ala., where his mother and two brothers live.

mit helpless imbeciles to be a public care. We send them to institutions where more or less disinterested attendants allow them to wither away for years—suffering agonies which none of us can imagine—in the end to die pitifully. Would it incur the displeasure of the Almighty or be inhumane if we were to destroy them by some painless method and end their tortures?"

"Dr. Blazer believed that he was nearing death and that it would leave the care of his daughter to others," it was pointed out to Whitby.

"I would do precisely the same as he did. I will not leave Rolla behind me if it is within my power to prevent it," the poet-agrarian declared.

His Religious Views.

Neighbors call him "one of God's noblemen,' as they explain how he has performed many acts of charity, despite the confining nature of his duties.

He is always cheerful, these acquaintances assert, never referring to his own misfortunes but always willing to listen to the other fellow's hard luck tale.

Wheat experts declare that he has been instrumental in developing a cross between wheat and barley which may revolutionize the grain industry.

For several years Whitby has spent his "spare moments" in writing verse which for a time was a weekly feature in the Wheat Growers' Journal, being credited merely to "Wm. W., the Mud Flats Poet." Other farm publications in various states reprinted his works.

His verses are usually light, facetious quibs on the incongruities of life, which he discusses in a philosophical strain, always ending optimistically.

East End Smallpox Case Quarantined By Health Officer

Home of James Kirby, Dewey avenue, East End, has been placed under quarantine for smallpox, Dr. John A. Fraser, city health commissioner, announced today. Miss Hazel Morris, 20, is ill.

Miss Morris, health board officials claim, recently visited friends in Glenmoor, where an epidemic developed about a week ago. A few days after returning home she became ill.

This is the only case of contagious disease in the city, the health commissioner said.

SUNKEN BRITISH "SUB" IS LOCATED

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The British submarine M-1 sunk last week in the English channel, has been located and it has been established that the sinking of the vessel and the loss of 68 lives was caused by some one leaving a hatch door open when the vessel submerged, according to the Evening Standard.

The admiralty does not confirm this report.

Thanksgiving Day Bird Cost Lower Than Last Year

HATFIELD, Pa., Nov. 20.—In this town, the home of the Thanksgiving turkey, more than 2,500 belligerent young gobblers, handsome hens and strutting "Toms" were moving around restlessly today here in the fields where every year for the last 30 years auctions have been held.

The edict went out that the bird which adorns the Thanksgiving day dinner table will cost no more than last year and may be slightly lower.

M. B. Benner, known as the "North Pennsylvania turkey king," said that the first choice lots of turkeys, 25 in number, brought 46 cents a pound. Market men figure about 11 cents added to the auction price will be market prices for dressed turkeys which would be 57 cents a pound.

RHINELANDER TRIAL HALTED

Rumor of Agreement to Settle Sensational Suit.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 20.—The marriage annulment trial of Leonard Kip Rhinelander against Beatrice Jones Rhinelander was suddenly adjourned by Justice Morschauser today until Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

The attorneys for both sides have been in a series of conferences since yesterday's court recess.

With a rumor floating through the packed courtroom that an agreement to "settle the suit" was being considered, convening of court was postponed while attorneys and the judge engaged in a "conversation' in Judge Morschauser's chambers for 20 minutes.

At different intervals, Justice Morschauser, Lee Parsons Davis, counsel for Mrs. Rhinelander, and Mills emerged.

Court was then convened as the spectators sensed a "crisis."

"An emergency arose yesterday afternoon," said Mills, addressing the court, "concerning which I had not the slightest intimation. Mr. Jacobs (Mills associate counsel) and myself have made diligent inquiry but failed to gain the necessary knowledge.

"I set out at once with Mr. Jacobs to investigate the new facts but the inquiry has not been completed. I ask, therefore, that the case be put over to Monday."

Davis agreed and the motion was granted.

Before adjournment Judge Morschauser cautioned the jury against coming in contact with outside influences.

"At this time of all times, gentlemen," he said," you should be careful because I consider this the most important moment of the trial, the slightest thing would cause a mistrial."

BROWN PLANS SECOND VISIT

Secretary of State Spends Few Hours in City.

Thad H. Brown, serving his second term as secretary of state, and who recently entered the race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, will make another visit to East Liverpool before the primaries next August, he announced yesterday afternoon during a brief stop in the pottery center.

Brown came to East Liverpool on the 2:30 o'clock Y. & O. car from Youngstown, where he attended a Republican rally Wednesday evening. He conferred with several party leaders. He refused to make any statement bearing upon his candidacy.

The secretary of state was accompanied to Columbus by Municipal Judge-elect J. C. Hanley, who was his classmate in the law school at Ohio State university. Hanley will witness the Ohio State-Illinois football game at the Columbus stadium tomorrow afternoon.

DEATH ROLL

Bradfield Funeral Services.

Funeral services for Mrs. Catherine Bradfield, 75 years old, who died suddenly of heart trouble, will be held at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the home, 152 Thompson avenue. Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ, will have charge.

The body will be taken to East Fairfield for burial.

Mrs. Rebecca Chamberlain.

Mrs. Rebecca Chamberlain, 82 years old, died yesterday at the home of her nephew, William Richardson, Power Point, following an attack of pneumonia.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. John Rairden, East Liverpool, and one son, Frank, Madison township.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Chamberlain home. Rev. J. Johnson, pastor of the Power Point Nazarene church, will be in charge. Burial will be made in Madison township cemetery.

WOMAN FACES DEATH CHAIR

Convicted of Murder of Third Husband, Deputy Sheriff.

ELIZABETHTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 20.—Mrs. Fannie Soper today faced the prospect of death in the electric chair.

She was found guilty of first degree murder of her third husband, William Soper, a deputy sheriff, by a jury which deliberated one hour and 45 minues.

Sentence was to be imposed today by Justice Edward C. Whitmyer, presiding judge.

The prosecution contended Mrs. Soper shot and killed her husband while he was asleep. Mrs. Soper had asserted a stranger called at their home and that he killed her husband.

Mrs. Soper received the verdict without emotion.

Rate of Taxes

in the rate for Leetonia, although a bond issue for sewage purposes was proved by the electors there at the Nov. 3 election. The 1925 rate for Leetonia was 22.30, and this has been cut to 20.60 for 1926.

In the Hanover district, where a three-mill levy was approved at the last election for school purposes, the rate has been increased from 15.60 to 19.80.

Only a slight increase has been made in the rate for Salem city, this being advanced from 20.10 to 20.50.

Budgets Determine Rates.

The four districts where the rate is unchanged are: Madison school district No. 1; Goshen school district, Butler township, Salem township and Washingtonville.

All tax rates are fixed in accordance to the requirements of the different districts, based on the budget sheets filed with the county auditor by municipal, village, township and school district authorities.

The new rates will apply to taxes which are due in December, but the time for payment of which has been extended by the county commissioners until January 20.

Coolidge Back

that the rapid expansion of American financial interests abroad constitute "accumulating reasons for our adherence to the permanent court of international justice."

To the scores of bankers in his audience, the president delivered a message of commendation and of warning. He commended their willingness to spend American capital abroad, characterizing this as one of America's greatest contributions to the restoration of Europe, but he coupled with it a warning to them against the indiscriminate lending of money to borrowers who did not wish to use it for constructive purposes.

Refers to Foreign Loans.

Concerning foreign loans, the president said:

"If rightly directed, they ought to be of benefit to both borrower and lender.

"If used to establish industry and support commerce abroad, through adding to the wealth and productivity of those countries, they create their own security and increase consumptive power to the probable advantage of American trade.

"But when used in ways that are not productive, like the maintainence of great military establishments or to meet municipal expenditures which should either be eliminated by government economy or supplied by taxation, they do not appear to serve a useful purpose and ought to be discontinued.

"Our bankers have a great deal of responsibility in relation to the soundness of these loans when they undertake to invest the savings of our country abroad."

While the president, of course, mentioned no names, most of the bankers present interpreted this as an indirect thrust at France, which is maintaining the largest military establishment in Europe, while her states and municipalities are trying to effect extensive loans from American, English and Swiss bankers.

Two Boys, Denying Beliet In Hereafter, Shoot Selves

One is Dead, Other is Dying as Result of Suicide Pact Partly Carried Out.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 20.—Because "this life of a human being is not worth all the effort which must be put forth to maintain it,' one Walnut Hills high school student, William Strauss, 17, was dead today, and his chum, Albert J. Rosenberg, 15, is dying, the outcome of a suicide pact, partly carried out last night.

"We do not believe in any hereafter," a postscript to the note found by men who took Rosenberg to a hospital said. "In our last moments we believe we are sane.

"Whereas," read the body of the note, "we the undersigned do not consider the living of this life of a human being worth all the effort we must put forth to sustain it, and, whereas, we do not want to die a slow death of starvation or of exposure, we hereby agree to follow out the provisions of this covenant, and although we know that the feebleminded who call themselves American citizens will call us insane, we agree to shoot ourselves. Our last wish is that we be cremated."

The pact was carried out on a country road near Cincinnati. Farmers were attracted to the scene by the honking of an auto horn. They found Rosenberg with a bullet wound in his head. He directed the searchers to a ditch where the dead body of Strauss was found.

Rosenberg told how Strauss reproached him for his bad marksmanship, then said:

"I'll make a better job of it," fired one shot and was dead.

Strauss was the son of Morris Strauss, vice president of the Washington Mortgage company. Rosenberg's father is a member of the firm of L. Rosenberg & Sons, owners of a women's store here.

Relatives said that neither lad had ever shown any evidence of unusual behavior. They were close companions.

Mother is Called At Inquest Into Murder of Baby

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Coroner Oscar Wolf today ordered Mrs. John R. Allen to appear before him in the reopening of the inquest into the death of her five-weeks-old son, John, Jr. The baby was found dead from chloroform early Monday in his crib in the Allen suite at the exclusive Belmont hotel.

The coroner said he would assemble a jury at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

GAS LEASE CASE MAY BE APPEALED

The case of the Big Seven Oil and Gas company and H. H. Hyland, Jr., against A. H. Woods and others, which was filed in common pleas court July 17, last, for the purpose of obtaining an order for the cancellation of leases will eventually reach the court of appeals.

In common pleas court No. 2, Judge John B. Worley has placed bond at $300 after both the plaintiffs and the defendants filed exceptions.

The case was submitted to the court on the pleadings and the evidence and the court held that the leases held by the plaintiff were valid and in full force and effect. However, the court held that the leases held on certain acreage by the defendant, Clyde Woods, void as against the plaintiff. The defendants were enjoined from interference with the plaintiff in possession and operation of the leases in question and held by it.

An order of court followed that the plaintiff is to pay $1,400 within 30 days for the cost of drilling and equipping the Woods well, but that the defendants, A. H. and Ida Woods, are entitled to royalty upon the terms of the leases held by them. The plaintiffs, however, are entitled to the production from these wells, but subject to the royalty. The defendants have also been ordered to pay the costs.

All parties have filed their exceptions and have given notice of appeal, whereupon the court set the bond at $300.

MASTER'S DEGREE TO BE CONFERRED

Past masters' night will be observed by New Lisbon lodge No. 65, F. & A. M., next Monday night, at which time the master's degree will be exemplified by past masters. This meeting will be preceded by a banquet at 6 o'clock in the new lodge rooms of New Lisbon lodge, East Lincoln way.

The entertainment committee of New Lisbon lodge, which is composed of W. M. Morgan, J. H. Vogan, N. K. Bowling, R. L. Hendricks, H. S. Roller and W. A. Frew, have arranged for an informal dance in the Lisbon Masonic temple tonight. The music for this event will be furnished by Cave's orchestra of Sharon, Pa.

Jury Trial Waived.

A jury was waived and there was a trial to the court, Judge James G. Moore presiding, in the case of A. F. Vonderau and Joseph Voight against George Wheeler, where the plaintiffs sought a judgment against the defendant for work and labor performed in the construction of a garage. The court rendered judgment for the plaintiffs for $300, and taxed the costs in the action against Wheeler. The amount sued for was claimed as balance due on the contract assumed by the plaintiffs.

Case Settled.

After the case had been scheduled for trial, counsel for both the plaintiff and the defendant agreed upon a settlement in the case of Sarah Evelsizer, represented by Cochran and Cochran, of East Liverpool, and the Stark Electric company, represented by Hart and Kohler, of Alliance.

This action, which was entered in common pleas court March 25, last, was for $5,000 damages for personal injuries.

Judgment Entered.

Judgment by default for $524 has been entered in the case filed in common pleas court October 6, last, by C. D. Tullis against Henry R. Drinkef. The original action was filed on a claim of $510.77, which was then due, but upon which interest was asked. The judgment is for both the claim and the interest.

"Red Meteor" Will Flash Last Time Tomorrow At Columbus

STATE-ILLINOIS BATTLE NATION'S PREMIER TILT

Harvard-Yale, Both Beaten, Call Upon Tradition for Big Following at Cambridge; Stanford and California Will Meet in Annual Coast Classic Out at Palo Alto.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Another page of football history is to be written tomorrow; a documeent of such moment that it will be filed away in the card index system of time itself.

Out at Columbus, O., the inimitable "Red" Grange will play his last game of college football. The occasion will be worth a typographical broadside.

Up in Cambridge, Mass., the quite discredited teams of Harvard and Yale will meet in their annual game. A typographical pop gun could do justice to this one but the boys are bound to rally around with a lot of words, the chains of habit being what they are.

Out in Palo Alto, Cal., the annual coast classic between Stanford and California will come down to a decision but without its usual significance. Neither is a champion, impending or otherwise, for the first time in many years. Like the meetings between Drake and Iowa State, Lehigh and Lafayette, Fordham and Georgetown and Swarthmore and Haverford, the Harvard-Yale and Stanford-California games are worthy of mention this year only because of their tradition.

Likewise, the Ohio State-Illinois game at Columbus lacks the consequence of other years but is saved from obscurity by the fact that it will mark the passing of Grange the Creat from the college gridiron.

Unbeaten Teams in Action.

Another contribution to the page of time will be furnished before the end of the day. Several unbeaten teams are to go into action and the writer is pleased to believe that this condition may be rectified in some cases. Here in New York, the undefeated Fordham outfit is to take on Georgetown for the Catholic college title. The writer looks for Georgetown to win and ruin Fordham's record.

Up in Providence, Brown and New Hampshire will couple up. The latter is another unbeaten team but has been pushing over a lot of push-overs with great rapidity and Brown is not exactly in this class. In fact, Brown should win comfortably, unless its slump against Harvard is chronic.

Missouri, one of the contenders for the national title, also goes into action in a Valley conference game. It will meet Kansas and, drawing a line through the records of this pair against Nebraska, the "Show-me" eleven looks somewhat superior. The same may be said for Tulane, another unbeaten contender, against Louisiana State, the latter having finished second to Alabama by a matter of 42 to 0. If Tulane is as good as it happens to think, the thing should be something of a cross country run.

The Western conference title will go to the winner of the Michigan-Minnesota game at Ann Arbor. The writer ventures to favor Michigan, although the Gophers, in sight of a title for the first time in some years, have come along like the wind during recent weeks.

Other Big Ten games will involve Chicago and Wisconsin and Indiana and Purdue but they mean nothing or even less.

International meetings of some consequence also are down on the books Iowa, an early season sensation in the Western conference, will take on Southern California at Los Angeles and it should be a romp for the latter, unless Iowa's showing against Minnesota was not typical.

In any case, Southern California has one of the best teams in the country and last Saturday, Iowa looked like one of the worst.

Two other intersectional games will bring together Centenary and Butler at Shreveport and Columbia and Alfred in New York.

50-50 SPLIT IS RICKARD'S PLAN

Will Ask Gotham Ring Commission for Approval.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Tex Rickard today will seek permission from the state athletic commission to put over his plan, whereby Mickey Walker and Tommy Milligan, of England, are to meet for the welterweight title, December 2, with the profits to be split equally between the boxers and the local Christmas fund. This plan was made necessary by the fact that a recent commission ruling calls for promoters of all charity shows to turn over 50 per cent of the proceeds to the beneficiary.

Under these conditions, it was deemed impossible to obtain the services of prominent boxers. Therefore, Rickard decided to run the Walker-Milligan bout as a private enterprise, with the Christmas fund a silent partner.

If sanction to the plan is granted, it is likely that Jimmy Goodrich and Luis Vincentini will be signed this afternoon to meet in a lightweight championship match on the same card.

"Red's" Famous 77 Shirt to Be Hung In Illinois Hall of Fame

University of Illinois doesn't propose that any other Illini player shall ever use the number "77" that Red Grange made famous and is providing a permanent place among the trophies of the institution for his shirt.

COUNTS UPON ITS 'CHEEK' IN YALE CONTEST

Not One-eyed Connolly Kind But Perfectly Good Quarterback.

HARVARD has tried everything else under the sun in its efforts to keep from becoming the joke of eastern football.

Now the Crimson leaders are going to try Cheek.

Not the kind of cheek One-Eyed Connolly uses to crash the gate, or an insurance agent has in coming to your house at night.

The kind Harvard intends to employ in the final battle of the year against Yale is a perfectly good quarterback, in fact, one of the best quarters in the east. Given a powerful line and a great trio to work with him in the backfield he might be claiming a place in the football sun.

Cheek served notice last year in that heroic stand the Crimson made against Ducky Pond and his cohorts that he would demand a chance for fame this year.

While Gehrke, with his educated toe and beautiful line plunging drew the lion's share of attention, Cheek was adding his bit of fight to the superhuman defense Harvard put up in the closing minutes of play to prevent the defeat from turning into a debacle.

This year Cheek has more than lived up to expectations.

The game means more to Harvard than the usual battle with Yale. This may sound odd to those who know the tradition back of these yearly clashes. But it is true.

The defeats Harvard has suffered during the Fisher regime have not only brought the Big Three down from its place in the football sun, but now threaten to throw Harvard into a "set up" class.

Teams which once were looked upon as practice teams have come to lock upon Harvard as a stepping stone to fame. This to the point where Harvard might now have to fight its way into a so-called "Big Eight" or "Big Ten" conference is such an organization were to be formed in the eastern sector.

As far as Yale is concerned Harvard need not bow its head.

True Yale has won 25 of the 43 contests played to date Harvard has won but 13 and five games have ended in ties. But, confining the matter of prowess to the post-war period Harvard has the edge. The Crimson has won four of the six games played and Yale but two. Harvard has scored 45 points against the Bulldog and his nibs has scored but 40. Nineteen of those 40 points were registered last year.

Here are the scores of those last six meetings:

1919—Harvard 10, Yale 2.
1920—Harvard 9, Yale 0.
1921—Harvard 10, Yale 3.
1922—Harvard 10, Yale 3.
1923—Yale 13, Harvard 0.
1924—Yale 19, Harvard 6.

BOWLING

By a margin of an even hundred pins the Wood Choppers defeated the Rail Splitters in the "Moninger ten pin league" last night at the Liberty alleys. Art Smith rolled up high scores of 192 and had total of 523. They will roll again on Tuesday.

In the Industrial Duckpin league tonight, K. T. K. will take on Hall China.

The pin scores:

Last Night's Fights

At Meadville, Pa.—Pedro Lopez, of Mexico, knocked out Jack Sullivan, of Bayonne, N. J. (heavyweights), in first round. Kid Lyberger, of Meadville, awarded judges' decision over Joe Severo, of Meadville.

At Philadelphia—George Siddons, Philadelphia, defeated Roach Rodgers, Wilmington, Del., 10 rounds. Joe Shannon, Philadelphia, stopped Eddie Fischer, Riverside, N. J., in sixth round.

Newark, N. J.—George Ward, Elizabeth, N. J., knocked out Alex Hart, Orange, N. J., in seventh round.

A test revealed that a factory's best worker could roll a pat of butter in four distinct motions, whereas one worker required 24 motions for the same operation.

FINISH SEASON IN PEAK FORM

Dartmouth Winds up With Players in Perfect Condition.

Dartmouth's football team has been disbanded at the conclusion of a wonderful season. And an interesting condition existed at the close of the year, during which the team played such teams as Harvard, Brown, Cornell and Chicago. The team finished the season in perfect physical condition. Not one member was there on the injured list when the team trotted off the field after the final fray.

This may well be offered as proof that rugged physique and endurance of its stars play a big part in the making of a great team. No team can carry on through a season with one or two brittle stars.

If there is any prospect of another football season similar to the one now ending—as far as weather and field conditions are concerned—it might be well for the football rules committee to prepare for said conditions by adding to the rules.

For instance: What is the ruling regarding a "dead" ball when the ball, instead of lying on the ground, is floating around in a pond?

Now don't laugh.

Couple of weeks ago Baldwin-Wallace and Otterbein college staged a battle at Westerville, O., for the championship of something or other. On the fourth down the question as to whether the team with the ball had made the necessary yardage was raised. The linesman and his line were summoned. And while the players waited for the chain gang to arrive the ball, which had been grounded in a puddle, floated away a couple of feet under a gentle wind. Officials had to guess where the ball was before the regatta. The team making the down retained the ball.

Four members of the Princeton team (don't mention that name to Yale right now) are honor men in their studies. Which may or may not have some bearing on the success of the Tiger eleven in preventing the Big Three being pushed entirely off the sport pages.

Crago, guard, and Hobson, another letter man, are among the seniors ranking high in their studies. Bartell and Weekes, juniors, are also honor students.

One of the outstanding surprises of the waning football season was the collapse of the usually impregnable Cornell defense. Gil Dobie's team suffered a total of 76 points to be scored against it in two games 14 by Columbia and 62 by Dartmouth. Which explains clearly the weakness of the team.

When the University of Michigan team retired to their dressing rooms after the game with Ohio State they had not permitted a single touchdown to be scored against them. The field goal booted by Northwestern in that grand old upset was the only score made against them up to the Ohio game and the Buckeye team failed to penetrate the Michigan goal line.

MARSHALL STAR SECOND IN CLEVELAND SCORING

Eight Touchdowns Gives Him Total of 48 Points for Year's Work, With Team Winning Four, Losing Three and Tying Two; Play West Commerce Eleven Today.

THREE Greater Cleveland Conference football players, from teams of the same ranking as John Marshall, high school's Thanksgiving day opponents here, and one of them Marshall's star ground gainer, up until this afternoon were topping all Cleveland scholastic point makers.

The trio consists of Ted Kunner, of Shaker Heights; Woods, of John Marshall, and Korencic, of Euclid Central.

They were far ahead of such players as Diebold, of Holy Name; Brickna, of St. Ignatius; Schwartz, of Lakewood; Owens, of West Tech, and other stars of the Senate and Quadrangular circuits.

Of interest chiefly to East Liverpool football fans, however, is the fact that Woods, who is tied for second place with Korencic, is the big threat of the John Marshall eleven, and probably the most dangerous man that the Fifth City outfit will send against the Blue and White on Thanksgiving day at Patterson field.

Two years ago it was Seedhouse of Rocky River; this year it is Woods of John Marshall.

Against all opposition for the season, Woods has scored eight touchdowns for a total of 48 points. In Greater Cleveland Conference games, he has registered seven touchdowns and is second in the conference, to Korencic.

Korencic, of Euclid Central, has registered seven touchdowns, and in this matter is second to Woods, and has kicked six points following touchdowns.

Marshall has won four games, lost three and tied two during the present season and were scheduled to clash with Commerce this afternoon.

Here is their record:

Marshall 6; Berea 0.
Marshall 6; Lakewood Lightweights 0.
Marshall 0; Rocky River (1924 champions) 0.
Marshal 6; Cleveland Heights 12.
Marshall 0; Euclid Central 19.
Marshall 10; Euclid Shore 9.
Marshall 6; Shaker Heights 9.
Marshall 31; Longwood 0.
Marshall 6; Painesville 6.
Marshall total scores 71; opponents 55.

Ice Star to Tour.

NEW YORK Nov. 20.—It was stated today that Clas Thunberg, Olympic speed skating champion, would be invited by the international skating union to make a tour of the United States and Canada during the impending winter season. New York, Boston, Chicago, Pittsburgh and the outdoor skating centres of upper New York state have been mentioned in connection with the proposed tour.

Athletes to Tour World.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Jackson Scholz, Olympic champion at 200-meters, was today en route for San Francisco on the first lap of his world tour in company of Lloyd Hahn, one of America's leading milers. Sanction for the trip was given by the A. A. U. at its recent convention in Pittsburgh.

Scholz and Hahn will sail early next month from Vancouver for the South Seas, the first stop being Honolulu. They also will compete in Australia, New Zealand and the Irient.

COLUMBUS BOWS TO MIGHTY 'RED'

City Wears Festive Air on Eve of Great Game.

By Jack Cejnar.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 20.—The mighty "Red" Grange, of Illinois, pulled into this city today to find it virtually football mad.

The city wore a festive air. Thousands of old grads and Ohio State followers were already here. The campus district was decked out in scarlet and gray, the varsity colors. Ticket scalpers were doing a flourishing trade. Upon everybody's lips was the name of Grange.

The Illinois star and 44 of his teammates, including coaches and trainers, were immediately hurried to the Southern hotel, their headquarters while here.

With the day dawning bright and fair, and the weatherman predicting ideal conditions for tomorrow's struggle between Ohio State and Grange, the demand for tickets became unprecedented. Ohio State officials estimated that 85,000 would witness the game. Tickets sold as high as $25. One hundred and forty officers will handle traffic. Over 50,000 automobiles are expected.

And three ambulances will be kept on the university campus all day tomorrow.

Day Off for "Tigers."

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—As a reward for winning the Big Three title, twenty-five members of the Princeton football squad will be spectators at the Yale-Harvard game at Cambridge tomorrow as guests of the Princeton Athletic association. The squad will be banqueted by the Princeton club in New York tonight and will leave for the scene of the game tomorrow morning.

RE-DEDICATE TWO PARTIES, KNIGHT URGES

Akron Publisher Speaks at Zanesville Church Society Meeting.

CONDEMNS EVILS

Declares Ohio Taxes and Bonded Debt are Mounting.

ZANESVILLE, O., Nov. 20.—"The greatest work before us as citizens is to make a last effort to re-dedicate the two paries (Republican and Democratic) to those principles which might remove from us every agency or activity of government which is not necessary to transact strictly public business in the simplest and most inexpensive way," Charles L. Knight, of Akron, publisher of the Beacon-Journal, and regarded as a probable candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, told the Brotherhood of the Central Presbyterian church here last night.

Really able men in the state are being driven out of politics, Knight said by candidates who have subscribed to every ism and fad. Rejection at the primaries and elections of candidates whose platforms consist of flowery platitudes was the remedy for this condition, he declared.

Disclaiming any personal ambition, Knight pointed out some of the evils in government in Ohio as he viewed them today. He declared that powerful groups and blocs "have not been satisfied to rest their contentions upon argument, but have sought to impose a reign of terror" to the end that the public welfare is neglected.

Swarm Under "Economy Banner."

"Men of first rate abilities now feel," Knight continued, "that if we have reached the point where their peculiar knowledge of taxation or of administration cannot be given to the state unless they are willing to swear a slavish fealty to the ideals of Westerville or subscribe to the idea that the pope of Rome is packing his grip for Baltimore, or that both the open and the closed shop are slavery, then the people and the state can take the job and go to the devil with it."

In these days, he said, if candidates "know nothing, their first care is to conceal that fact," and as a result they all swarm cut under the "banner of economy and efficiency."

Tax burdens, in less than a decade, Knight continued, had mounted in Ohio from $6 per person to more than $50. In the same period the bonded debt of the state's subdivisions had increased from less than $300,000,000 to more than $900,000,000.

200 POTTERS ATTEND DINNER

Standard Company Gives Get-together Banquet.

The banquet and entertainment given by employes of the Standard Pottery company in St. Stephen's Episcopal parish house, Wednesday evening, will be made a semi-annual affair according to an announcement today by plant executives today. The next affair will be in the form of a picnic, date and place to be determined later.

More than 200 employes and members of their families attended the first function. A roast beef dinner was served by members of Circle No. 1 of the church.

Mrs. Ila Marshall Cronin, wife of Daniel Cronin, president of the company, was toastmistress. Brief responses were made by Daniel Cornin, Wess Cronin, Charles McNicol, E. J. Fitzgerald, George Steele, chairman of the committee on arrangements; Edwin Barnett and Dean T. G. C. McCalla acting rector of St. Stephen's church.

Miss Phyllis Fitzgerald of the D. E. McNicol pottery, rendered two vocal solos, "Save Your Sorrow for Tomorrow," and "Pal of My Cradle Days." Miss Juanita Harris said "The Garden of Tomorrow" nad "A Kiss in the Dark." John Dougherty was accompanist for the soloists.

This program was followed by a dance for which Edward Green's orchestra furnished the music.

Dr. and Mrs. John S. Cronin, of Cleveland, were special guests.

TITLE TILT ON EAST END LOT

Greys-C. & P. Will Clash in First Game of Series.

Preparatory to the inaugural clash of the three-game series with the Wellsville C. & P. eleven for the inter-city semi-pro football championship, the Greys will hold their final practice session of the week this evening at City park.

The Greys and the Wellsville railroaders will tangle tomorrow afternoon at Columbian park, instead of at Patterson Field.

Manager Czech, after inspecting the West End lot, decided today that it would be next to impossible to play football on Patterson Field in its present condition and accordingly ordered the game transferred to the East End lot, which is practically dry.

The engagement is scheduled to get under way at 3 o'clock. The second game of the series will be staged on the Saturday following Thanksgiving at Central park, Wellsville.

A third and deciding game, if necessary, will be played on the site decided by the toss of a coin.

Manager Czech has lined up a formicable array of local independent stars for the impeding series, including a majority of the former Greys. The backfield will include "Chappie" Finley, "Cheese" Plant, Frank Davis, T. Walker and Boso.

On the line will be found C. Golden and Neidles at ends; Gibas and Gerace at tackles; C. and J. Smith at guards, and R. Walker at center.

Big Story Vanishes.

MARION.—A peach of a murder mystery has gone "blooie."

A hotel maid entered the room occupied by J. A. McClaskey in a Toledo hotel. He was gone.

But blood stains were on the pillow.

The maid screamed and notified the management.

Police were notified and a state wide search began for the missing man.

He was located here.

"My teeth pained me that night and the gums bled considerably."

Exit murder mystery.

MOVIE INQUIRY IS REAL DRAMA OF REEL LIFE

REVEAL STORIES

Simply Produces Superior Films for Public is Defense.

Within the next few months the government's effort to break up what is charged as a national conspiracy on the part of Adolph Zukor, and associated motion picture corporations, to monopolize the industry, will come to a conclusion before the Federal Trade Commission. In a series of three articles the International News Service presents the vast scope of the charges as contained in a document filed with the commission.

No. I.

By Robert S. Thornburgh,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Between the covers of a 115,000 document attacking the legality of Adolph Zukor's gigantic Famous Players-Lasky motion picture combine, the federal trade commission has written a more fantastic story than ever the movie producers dared flash on the silver screen.

Reeking with deep laid plots and commercial intrigues, marked by the rise and fall of America's most popular photodrama stars, and the losing battle of the "little fellow" against the "big fellow," are the far-reaching charges preferred by the government.

It's a drama in itself, vivid with imagination, amazing in enormity and scope, compelling in power—this internal battle of wits and dollars which, according to the government, has swept through the billion-dollar movie industry as one man—Zukor—attempted to dominate the business from studio to theatre, from ownership of stars to plays, plots and authors.

The drama, in which 20,000,000 Americans play the audience part, where $1,500,000,000 in capital is working, has its settings from Hollywood to Long Island, Paris to the Sahara, from the bleak steppes of Russia to the romantic isles of the South Seas.

The curtain dropped on one phase of the play when the Famous Players-Lasky corporation appeared before the Federal Trade Commission with an answer to the government's charges. On November 24 the final arguments will be held after which the commission will proceed to a verdict.

Another curtain may rise shortly thereafter with the government-alleged "villain" in the hands of the law, with the attorney general taking steps to drive him into the federal courts. Or it may turn out, as the Zukor interests insist, that he is no villain at all—simply an industrial and dramatic giant making it possible for the film fans of the United States to enjoy their daily dramas far superior to those produced in any other nation.

Playing opposite Zukor as the "villain" are J. D. Williams, general manager of the First National organization which the government charges Zukor tried to wreck, and Doug Fairbanks as hero, and Mary Pickford as heroine. Williams, the commission holds, forestalled Zukor in his intentions on the First National while Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks, along with Charlie Chaplin, Jack Pickford, James Oliver Curwood, Mack Sennett, Anita Stewart and the Talmadge sisters, kicked over Zukor's contracts.

300,000 Employed.

Statistics presented in the case disclose that more than 300,000 persons—stars, just actors, mere folks in the background, stage hands, camera men, technical experts, business executives and others—are employed in this industry which but a few years ago was no more than a dream.

About 700 feature pictures are produced annually. Paid admissions to 16,000 movie theaters were over $1,000,000,000 last year. Approximately $500,000 a day was spent in 1924 in the construction of new theaters. Distributors received about $155,000,000 last year.

"These figures show the magnitude of the industry," the government's brief said. "The witnesses, best qualified in America to testify as to the potential power of the screen—have given us facts to show that never before has there been a case brought by the government in which the general public has been more vitally concerned.

"It is astonishing to learn that within so short a time this new science for imparting knowledge has developed a greater potential power to influence the character, habits, dress, morals and general conduct of our youth than the public school system."

SAMUEL BREAKSTONE FILES 13 SUITS AGAINST FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES

Actions Follow Failure to Adjust Losses of Wholesale Millinery Company in Fire Feb. 22, Last.

Thirteen actions against fire insurance companies, filed by Samuel Breakstone, proprietor of the National Wholesale Millinery company, as a result of the fire which destroyed the Milligan, Thompson and Wasby buildings, Feb. 22, last, will be heard before Judge James G. Moore, at Lisbon, on Monday. Nineteen cases have been assigned for the week.

The suits were instituted by Breakstone after the companies failed to adjust losses due to the burning of his establishment. Breakstone will be represented by Lones, Hill & Davidson and J. F. McGarry of this city, and George T. Farrell of Lisbon. Billingsley & Moore of Lisbon and Mooney, Bigbee & Edmonds of Cleveland are attorneys for the insurance companies.

Four actions for divorce will be heard on Friday, Nov. 27. Jury cases will be tried before Judge John B. Worley of Cadiz in court room No. 2, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. One of these cases is that of Mrs. Mary Penney, of this city, against the city of East Liverpool, for damages for the death of her husband, who was injured in a fall near the corner of Fifth street and Broadway.

William Johnson, Salineville, Dies; Funeral Tomorrow

Funeral services for William Johnson, 75, Salineville meat dealer, who died in his home in Salineville at 11 o'clock Wednesday night, will be conducted in the late home at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Rev. W. S. Martin, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will be in charge. Interment will be made in Woodland cemetery.

Mr. Johnson was born in Salineville and had worked at the butcher trade since 16 years of age. For about 28 years he conducted his own shop.

He is survived by nine children: Charles, James, Wilbur, Louis, William and Pearl Johnson, Mrs. Grant Dorrance and Mrs. Clifford Randolph, all of Salineville and one sister, Mrs. Rella Daniels, also of Salineville. He was a member of the Salineville Presbyterian church.

Why Thin Folks Have Weak Blood

A Quick Way To Build Up.

Thin folks don't go around looking pale and drawn as though the life had all gone out of you! Scientists have now found a way to put more red and strength into the blood, at the same time you are putting on flesh and weight.

And here's how it is done: Go to any druggist and ask for Burke's Cod Liver Oil and Iron in tablet form. In a day or two you'll find you are eating more, the angular hollows will begin to fill out, the blood being greatly enriched will quickly show the color of health and vigor in your face.

This sugar coated tablet, containing the purest Cod Liver Oil and blood making iron is pleasant to take—no fishy nauseous taste. In order to guard against cheap imitations go to the druggist that sells Burke's Cod Liver Oil and Iron Tablets the original and genuine. Don't forget to use the word Iron. For sale by Carnahan's Drug Co., 3 stores, and all good druggists.

SURVIVORS OF ILL-FATED STEAMER LENAPE RETURN TO SAFE ENVIRONMENT

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Survivors of the ill-fated Clyde liner Lenape, which burned to a blackened hulk off the Delaware coast Tuesday night, were returning to a safe and normal environment today after their stirring adventure at sea.

One and all they gave unstinted praise of the plan of rescue of Captain Charles W. Devereux after the liner, with 368 persons on board, caught fire at sea.

Sixty-five passengers were brought into New York last night on a special train from Lewes, Del., where they had been taken in cutters after they had been rescued from the burning ship. The other passengers were sent to Jacksonville, Fla., over the Seaboard Air line.

Officials of the line this morning estimated the loss of the Lenape at $3,000,000.

One Passenger Drowned.

All on board, with one exception, were rescued. He was Robert Leverton, 60 years old, of Williamnest, Mass. He was drowned when he leaped overboard. Ten persons were injured, either burned or bruised, during the rescue by the pilot boat Philadelphia and coast guard cutter Kickapoo.

Each of the survivors had a thrilling tale. All of them paid sincere tribute to Captain Devereux, of the Lenape. It was just before midnight Tuesday that the fire broke out and Devereux ordered S. O. S. messages sent out when the flames threatened to get beyond control of the crew.

Capt. Devereux sent his officers to arouse sleeping passengers and tell them not to be alarmed. They were told to dress quietly, which they did, and don life belts.

Makes Run for Shore.

Rather than allow a transfer of passengers then, Captain Devereux determined to make a run for shore. It was pitch dark and there was a fairly rough sea.

Thick, black smoke poured out of the holds as the fire gradually spread. Meanwhile members of the crew were bravely battling to subdue the flames.

The passengers were lined up at the rails, Captain Devereux passed among them, giving words of assurance.

As the liner headed for the Delaware shore, Charles S. Morris, pilot, who knew every reef in the vicinity, was at the wheel. If Morris did not have this knowledge, Captain Devereux said, he would have had to sent the passengers out in the life boats.

Investigate Fire.

The rescue was robbed of much of the color that usually marks sea disasters by the business-like manner in which the passengers were taken off in life boats to the pilot boat Philadelphia and the coast guard cutter Kickapoo.

The Lenape today lies a blackened, smoking wreck on the coast of Delaware, about a mile from Lewes, Del., to which point most of the survivors were first taken.

The cause of the fire is unknown. Officials, however, were conducting an investigation.

METHUSELAH'S WIFE

THE STORY OF A GIRL WHO MARRIED FOR MONEY

By EDGAR POE NORRIS

FOUR.

If the mayor of Central City had been a man of any sense of the appropriateness of things, he would have issued a formal proclamation declaring it a holiday. It was that anyway. The procession over the hill to Harwood house wasn't limited to the invited guests, and the stream of caterers, florists, gift-bearers. An alarming number of women of the town were sick that day, according to excuses made in the shops in which they worked, or the offices in which they typed. Mrs. Gus Long and Mrs. Bob Roester left their reviewing stand at 9 o'clock in the morning to seek vantage positions outside the iron fence surrounding Harwood house and gape for hours at the stream of arriving and departing motors, and thrilling over glimpses of bejeweled or high-hatted notables.

And with what gusto the town—and particularly the invited guests, pored over the details of the affair published in that afternoon's edition of the Daily Times. The story occupied two whole columns on the first page and ran over to an inside space.

"The marriage service was solemnized at 1 o'clock in the library of the Harwood manson, with the Very Rev. Lewis W. Burling, dean of Grace Protestant Episcopal Cathedral officiating.

"The bridal procession marched down the broad stairway. First came the ushers, Messrs. Wyman Holt, James Archer, Leslie Manley, Edgar Wright, of Central City; Harry Bede, Chicago; Ben Kirkington, New York.

"Following the ushers came the bridesmaids, Misses Marion Harwood, daughter of the bridegroom; Gloria Baird, Alice Kenwick, Ileana Wales, Davidine Clark, all of Central City; Josephine Stafford, Pittsburgh.

"Next in the processional were the maid and matron of honor, Miss Bernice Todd, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Brent Daly, Mr. Harwood's sister.

"Then, escorted by her mother, who gave her away, came the bride, beautiful in her bridal robes. The gown was modeled after the d' Medici period, with tight bodice, full skirt touching the floor, long tight fitting sleeves, the neck-line low in front, but finished at the back with the high Medici collar. The gown was trimmed with rare old lace and pearls. The court train, untrimmed, was attached to the shoulders, and the veil of tulle formed a high cap effect, and was attached to the hair with a semi-wreath of orange blossoms. A full wreath of the same blossoms attached the veil to the train about half way.

"The bride's only jewelry was Mr. Harwood's wedding gift, a magnificent diamond studded wrist watch on a pearl bracelet. White gardenias and bouvardia formed the bridal bouquet.

"The maid of honor wore a gown of silver cloth. The tight bodice and semi-circular skirt were untrimmed. Her slippers were of silver cloth and her hat was covered with silver lace. She carried a great sheath of lilies, tied with silver ribbons.

"The matron of honor wore white and silver, her gown being untrimmed. Her hat and slippers were silver. She carried white roses and gardenias, tied with white tulle.

All the bridesmaids wore similar gowns, fashioned of white chiffon with tight bodices, and full circular skirts, with the neck lines furnished by bands of chiffon which formed bow ties at the back. Their hats were of white chantilly lace with a small poke bonnet effect, turned up at the back and untrimmed. Their slippers and flowers were all white.

"White roses in Venetian bowls decorated the bride's table. Members of the bridal party were seated at tables arranged in the dining room. Other guests were seated in the adjoining drawing room.

"A change made necessary by press of affairs, will postpone the extended wedding tour of the couple for a week. They are making an automobile trip to a secret destination late this afternoon, but will return some time tomorrow to be at Harwood house until they leave for New York.

"Many expensive gifts were showered upon the bride, and it was felt necessary to have two detectives of the city force on hand to guard the display.

"Among the guests were * * *."

Names of only four guests were spelled incorrectly in the account.

Efforts of Noble Harwood and his bride to leave the house unnoticed at four-thirty in the afternoon failed. Their low, swift sedan, shiningly new, was followed down the drive way by the sound of laughter and familiar hails, so that the sightseers who still pressed their noses to the iron fence had warning. Low cries of "There they are!" issued from a score of throats. Laurel could not restrain a desire to look at them as the car dashed out, given a right of way by a suddenly energetic traffic policeman. Children ran after it futilely. The sight-seeing throng eddied away. Central City had had its festive day.

Two hours later the automobile turned from the main highway into a dirt road that led down to a shimmering lake. Trees swished against the side of the car with an eerie sound. Laurel, clutching her husband's arm as it rested on the wheel, shivered. That shiver ran through Noble Harwood, delighted him, intoxicated him.

When the automobile finally stopped, it rested before a log lodge set picturesquely at the head of the lake. Silently they entered. A fire blazed a welcome.

"Ooh, this is so nice," Laurel exclaimed. She looked around, fascinated by the place. The interior was of unfinished logs. Heavy fur rugs, sturdy log furniture, a corner occupied by books, a piano, a radio receiving instrument, radiated comfort.

"It's a surprise," Noble said. "It's a place we can come whenever we wish to be absolutely alone. No one knows I own it."

Laurel sank down in one of the massive chairs and gazed into the fireplace. "I'm so tired—and so happy." He knelt down beside her. Her eyes became great pools of starry darkness, her moist red lips fascinated and held him.

"At last we are alone," he murmured. He felt very young.

BUCYRUS.—Because the district election board at North Robinson has lost track of the election tally sheets, results of the election in that district is not yet known.

L. S. Wagner, Jefferson township clerk, has the poll books, but claims that no tally sheets have been turned over to him. He has therefore been unable to announce official results.

A New Way To Get Thin

"Chew 'Silph' and be Sylph-Like"

"Did you hear about the latest discovery to reduce?" one fat woman is whispering it to the other—"It is called 'Silph' and is making a hit because it does take off FAT in the easiest and most agreeable way. What is there to do? Simply chew two or three pieces of a refreshing and pleasant gum—it is as good as eating candies."

Through a most marvelous recent discovery scientists have been able to incorporate the extract of sea plants and herbs known for years as wonderful reducers into a delicious, refreshing chewing gum called, "Silph"—Doctors—medical authorities and grateful users, who had been burdened with obesity for years are amazed at the quick and astonishing results produced by "Silph" in most obstinate cases where everything else seemed to have failed.

If you are suffering from excess fat you should TODAY get a package of SILPH Reducing Gum which sells for 50c—That is enough for one week or you send in a dollar bill and get a full two weeks supply which is a sufficient amount to see wonderful results. If your druggist cannot get it for you send direct to the Silph Medical Company, 9 West 60th Street, New York City. Silph is also recommended for stomach troubles."

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS

Silph is the name of the original and genuine reducing Gum. THE ONLY ONE WE PERSONALLY GUARANTEE TO BE SAFE AND HARMLESS.

Colleen Moore Stars In "Desert Flower," Booked at American

A shot.

A man falls dead.

"I did it," cries the girl, stepping forth.

"It was I," insists the handsome young man.

And as the sheriff scratches his head in perplexity and indecision, Jose, the faithful Mexican, protector of the woman, appears on the scene like an appartition, displaying a gun with one of the chambers empty, as mute testimony of his guilt.

But who, really, was guilty? You'd never guess, unless you sit through the entire showing of "The Desert Flower,' an absorbing new First National photoplay of Western life, with the delightful Coleen Moore in the leading role, which opens a three-day engagement at the American theatre Monday.

According to all reports, you won't find it difficult to sit through the performance; in fact, you might constitute yourself a "repeater"—a role entirely legal at the boxoffice, though not considered so at the polls.

"The Desert Flower" is based on the highly successful Al Woods stage offering of the name, which intrigued New Yorkers throughout the recent theatrical season. It was put into screen form by June Mathis, declared to be the highest priced writer in cinema circles.

Campaign Launched To Make Rome Quiet City Instead of Noisy

ROME—A campaign to make Rome one of the quetest cities in the world instead of one of the noisiest has been begun by the municipal authorities. New regulations issued by the authorities prohibit street car conductors using their blatant whistles, while an attempt to restrict the use of automobile horns is to be made.

In addition to providing marks on the sidewalks where pedestrians must cross the streets, corner stores are to be asked to erect mirrors which will enable drivers to see approaching traffic and thus abviate the necessity of furiously blowing automobile horns at every corner.

FAVERSHAM HERE NOV. 26

Celebrated Actor Will Appear at Ceramic in "Foot-Loose."

Wide spread interest is being aroused in the appearance at the Ceramic theatre on Thanksgivisg day of William Faversham, in "Foot-Loose," described as a modern society drama of intrigue with an unusual European atmosphere.

It is the work of Zoe Akins, and is said to provide the celebrated star with a role in every way worthy of his ripened talent. There are few players on the stage today who can play so superbly and at the same time with such charming individuality and local play-goers can look forward to a memorable evening in the theatre.

Mr. Faversham personally directed and staged "Foot-Loose' in its entirety and the presentation will be in keeping with the high standard of excellence expected of a William Faversham production.

The supporting cast includes such well known players as: Sarah Truax, Edith Campbell, Ann Warrington, Antonio Salerno, Dennis Cleugh, Beatrice Vert, Milton C. Herman and others.

Star British Golfer Plans to Make His Home in America

LONDON — Archie Compston, now considered Britains' leading professional golfer, plans sooner or later to emigrate to America. In other words he believes that being a professional golfer in these islands is not remunerative enough and he wants to collect some of the big money which is paid out annually to outstanding "pros" in the United States.

Before leaving Great Britain he wants to establish a firm reputation as the best golfer here. He has been the outstanding golfing success of the year and has very nearly reached the pinnacle of British golfing fame. In addition to finishing second in the British open, tied with Abe Mitchell, he has defeated Mitchell in two recent tournaments. He also tied with Arnaud Masey for the French open title, but was beaten in the play-off.

Special Exercises for Women Over 40 Chief Aim of Culture Club

LONDON.—Special exercises for women over forty to get rid of that "heavy" feeling are to be a feature of the Professional Women's Physical Culture club, shortly to be opened here.

"Women of forty have lost the spring of youth, and are likely to let themselves 'slump' into a premature middle age," says Alice Michelmore, Secretary of the club.

"They need a regular scientific exercise even more than young workers do. We are therefore arranging a special course of exercises, which, without being too strenuous, are designed to make the woman of forty feel like twenty-five again.'

Only Chrysler Four Combines These Performance Abilities

The Chrysler Four's extraordinary performance—itself the direct and positive evidence of the highest quality in design, materials and craftsmanship—literally leaves no alternative in its field.

Today's market holds nothing of any type, approaching the Chrysler Four price range, which even remotely approximates its supreme combination of performance abilities.

In speed, the Chrysler Four gives you a new standard—58 miles an hour, achieved quickly and easily, not for a momentary spurt, but for eager mile after mile, as long as you like.

When you would dash away ahead of the crowd in traffic, the Chrysler Four whisks you from 5 to 25 miles in eight seconds—with sure-footed reliability and purring smoothness.

Yet, with all the super-power necessary for such speed and such swift pick-up, you can get 25 miles to the gallon.

Any one of these exceptional abilities would be sufficient evidence of value for any manufacturer except Chrysler: the three of them clinch the assurance of Chrysler Four's transcendent quality and worth.

We are eager to afford you the opportunity of proving the superiority of this favored Four. We ask you to ride in the car—drive it—see and feel for yourself, its speed, its swift response, its pliability of power, its smooth operation, and even more particularly, its riding steadiness and comfort. Then, we believe, you will inevitably share in the enthusiasm of its tens of thousands of owners.

"Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the only thing that relieved me of constipation"

Beware of the dangerous diseases which are constipation's toll.

Constipation is dreaded, not only for its insidious self, but for the serious diseases which may be traced to it. Mr. Palludon tells us the helpful story of his relief:

Doing hard work while constipated brought on piles, from which I suffered for two years. I tried almost every remedy without success. Finally I tried Kellogg's ALL-BRAN and it has made me fit again. It is the only thing that helped me and I want everybody to know about it.

(Signed) JOHN PALLUDON, Clementon, N. Y.

You can get sure, prompt, permanent relief from constipation. Simply eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly. Two tablespoonfuls daily, or in chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN. It is nature's own way of cleaning the intestine. It is a bulk food which sweeps the system of constipation's poisons and stimulates normal, healthy action.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to be permanently effective, if eaten regularly, or your grocer returns the purchase price. Eat it with milk, cream, fruits, or try the recipes printed on the package. Made in Battle Creek, Michigan. Served in leading hotels and restaurants. Your grocer sells it.

Mrs. Mary Hanley Enrolled In Daughters of Revolution

East End Woman Boasts of Family War Record Believed to Have Few Equals in District.

A family war record, which is believed to have few equals in East Liverpool, is that held by Mrs. Mary Hanley, High street, East End, who has just been enrolled in the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, national headquarters of which are maintained at Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Hanley will be initiated by the Michael Meyers chapter, of Toronto, at a meeting on Monday, December 14. While only women whose direct descendants served in the Revolutionary war against England in 1775-83 are eligible to membership, the Toronto chapter has enrolled 50.

Mrs. Hanley comes from a family of fighting men, her ancestors on both her mother's and fathers' side having served in practically every war in which the United States has participated. Thirteen ancestors on her father's side served in the American Revolution with Pennsylvania units, although no record is available as to the number of ancestors on her mother's side who participated in the same war.

John Peden, a son of Mary Peden, her father's grandmother, and James Finney, Mrs. Hanley's great great grandfather, fought in the Revolutionary war. Her great grandfather John Peden fought in the second war with England in 1812, when Great Britain sought to force American seamen into the British service. Her mother's grandfather, Henry Walter fought with an Ohio unit in this same conflict.

Several of her ancestors were in the service of the United States in the war with Mexico. Mrs. Hanley's father, Charles W. Finney was a member of the 85th Indiana Infantry during the four years of the Civil war. He served in the capacity of a first lieutenant and was captured by the Rebels at Thompson's landing. He spent three months in the famous Libby prison camp where thousands of Union soldiers died from starvation, exposure and disease before their release was effected.

Robert Finney, a brother of the East End woman, fought in the Spanish-American war to free Cuba from Spain in 1898, while her son, Harry Hanley, is a veteran of the World war.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

U. S. PRODUCES 90 PER CENT OF WORLD'S AUTOS

Turned Out 3,640,000 Cars and Trucks in 1924.

EUROPE LAGGING

Cheap Production Results Because of Unlimited Demand.

WASHINGTON.—The United States in a comparatively few years has erected an automotive industry that produces over 90 per cent of the automobiles used in the world.

Figures made public at the Department of Commerce illustrate this tremendous control of the market—in 1924 the manufacturers of this country built 3,640,000 cars and trucks, in contract with an output of 330,000 machines in Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany. All Europe did not produce in excess of 350,000 automobiles last year.

Mass production, made possible in the United States because of the tremendous lucrative domestic market, is the answer to American supremacy in the automobile industry.

To Hold Supremacy.

Because there is so great a demand for cars in the United State the manufacturer virtually is unlimited in his output—cheap production is the result. In Europe, on the other hand, there is not found the domestic demand. Mass production was tried by several manufacturers without success.

Officials here believe that for all time to come the manufacturers in America will have this great advantage over the European and hence never will be seriously hampered in competition regardless of the cheap foreign labor and other lowered costs of operation.

"Export figures for the different European auto-producing countries are so dissimilarly classified as to make a direct comparison with United States and Canada difficult,' a department official said.

"However, on an approximate basis of grouping passenger cars and trucks, American exports (United States and Canada)' during 1924 amounted to 224,851 units, as compared with a combined total of 84,961 for Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany. This difference of something less than 3 to 1 in favor of American exports contrasts with the much greater disparity of 11 to 1, between the relative production totals of the two comparative groups and suggests greater relative export activity on the part of the European producers."

Officials say that it is not the amount of foreign trade that leading European producing countries are getting but even more the volume of their production which should be of greater interest to the American automotive exporter. Our exports compete not only with European cars in markets foreign to both, but as well in the domestic markets of the European producer. American exports are directly competitive with European production.

"At this point," it was stated, "it is interesting to note the rapid increase of European production which has taken place within the past two years, as compared with placement of American cars abroad.

Europe's Output Grows.

"Production in the United Kingdom, France, Germany and Italy, according to the best available data, increased from 258 000 passenger cars and trucks in 1923 to 330,000 in 1924, a gain of approximately 30 per cent, including foreign assemblies from the United States and Canada, advanced only 16½ per cent, or from 315.381 to 367,197 units.

"If this condition of rising overseas production keeps up — and there is good reason for making this assumption—it logically follows that American automobile exporters cannot hope to secure as great a percentage of foreign business in the future as they otherwise would.

"This statement should NOT be misconstrued to mean that our exports will not increase, for figures comparable to the above covering the first six months of 1925, amounting to 269,393 units, indicate that a new high record will be made when complete returns for the full year are made known."

New Legal Phrase.

CLEVELAND—"From the beginning of the world" is perhaps a new legal phrase. Walter C. Cobham, secured a divorce. Cobham paid alimony of $1,500 and his lawyer asked Mrs. Cobham's Chicago atterney for a release. The release became effective "from the beginning of the world."

Marine Corps Officer Rules Lansdowne Probe As Navy Advocate Widow Accused Steps Out

Maj. Henry Leonard, U. S. Marine Corps, retired, now is conducting the official probe into the Shenandoah disaster, having succeeded to the judge advocateship resigned by Captain Paul Foley, U. S. N., when Mrs. Zachary Lansdowne testified that Captain Foley endeavored to get her to change her testimony before the board. These new photos of Mrs. Lansdowne, Maj. Leonard and Capt. Foley were taken in the courtroom in Washington.

Pictures Tell Story of Damascus Massacre; French Barricade City to Bar Retaliation

America Expends $334 Yearly on Each Pauper

Washington.—The cost of maintaining the average pauper in the United States is $334.64 annually, and he has 2.14 acres of land cultivated for his support, the Department of Labor found.

The per capita value of buildings and equipment devoted to the pauper's care averaged $1,118.96.

States of the Union were shown to have widely different ideas as to what and how much should be done for their paupers. In Nevada, the subsistence and maintenance of almshouse inmates cost per year $665.10 per capita. In Alabama, it cost $187.56.

In South Dakota, the property investment in almshouses and almshouse farms per person cared for is $5,600, while in Mississippi it is $415.68.

One of the reasons for high cost, the department said, is the large number of small institutions devoted to the care of the poverty stricken. It was found that one-third of all such establishments had less than ten inmates, and one-half had less than twenty-five.

Police Dog Guards Well, but Picks Wrong Auto

Fortuna, Cal.—J. H. Struba's dog hopped into an automobile on Essex street, near Washington street, perched on the front seat and defied efforts of three police officers and an angry car owner to coax or dislodge him from his position. The dog was in the wrong automobile, but refused to take anyone's word for it except that of his owner, who came along after half an hour. The animal hopped from the auto without a murmur and accompanied his owner down Essex street a short distance, where the owner's car had been parked.

Owner and animal became separated on Bedford street. The dog had no trouble in finding his way back to Essex street, but his scent was a bit defective in selecting the proper automobile.

A crowd of several hundred persons gathered and witnessed the dog's victory over the minions of the law.

Bobbed Hair Helps

Los Angeles.—Bobbed hair that formerly was thrown away, the Goodwill industries now turns into a profit. This charitable organization in one week received more than fifty pounds of hair in contributions. It was made into wigs and switches, sold, and the proceeds devoted to work among the poor.

Because household labor receives from $450 to $7.50 a month, which is cheaper than electric power, labor saving machines are seldom used in Czechoslovokia.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA IS DEAD

TODAY

Poor Little Lambs.
If It Were a Dog.
Tut's Decorations.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Look at stock market quotations today!

Unfortunately little men with weak "margins" will be the victims. A few speculative stocks dropped, and others, non-speculative are thrown overboard, prices slashed to meet losses. Quiet men that know real values pick up the bargains, and that is another chapter in stock exchange history.

Moral—Don't gamble.

Our glorious navy, not efficient in aircraft building or management, shows no lack of efficiency when it comes to worrying an unfortunate woman, widow of the Shenandoah's commander, called to testify about the killing of her husband.

She is informed by the learned court that she is not entitled to counsel. If somebody had stolen her dog, she would be allowed to have a lawyer. Why can't she have one when her husband has been taken from her?

The American people would like to have a convincing answer to that question.

They would like to know why her lawyer was forcibly put out of the court. When a cabinet officer steals a naval oil reserve he can have 50 lawyers and nobody objects.

When a woman's husband is stolen from her by official stupidity, she ought to have all possible protection—as many lawyers as she wants.

What Mrs. Lansdowne says is simple and true—namely, that her husband objected to taking the Shenandoah on a stupid political "state fair" trip.

This writer can corroborate his statement.

Last June, Commander Lansdowne, in his wife's presence, told this writer at Lakewood, N. J., that sending the Shenandoah across this country in the thunderstorm season would be highly dangerous, and in case a thunderstorm were encountered, would probably result in disaster.

The ship was ordered to go across the country, and Lansdowne, who had crossed the ocean in a dirigible and knew his business, protested. He was overruled by ignoramuses, and their stupidity killed him. The least the navy can do is to treat his widow chivalrously, having killed her husband.

Clemenceau, the French "Tiger," reported dying on Tuesday, was working at his desk. He told reporters, "I am too busy to die." A good description of a man whose mental energy lasts past 80.

Voltaire, always "dying," but too busy to die, enjoyed his greatest triumph in Paris when, past 84. The crowd took the horses from his carriage and dragged him home after the production of his play. He might have lived to see the last "volume" of his work, which was the French revolution, had he not been, as he said, "killed by kindness."

WORLD COURT O. K.

Compliments Directing Heads of Nation's Great Industries.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Having assured organized business that, irrespective of its size, it has nothing to fear from his administration so long as it travels along the road of public service, President Coolidge returned to the capital today and started whipping into shape the most important address of the year—his annual message to congress on the state of the nation.

The president came back from New York well pleased with his trip. His audience of more than a thousand leaders of so-called "Big Business" gave him an enthusiastic reception, and warmly applauded his pledge to keep the government out of business so long as business keeps out of the government.

"The present generation of business has shown every disposition to correct its own abuses with as little intervention of the government as possible," said Mr. Coolidge. This compliment to the directing heads of great industries in his audience was enormously applauded.

Message To Bankers.

Mr Coolidge purposely refrained from any extended review of national or international questions in his address, preferring to reserve this for communication to congress two weeks hence.

He did, however, renew his endorsement of the world court, pointing out

Elks' Lodge Plans Memorial Services Sunday, December 6

The East Liverpool lodge of Elks will hold memorial exercises in the Ceramic theatre, Sunday, December 6, in accordance with a nation-wide movement on the part of the lodge.

The committee in charge includes Carl Gruber, William Robinson, James Webber and George Goppert. A program is now being arranged for the service. The name of the memorial speaker has not been announced.

Fire Chief Makes Pre-holiday Visits In Business Zone

Fire Chief Thomas Bryan and other members of the fire department are making their annual pre-holiday inspection of the business district. Cellars, warehouses, stock rooms and other places where blazes are likely to originate are being visited. Clean-ups are being ordered wherever conditions are believed to be hazardous. The inspection probably will be completed this week.

Attorney Bennett Will be Memorial Speaker at Sharon

Attorney Ben L. Bennett, of this city, will be the speaker at the annual memorial exercises to be conducted by the B. P. O. Elks' lodge of Sharon, Pa., on Sunday, Dec. 6. His subject will be "The Religion of the Four-Leaf Clover." The exercises will be held in a Sharon theatre.

RATE OF TAXES IN CITY AND 46 OTHER DISTRICTS OF COUNTY DECREASED

East Liverpool Property Owners Given Six Tenths of Mill Reduction by County.

WELLSVILLE CUT BUT TOPS LIST

Increases in Payments Due Jan. 20 Reported in 19 Zones, While Four are Unchanged.

Taxes in East Liverpool, Wellsville and 45 other districts of Columbiana county for 192 have been decreased. In 19 zones the rate has been increased, while in four others there will be no change, it was announced today by County Auditor Charles E. Hamilton of Lisbon.

East Liverpool's rate has been reduced from 20.90 to 20.30 mills.

East Palestine Rate Declines.

Wellsville taxpayers' rate will be 28.70 instead of 29.20, in effect during the present tax year. This will be the highest tax in the 70 districts of the county.

East Palestine's rate declines from 23.60 to 22.90, while Columbiana village, which had a rate during 1925 of 23.10, will pay 21.40.

On account of the approval of a bond issue at the recent election, New Waterford's rate has been increased from 20 to 25.20 mills.

Other Reductions.

In Salineville village, the rate of 24.20 for 1925 has been slashed to 23.20, while the heaviest decline is shown in the Lisbon village rate, which during the last fiscal year was 25.60, and this has been reduced to 23.20.

A marked decrease is also shown

Several Families Desert Homes as High Cliff Settles

CLEVELAND, Nov. 20.—Several families have deserted their homes on the northwest rim of the Cuyahoga river valley here near Auburn and West 11th avenue, because the hill on which the houses stand, is settling and threatens to crumble the buildings.

Several of the houses have broken loose from their foundations and huge cracks have been made in the concrete bases threatening to slide the buildings down a 50-foot cliff.

Building inspectors lay the blame to quick sand dumped there recent rains and decaying rubbish as the site was formerly a city dump.

CANVASS SCHOOLS

Conference Precedes District Council Campaign.

Regional Scout Executive C. E. Carmack will be the guest of honor at a noon luncheon to be held in the Y. M. C. A. banquet hall tomorrow by scout officials of the East Liverpool district council which consists of nine troops—nine in the city proper and one each in Chester and Newell.

Carmack, who will confer with leaders of Columbiana county Scout troops during the day, will make an address after the luncheon.

Harry A. Wilson, of Salem, county Scout executive, will also be a guest.

The district council this week made a canvass of the public and parochial schools in East Liverpool, seeking the names of all boys from the fifth grade to the sophomore year in high school who are desirous of enrolling in the Scout movement.

Meeting in Leetonia.

Plans for a district membership campaign will be discussed at tomorrow's luncheon.

Leetonia was host to 30 scout leaders on Wednesday evening, when a chicken dinner was served in the St. Paul's Lutheran chapel. Guests were present from East Liverpool, Leetonia, Lisbon, Columbiana and Salem.

After the dinner a program was

Dr. John Fraser Returns From State Health Chiefs' Meet

Dr. John Fraser, city health commissioner, returned home last evening from Columbus, where he has been attending a state meeting of health officials.

The convention opened Monday evening, all sessions being held in the new Nell house. Tuesday's sessions were given over to the study of milk. The convention will close tomorrow.

Dr. T. T. Church, Salem, county health commissioner, also attended the Columbus meeting.

FIRE DESTROYS FRAME GARAGE

Origin of Drury Lane Blaze is Undetermined.

A two-story frame garage building, in Drury Lane, near the Bell Telephone exchange, owned by Lawrence Thomas, was virtually destroyed by fire shortly before 6 o'clock last night. The loss, estimated at $500, is said to have been partly covered by insurance.

The garage, located at the rear of the residence property occupied by Mr. and Mrs. George F. Toland, was used by Toland for his machine. Barney Peterson, who lives in an adjoining structure, discovered the blaze and, after calling the fire department, drove the car from the burning building.

The blaze had gained considerable headway before firemen from the Central station arrived, but it was under control within a few minutes after the hose was brought into play.

Several windows in the rear of the Beers-Hanks Motor company's service station and garage, just across the alley from the structure, were broken by the intense heat.

Fire Chief Thomas Bryan today made an investigation of the blaze but was unable to ascertain its origin. No fires were burning in the building, it was declared.

LADIES GUESTS AT ROTARIANS' COUNTRY CLUB DINNER-DANCE

125 ARE PRESENT

Sturgis-Miller Orchestra Furnishes Music for Party.

Approximately 125 guests attended the affair which opened with a three-course turkey dinner at 7 o'clock.

The chorus singing was directed by Attorney Blaine H. Cochran, with Mrs. Bertha Cochran as accompanist. Music for the dance was furnished by the Sturgis-Miller orchestra.

The tables were cleared from the banquet hall and a program of entertainment was offered by four students from the Department of Drama, Pittsburgh Institute of Technology. The quartet included Miss Dorothy Cohen, Mrs. Theodore Diehman, Hardy Albright and Ellsworth Perrin.

The program included monologues and vaudeville numbers by Messrs. Albright and Perrin. Miss Cohen rendered two vocal selections, acting as her own accompanist. Solo numbers were also presented by Mrs. Diehman, soprano, with Miss Cohen at the piano. An interpretative dance number by Mrs. Diehman concluded the half-hour program.

A dance followed.

The committee in charge was made up of E. L. Carson, chairman, Corydon Arbold and William Louthan.

"I have investigated rumor after rumor," Carr said, "but have been unable to find any facts justifying them. Under our rulings Grange is ineligible to sign a contract until after Saturday's game. He cannot play with any league team until one year after he finishes his college football career, unless, of course, he decides to quit school. In that event I shall be glad to welcome him into the league."

Steamer, Reported Sunk With 200 on Board, is Found

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The Haitain steamer Villes Des Cayes, reported to have been sunk with 200 persons aboard, has been found and is being towed into Pilon harbor, Cuba, by an American tanker, according to advices to the navy department today.

The dispatch mentioned no casualties, and contained no details.

The vessel was out of Santiago and is believed to have run into rough seas.

Naval destroyers and airplanes joined in the search for the stricken steamer.

ENGLAND MOURNS AS HEART ATTACK CLAIMS KING GEORGE'S MOTHER

Widow of Late King Edward Passes Away at Her Country Home at Sandringham, Where She Has Been in Retirement for More Than Year Due to Ill Health.

ALL MEMBERS OF ROYAL FAMILY SUMMONED TO BEDSIDE BEFORE END

Dowager Queen, Who Would Have Been 81 Had She Lived Until December 1, Made Brave Fight for Life and Had Made Plans for Reunion on Birthday.

By H. K. REYNOLDS

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Alexandra, dowager queen of Great Britain, is dead.

The well beloved queen mother, widow of the late King Edward, died at her country home at Sandringham, where she has been in retirement for more than a year due to ill health.

She died at 5:25 this afternoon. The announcement of her death was made a half an hour later.

Queen Alexandra, who would have been 81 had she lived until December 1, suffered a heart attack at noon yesterday, and though she made a brave fight for life, her age was against here and she was not able to survive the attack.

Until Thursday the queen mother had been improving in health and was out motoring on Wednesday and actively making plans for a re-union of her family on the occasion of her birthday.

Official Bulletin.

"Her majesty Queen Alexandra passed away peacefully at 5:25 today. The king and queen and members of the royal family were present."

(Signed) F. J. WILLIAMS.
SIR THOMAS HORDER.

The royal family of Great Britain was at the bedside of the queen mother when death came.

King George and Queen Mary had been constantly with the dying queen since morning. The Princess Royal arrived from London during the early afternoon. The queen of Norway, daughter of Queen Alexandra, has been staying at her Sandringham residence and was hastily summoned to the sick room during the early afternoon. The Prince of Wales and the Duke and Duchess of York also went down from London.

Favorite With People.

Announcement of the death of the queen mother threw all England into deep mourning.

Court mourning will be announced in the Court Gazette and social life has already come to a standstill.

That the death of the queen mother had been expected, nevertheless the British public was greatly saddened by the news of the death, for Queen Alexandra during her many years in England has endeared herself to the British people and there has been no greater royal favorite than this kindly queen."

Official notifications that the British empire is in mourning for a period of three months are now being issued.

The queen mother will probably be buried by the side of her husband, the late King Edward.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—President Coolidge today sent the following expression of regret over the serious illness of Queen Alexandria of England to King George:

"I learn with deepest regret of the critical illness of your majesty's beloved mother, Queen Alexandra of England to King George: fervent hope the people of the United States, wholeheartedly share, that your majesty's anxiety may soon be relievd by her complete recovery."

BOY RUN DOWN BY MOTOR TRUCK

Albert Donahew, 12, Commerce street, Wellsville, was brought to the City hospital at noon today suffering from a broken left arm, sustained when run down by a motor truck. The broken arm was reset by Dr. E. F. Swift of Wellsville after which the youth was removed to his home.

Two Burned To Death.

MELROSE, Mass., Nov. 20.—Heroic efforts at rescue by firemen failed to save the lives of Mrs. Isabella Boyd, 68, and her daughter, Isabel, 38, early today. Both were burned to death in their home here.

PLANE CRASHES, PILOT UNHURT

Second Air Mail Accident in Allegheny Mountains.

ROCKLAND, Pa., Nov. 20.—The second serious air mail crash in the Allegheny mountains within a little more than a month occurred a mile and a half southwest of here today when Air Mail Pilot Stephen Kaufman crashed into trees on the mountainside. His plane was demolished, but Kaufman was uninjured.

Flying to Chicago from New York, Kaufman descended to a low altitude preparatory to crossing the Allegheny river at Kennerdell. A dense mist obscured his vision and before he realized how low he was flying, the plane brushed the tall mountain trees and fell.

Recovering from the shock, pilot Kaufman went to Clarion and notified air mail authorities. His mail was sent to Clarion in a truck. It was met there by a special air mail plane from Cleveland, which continued the cargo on to its destination.

Detroit Man Kills Two Sons, Probably Fatally Wounds Wife

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 20.—Richard Brusseau, 40, shot and killed his two sons and probably fatally wounded his wife today at their home, according to Mrs. Brusseau's story to the police. The dead are: Harvey, 14, and Richard, 7. Mrs. Brusseau is dying. A family quarrel prompted the shooting, according to police.

Brusseau sent another son, Clifford, 16, on an errand and then killed the others in the family, police say.

Fire Destroys Two Factories.

PASSAIC, N. J., Nov. 20.—Two factory buildings on Park place were destroyed by fire today at an estimated loss of $100,000.

Bulger's Drug Store carry a complete line of Dr. Hoyt's Remedies. They are Recommended highly. adv.

WICHITA POET-FARMER-FATHER IN NEW "HUMAN HUSK" CASE SANCTIONS DR. H. E. BLAZER'S ACT

WICHITA, Kan., Nov. 20.—A "human husk" case, eclipsing that of the famous Dr. H. E. Blazer incident, has been discovered near Wichita. While in many respects the details parallel those of the Colorado episode, in this instance the "soulless body" yet retains life. The final chapter remains to be written.

Where Dr. Blazer gave up and resorted to poison in the hope of solving his life problem, the Kansan has performed his hopeless task for 31 years, meanwhile contributing to science and literature and maintaining a cheerful, philosophical outlook on life.

Although having devoted so many years in keeping alive the slight spark of life in his son's undeveloped body, the Kansas man frankly admits that if confronted with the alternative faced by Dr. Blazer, he would adopt the same course and destroy his son. His attitude, it is predicted, will reopen the scientific discussion surrounding proposals to enact legislation which would do away with incompetents.

Father Poet-Philosopher.

The central figure in this story is William Whitby, whose poetry under the pseudonym "The Mud Flats Poet,' is well known in farm and trade journals throughout the country. Mr. Whitby acquired a farm near Goddard, 12 miles west of Wichita, in 1879. In 1894 his son, Rolla, then three years old, fell from a barn loft and was made a hopeless cripple.

The child suffered paralysis of nerves which rendered him speechless, motionless and bereft of any method of communication. His plight was even worse than that of the Blazer girl, who could signal her father when she experienced pain, hunger or other emotions.

Medical specialists declared that nothing could be done to benefit the boy. Only constant attendance, they declared, would prevent him from having "spells" during which he would die unless properly nursed. He was doomed to an artificial life. Mr. Whitby's lifetime vigil began then.

Friends tried long to persuade the father to place his invalid son in an institution, but for 20 years he refused to listen, declaring that his life was dedicated to alleviating any possible sufferings of the child.

Accident Handicaps Father.

Then another tragic blow fell upon the Whitby household—a double catastrophe. A friend went plover hunting with Mr. Whitby. While crossing a gully the neighbor stumbled, his shotgun being discharged. Whitby's left arm was shot off above the elbow.

Just after he recovered and returned from the hospital, Mrs. Whitby died suddenly, leaving the care of Rolla and the farm to the father and a younger son. Then the farmer-poet consented to putting the boy in the state institution at Winfield. Two weeks later, he visited the sanitarium and was told that his son was dying. Attendants declared that there was no possible hope for Rolla.

Cares for Boy and Farm.

Forbidden by hospital attaches to remove the boy and handicapped by the loss of one arm, he virtually kidnapped the child, taking him to the Whitby home.

Today Rolla is existing, despite his inability to eat, move or signal. His father's vigilance, nevertheless, is just as carefully maintained as it was 31 years ago. And the farm is as neat and thrifty as any in the county.

Paradoxically, this remarkable parent sympathizes with Dr. Blazer and favors adoption of a legal method by which imbeciles could be eliminated through a scientific, painless method.

"If such a law were enacted, would you submit your son to elimination?" he was asked.

"Yes," calmly remarked the venerable poet.

"Who can criticize Dr. Blazer?" he queried: "Who on this earth knows what will please God? We rush the bloom of our young manhood off to wars, where they are killed, butchered and made cripples for life. Yet we per-

Look at stock market quotations today!

Unfortunately little men with weak "margins" will be the victims. A few speculative stocks dropped, and others, non-speculative are thrown overboard, prices slashed to meet losses. Quiet men that know real values pick up the bargains, and that is another chapter in stock exchange history.

Moral—Don't gamble.

Our glorious navy, not efficient in aircraft building or management, shows no lack of efficiency when it comes to worrying an unfortunate woman, widow of the Shenandoah's commander, called to testify about the killing of her husband.

She is informed by the learned court that she is not entitled to counsel. If somebody had stolen her dog, she would be allowed to have a lawyer. Why can't she have one when her husband has been taken from her?

The American people would like to have a convincing answer to that question.

They would like to know why her lawyer was forcibly put out of the court. When a cabinet officer steals a naval oil reserve he can have 50 lawyers and nobody objects.

When a woman's husband is stolen from her by official stupidity, she ought to have all possible protection—as many lawyers as she wants.

What Mrs. Lansdowne says is simple and true—namely, that her husband objected to taking the Shenandoah on a stupid political "state fair" trip.

This writer can corroborate his statement.

Last June, Commander Lansdowne, in his wife's presence, told this writer at Lakewood, N. J., that sending the Shenandoah across this country in the thunderstorm season would be highly dangerous, and in case a thunderstorm were encountered, would probably result in disaster.

The ship was ordered to go across the country, and Lansdowne, who had crossed the ocean in a dirigible and knew his business, protested. He was overruled by ignoramuses, and their stupidity killed him. The least the navy can do is to treat his widow chivalrously, having killed her husband.

Clemenceau, the French "Tiger," reported dying on Tuesday, was working at his desk. He told reporters, "I am too busy to die." A good description of a man whose mental energy lasts past 80.

Voltaire, always "dying," but too busy to die, enjoyed his greatest triumph in Paris when, past 84. The crowd took the horses from his carriage and dragged him home after the production of his play. He might have lived to see the last "volume" of his work, which was the French revolution, had he not been, as he said, "killed by kindness."

WORLD COURT O. K.

Compliments Directing Heads of Nation's Great Industries.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Having assured organized business that, irrespective of its size, it has nothing to fear from his administration so long as it travels along the road of public service, President Coolidge returned to the capital today and started whipping into shape the most important address of the year—his annual message to congress on the state of the nation.

The president came back from New York well pleased with his trip. His audience of more than a thousand leaders of so-called "Big Business" gave him an enthusiastic reception, and warmly applauded his pledge to keep the government out of business so long as business keeps out of the government.

"The present generation of business has shown every disposition to correct its own abuses with as little intervention of the government as possible," said Mr. Coolidge. This compliment to the directing heads of great industries in his audience was enormously applauded.

Message To Bankers.

Mr. Coolidge purposely refrained from any extended review of national or international questions in his address, preferring to reserve this for communication to congress two weeks hence.

He did, however, renew his endorsement of the world court, pointing out

Elks' Lodge Plans Memorial Services Sunday, December 6

The East Liverpool lodge of Elks will hold memorial exercises in the Ceramic theatre, Sunday, December 6, in accordance with a nation-wide movement on the part of the lodge.

The committee in charge includes Carl Gruber, William Robinson, James Webber and George Goppert. A program is now being arranged for the service. The name of the memorial speaker has not been announced.

Fire Chief Makes Pre-holiday Visits In Business Zone

Fire Chief Thomas Bryan and other members of the fire department are making their annual pre-holiday inspection of the business district. Cellars, warehouses, stock rooms and other places where blazes are likely to originate are being visited. Clean-ups are being ordered wherever conditions are believed to be hazardous. The inspection probably will be completed this week.

Attorney Bennett Will be Memorial Speaker at Sharon

Attorney Ben L. Bennett, of this city, will be the speaker at the annual memorial exercises to be conducted by the B. P. O. Elks' lodge of Sharon, Pa., on Sunday, Dec. 6. His subject will be "The Religion of the Four-Leaf Clover." The exercises will be held in a Sharon theatre.

RATE OF TAXES IN CITY AND 46 OTHER DISTRICTS OF COUNTY DECREASED

East Liverpool Property Owners Given Six Tenths of Mill Reduction by County.

WELLSVILLE CUT BUT TOPS LIST

Increases in Payments Due Jan. 20 Reported in 19 Zones, While Four are Unchanged.

Taxes in East Liverpool, Wellsville and 45 other districts of Columbiana county for 192 have been decreased. In 19 zones the rate has been increased, while in four others there will be no change, it was announced today by County Auditor Charles E. Hamilton of Lisbon.

East Liverpool's rate has been reduced from 20.90 to 20.30 mills.

East Palestine Rate Declines.

Wellsville taxpayers' rate will be 28.70 instead of 29.20, in effect during the present tax year. This will be the highest tax in the 70 districts of the county.

East Palestine's rate declines from 23.60 to 22.90, while Columbiana village, which had a rate during 1925 of 23.10, will pay 21.40.

On account of the approval of a bond issue at the recent election, New Waterford's rate has been increased from 26.50 to 28.00 mills.

Other Reductions.

In Salineville village, the rate of 24.20 for 1925 has been slashed to 23.20, while the heaviest decline is shown in the Lisbon village rate, which during the last fiscal year was 25.60, and this has been reduced to 23.20.

A marked decrease is also shown

Several Families Desert Homes as High Cliff Settles

CLEVELAND, Nov. 20.—Several families have deserted their homes on the northwest rim of the Cuyahoga river valley here near Auburn and West 11th avenue, because the hill on which the houses stand, is settling and threatens to crumble the buildings.

Several of the houses have broken loose from their foundations and huge cracks have been made in the concrete bases threatening to slide the buildings down a 50-foot cliff.

Building inspectors lay the blame to quick sand dumped there recent rains and decaying rubbish as the site was formerly a city dump.

SCOUT CHIEFS' NOON LUNCHEON HERE SATURDAY

Regional Executive C. E. Carmack Will be Honor Guest.

Conference Precedes District Council Campaign.

Regional Scout Executive C. E. Carmack will be the guest of honor at a noon luncheon to be held in the Y. M. C. A. banquet hall tomorrow by scout officials of the East Liverpool district council which consists of nine troops—nine in the city proper and one each in Chester and Newell.

Carmack, who will confer with leaders of Columbiana county Scout troops during the day, will make an address after the luncheon.

Harry A. Wilson, of Salem, county Scout executive, will also be a guest.

The district council this week made a canvass of the public and parochial schools in East Liverpool, seeking the names of all boys from the fifth grade to the sophomore year in high school who are desirous of enrolling in the Scout movement.

Meeting in Leetonia.

Plans for a district membership campaign will be discussed at tomorrow's luncheon.

Leetonia was host to 30 scout leaders on Wednesday evening, when a chicken dinner was served in the St. Paul's Lutheran chapel. Guests were present from East Liverpool, Leetonia, Lisbon, Columbiana and Salem.

After the dinner a program was

Dr. John Fraser Returns From State Health Chiefs' Meet

Dr. John Fraser, city health commissioner, returned home last evening from Columbus, where he has been attending a state meeting of health officials.

The convention opened Monday evening, all sessions being held in the new Neil house. Tuesday's sessions were given over to the study of milk. The convention will close tomorrow.

Dr. T. T. Church, Salem, county health commissioner, also attended the Columbus meeting.

FIRE DESTROYS FRAME GARAGE

Origin of Drury Lane Blaze is Undetermined.

A two-story frame garage building, in Drury Lane, near the Bell Telephone exchange, owned by Lawrence Thomas, was virtually destroyed by fire shortly before 6 o'clock last night. The loss, estimated at $500, is said to have been partly covered by insurance.

The garage, located at the rear of the residence property occupied by Mr. and Mrs. George F. Toland, was used by Toland for his machine. Barney Peterson, who lives in an adjoining structure, discovered the blaze and, after calling the fire department, drove the car from the burning building.

The blaze had gained considerable headway before firemen from the Central station arrived, but it was under control within a few minutes after the hose was brought into play.

Several windows in the rear of the Beers-Hanks Motor company's service station and garage, just across the alley from the structure, were broken by the intense heat.

Fire Chief Thomas Bryan today made an investigation of the blaze but was unable to ascertain its origin. No fires were burning in the building, it was declared.

LADIES GUESTS AT ROTARIANS' COUNTRY CLUB DINNER-DANCE

125 ARE PRESENT

Sturgis-Miller Orchestra Furnishes Music for Party.

Approximately 125 guests attended the affair which opened with a three-course turkey dinner at 7 o'clock.

The chorus singing was directed by Attorney Blaine H. Cochran, with Mrs. Bertha Cochran as accompanist. Music for the dance was furnished by the Sturgis-Miller orchestra.

The tables were cleared from the banquet hall and a program of entertainment was offered by four students from the Department of Drama, Pittsburgh Institute of Technology. The quartet included Miss Dorothy Cohen, Mrs. Theodore Diehman, Hardy Albright and Ellsworth Perrin.

The program included monologues and vaudeville numbers by Messrs. Albright and Perrin. Miss Cohen rendered two vocal selections, acting as her own accompanist. Solo numbers were also presented by Mrs. Diehman, soprano, with Miss Cohen at the piano. An interpretative dance number by Mrs. Diehman concluded the half-hour program.

A dance followed.

The committee in charge was made up of E. L. Carson, chairman, Corydon Arbold and William Louthan.

"I have investigated rumor after rumor," Carr said, "but have been unable to find any facts justifying them. Under our rulings Grange is ineligible to sign a contract until after Saturday's game. He cannot play with any league team until one year after he finishes his college football career, unless, of course, he decides to quit school. In that event I shall be glad to welcome him into the league."

Steamer, Reported Sunk With 200 on Board, is Found

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The Haitain steamer Villes Des Cayes, reported to have been sunk with 200 persons aboard, has been found and is being towed into Pilon harbor, Cuba, by an American tanker, according to advices to the navy department today.

The dispatch mentioned no casualties, and contained no details.

The vessel was out of Santiago and is believed to have run into rough seas.

Naval destroyers and airplanes joined in the search for the stricken steamer.

ENGLAND MOURNS AS HEART ATTACK CLAIMS KING GEORGE'S MOTHER

Widow of Late King Edward Passes Away at Her Country Home at Sandringham, Where She Has Been in Retirement for More Than Year Due to Ill Health.

ALL MEMBERS OF ROYAL FAMILY SUMMONED TO BEDSIDE BEFORE END

Dowager Queen, Who Would Have Been 81 Had She Lived Until December 1, Made Brave Fight for Life and Had Made Plans for Reunion on Birthday.

By H. K. REYNOLDS

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Alexandra, dowager queen of Great Britain, is dead.

The well beloved queen mother, widow of the late King Edward, died at her country home at Sandringham, where she has been in retirement for more than a year due to ill health.

She died at 5:25 this afternoon. The announcement of her death was made a half an hour later.

Queen Alexandra, who would have been 81 had she lived until December 1, suffered a heart attack at noon yesterday, and though she made a brave fight for life, her age was against here and she was not able to survive the attack.

Until Thursday the queen mother had been improving in health and was out motoring on Wednesday and actively making plans for a re-union of her family on the occasion of her birthday.

Official Bulletin.

"Her majesty Queen Alexandra passed away peacefully at 5:25 today. The king and queen and members of the royal family were present."

(Signed) F. J. WILLIAMS.
SIR THOMAS HORDER.

The royal family of Great Britain was at the bedside of the queen mother when death came.

King George and Queen Mary had been constantly with the dying queen since morning. The Princess Royal arrived from London during the early afternoon. The queen of Norway, daughter of Queen Alexandra, has been staying at her Sandringham residence and was hastily summoned to the sick room during the early afternoon. The Prince of Wales and the Duke and Duchess of York also went down from London.

Favorite With People.

Announcement of the death of the queen mother threw all England into deep mourning.

Court mourning will be announced in the Court Gazette and social life has already come to a standstill.

That the death of the queen mother had been expected, nevertheless the British public was greatly saddened by the news of the death, for Queen Alexandra during her many years in England has endeared herself to the British people and there has been no greater royal favorite than this kindly queen."

Official notifications that the British empire is in mourning for a period of three months are now being issued.

The queen mother will probably be buried by the side of her husband, the late King Edward.

BOY RUN DOWN BY MOTOR TRUCK

Albert Donahew, 12, Commerce street, Wellsville, was brought to the City hospital at noon today suffering from a broken left arm, sustained when run down by a motor truck. The broken arm was reset by Dr. E. F. Swift of Wellsville after which the youth was removed to his home.

Two Burned To Death.

MELROSE, Mass., Nov. 20.—Heroic efforts at rescue by firemen failed to save the lives of Mrs. Isabella Boyd, 68, and her daughter, Isabel, 38, early today. Both were burned to death in their home here.

President Sends Message of Regret To King George

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—President Coolidge today sent the following expression of regret over the serious illness of Queen Alexandria of England to King George:

"I learn with deepest regret of the critical illness of your majesty's beloved mother, Queen Alexandra of England to King George: fervent hope the people of the United States, wholeheartedly share, that your majesty's anxiety may soon be relievd by her complete recovery."

PLANE CRASHES, PILOT UNHURT

Second Air Mail Accident in Allegheny Mountains.

ROCKLAND, Pa., Nov. 20.—The second serious air mail crash in the Allegheny mountains within a little more than a month occurred a mile and a half southwest of here today when Air Mail Pilot Stephen Kaufman crashed into trees on the mountainside. His plane was demolished, but Kaufman was uninjured.

Flying to Chicago from New York, Kaufman descended to a low altitude preparatory to crossing the Allegheny river at Kennerdell. A dense mist obscured his vision and before he realized how low he was flying, the plane brushed the tall mountain trees and fell.

Recovering from the shock, pilot Kaufman went to Clarion and notified air mail authorities. His mail was sent to Clarion in a truck. It was met there by a special air mail plane from Cleveland, which continued the cargo on to its destination.

Detroit Man Kills Two Sons, Probably Fatally Wounds Wife

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 20.—Richard Brusseau, 40, shot and killed his two sons and probably fatally wounded his wife today at their home, according to Mrs. Brusseau's story to the police. The dead are: Harvey, 14, and Richard, 7. Mrs. Brusseau is dying. A family quarrel prompted the shooting, according to police.

Brusseau sent another son, Clifford, 16, on an errand and then killed the others in the family, police say.

Fire Destroys Two Factories.

PASSAIC, N. J., Nov. 20.—Two factory buildings on Park place were destroyed by fire today at an estimated loss of $100,000.

Bulger's Drug Store carry a complete line of Dr. Hoyt's Remedies. They are Recommended highly. adv.

WICHITA POET-FARMER-FATHER IN NEW "HUMAN HUSK" CASE SANCTIONS DR. H. E. BLAZER'S ACT

WICHITA, Kan., Nov. 20.—A "human husk" case, eclipsing that of the famous Dr. H. E. Blazer incident, has been discovered near Wichita. While in many respects the details parallel those of the Colorado episode, in this instance the "soulless body" yet retains life. The final chapter remains to be written.

Where Dr. Blazer gave up and resorted to poison in the hope of solving his life problem, the Kansan has performed his hopeless task for 31 years, meanwhile contributing to science and literature and maintaining a cheerful, philosophical outlook on life.

Although having devoted so many years in keeping alive the slight spark of life in his son's undeveloped body, the Kansas man frankly admits that if confronted with the alternative faced by Dr. Blazer, he would adopt the same course and destroy his son. His attitude, it is predicted, will reopen the scientific discussion surrounding proposals to enact legislation which would do away with incompetents.

Father Poet-Philosopher.

The central figure in this story is William Whitby, whose poetry under the pseudonym "The Mud Flats Poet," is well known in farm and trade journals throughout the country. Mr. Whitby acquired a farm near Goddard, 12 miles west of Wichita, in 1879. In 1894 his son, Rolla, then three years old, fell from a barn loft and was made a hopeless cripple.

The child suffered paralysis of nerves which rendered him speechless, motionless and bereft of any method of communication. His plight was even worse than that of the Blazer girl, who could signal her father when she experienced pain, hunger or other emotions.

Medical specialists declared that nothing could be done to benefit the boy. Only constant attendance, they declared, would prevent him from having "spells" during which he would die unless properly nursed. He was doomed to an artificial life. Mr. Whitby's lifetime vigil began then.

Friends tried long to persuade the father to place his invalid son in an institution, but for 20 years he refused to listen, declaring that his life was dedicated to alleviating any possible sufferings of the child.

Accident Handicaps Father.

Then another tragic blow fell upon the Whitby household—a double catastrophe. A friend went plover hunting with Mr. Whitby. While crossing a gully the neighbor stumbled, his shotgun being discharged. Whitby's left arm was shot off above the elbow.

Just after he recovered and returned from the hospital, Mrs. Whitby died suddenly, leaving the care of Rolla and the farm to the father and a younger son. Then the farmer-poet consented to putting the boy in the state institution at Winfield. Two weeks later, he visited the sanitarium and was told that his son was dying. Attendants declared that there was no possible hope for Rolla.

Cares for Boy and Farm.

Forbidden by hospital attaches to remove the boy and handicapped by the loss of one arm, he virtually kidnapped the child, taking him to the Whitby home.

Today Rolla is existing, despite his inability to eat, move or signal. His father's vigilance, nevertheless, is just as carefully maintained as it was 31 years ago. And the farm is as neat and thrifty as any in the county.

Paradoxically, this remarkable parent sympathizes with Dr. Blazer and favors adoption of a legal method by which imbeciles could be eliminated through a scientific, painless method.

"If such a law were enacted, would you submit your son to elimination?" he was asked.

"Yes," calmly remarked the venerable poet.

"Who can criticize Dr. Blazer?" he queried: "Who on this earth knows what will please God? We rush the bloom of our young manhood off to wars, where they are killed, butchered and made cripples for life. Yet we per-

Q. Can you inform me what part of the Friends marriage ceremony makes the contract bining. H. L. E.

A. The laws of the various states provide that a marriage may be solemnized in accordance with the rule of Friends, which consists in simply taking each other for husband and wife before witnesses.

Q. Name some of the longest wearing furs? M. P.

A. Among the more durable furs are Bear, Fisher, Dyed Skunk, Stone Marten, European Fitch, Russian Fitch, Otter, Beaver, Dogskin, Natural Skunk, Northern Mink, Blended Muskrat, Raccoon of all kinds, Opossum of all kinds, Hudson Bay Sable, Russian Sable, and Wolverine.

Q. Please state how steep the grades are on the Unitah railroad. F. G. M.

A. The Unitah railway, a narrow gauge railroad 70 miles long, passing over the Book Cliff mountains in Western Colorado, and running into the Unitah Basin of Utah, is probably the most severe operation in the United States, if not in the world. In crossing the Book Cliff mountains, a branch of the Rockies, this railroad has six miles of 7½ per cent grade and eight miles of 5 per cent grade, and in the 12 miles between Mile Post 23 and Mile Post 40 there are 233 curves ranging from 4 degrees to 80 degrees, an average degree of curvature for 100 feet being 60 degrees. Special types of locomotives known as Shays are required to haul freight over the mountain; this type of engine being propelled by gears in contrast to the rod type locomotives used on all of the standard railways in the country and outside of this railroad, used only on a few logging roads.

Q. What is lace bark? O. W.

A. A lace bark is the inner bark of several species of trees, the best known being the lace bark tree of Jamaica, and is readily detached in sheets or layers like birch bark, each layer being a delicate network of fibre.

Q. Are green oysters poisonous? G. P.

A. There is a widespread opinion that "greening" is injurious. The color has been attributed to disease, to parasites, and to the presence of copper. Experiments have shown that quite commonly the green color of American oysters at least is due to the fact that they feed on green plants of very simple structure. The opinion of those who have investigated the matter carefully, is that such color is harmless. In Europe similar green oysters called "groenbarden" are especially prized and to meet the demand oysters are greened by placing them in sea water where they are fed on a species of seaweed which imparts the coloring matter to the gills. However, some oysters owe their green coloring to the presence of copper. Such oysters are grass green and not dark green and have a slimy secretion on the folds of the mantle. These are not generally considered wholesome.

Q. I see statements that the Louisiana Purchase cost $15,000,000 and others that it cost about $27,000,000. Which is correct? W. J.

A. The original price was $11,250,000; claims were assumed amounting to $3,750,000; the interest payments incidental to the final settlement raising the total eventually to $27,267,662.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Answers to Questions.

In its efforts to be as useful as possible to its 1113,000,000 people, the government of the United States is continually carrying on practical investigations in many fields. These investigations produce results of great value. Our Washington Bureau is in a position to pass on to Review & Tribune readers the valuable knowledge collected by government agencies. It is to the mutual benefit of both the people and the government to have this great agency which brings them together. This service is free to all. Make use of it. Enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. Address The East Liverpool Review & Tribune Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. Can you inform me what part of the Friends marriage ceremony makes the contract bining. H. L. E.

A. The laws of the various states provide that a marriage may be solemnized in accordance with the rule of Friends, which consists in simply taking each other for husband and wife before witnesses.

Q. Name some of the longest wearing furs? M. P.

A. Among the more durable furs are Bear, Fisher, Dyed Skunk, Stone Marten, European Fitch, Russian Fitch, Otter, Beaver, Dogskin, Natural Skunk, Northern Mink, Blended Muskrat, Raccoon of all kinds, Opossum of all kinds, Hudson Bay Sable, Russian Sable, and Wolverine.

Q. Please state how steep the grades are on the Unitah railroad. F. G. M.

A. The Unitah railway, a narrow gauge railroad 70 miles long, passing over the Book Cliff mountains in Western Colorado, and running into the Unitah Basin of Utah, is probably the most severe operation in the United States, if not in the world. In crossing the Book Cliff mountains, a branch of the Rockies, this railroad has six miles of 7½ per cent grade and eight miles of 5 per cent grade, and in the 12 miles between Mile Post 23 and Mile Post 40 there are 233 curves ranging from 4 degrees to 80 degrees, an average degree of curvature for 100 feet being 60 degrees. Special types of locomotives known as Shays are required to haul freight over the mountain; this type of engine being propelled by gears in contrast to the rod type locomotives used on all of the standard railways in the country and outside of this railroad, used only on a few logging roads.

Q. What is lace bark? O. W.

A. A lace bark is the inner bark of several species of trees, the best known being the lace bark tree of Jamaica, and is readily detached in sheets or layers like birch bark, each layer being a delicate network of fibre.

Q. Are green oysters poisonous? G. P.

A. There is a widespread opinion that "greening" is injurious. The color has been attributed to disease, to parasites, and to the presence of copper. Experiments have shown that quite commonly the green color of American oysters at least is due to the fact that they feed on green plants of very simple structure. The opinion of those who have investigated the matter carefully, is that such color is harmless. In Europe similar green oysters called "groenbarden" are especially prized and to meet the demand oysters are greened by placing them in sea water where they are fed on a species of seaweed which imparts the coloring matter to the gills. However, some oysters owe their green coloring to the presence of copper. Such oysters are grass green and not dark green and have a slimy secretion on the folds of the mantle. These are not generally considered wholesome.

Q. I see statements that the Louisiana Purchase cost $15,000,000 and others that it cost about $27,000,000. Which is correct? W. J.

A. The original price was $11,250,000; claims were assumed amounting to $3,750,000; the interest payments incidental to the final settlement raising the total eventually to $27,267,662.

More than 250 persons in this country are killed from falls every week, say government statistics just given out.

There is an Infallible Guardian —of the public interest; a stalwart sentinel that never sleeps. There is a power that regulates commodity prices with omnipotent hand. His name is competition.

Ie who attempts to sell his goods for more than they are worth is mistaken and soon finds it out. He who pays more for goods than they are worth is misinformed and soon finds it out. Again, we say, the wise plan is to select a store that has the ability as well as the desire to sell at lowest prices day in and day out.

BRITISH LABOR DEAF TO REDS HODGES SAYS

Miners' Secretary Sees Progress by Evolution.

CONDITIONS BAD

Urges Hard Work, Study and Greater Political Activity.

By Frank Hodges, J. P.

(Copyright, 1925, by I. N. S.)

LONDON.—Many are the misgivings about the future of Great Britain. But then we have always been "going to the dogs." True the economic and social conditions of our country are as bad as they have ever been within living memory. Our unemployment army numbers over 1,400,00, our national pay roll is low, our imports are increasing, our exports are decreasing, whilst our trade outlook is far from rosy. Our main industry, coal, is being artificially stimulated by a government subsidy, which is to last at least until May of next year. The sum of government money for the coal subsidy may reach the stupendous figure of thirty million pounds by next May. What is to happen then?

There are those who say that the termination of the coal subsidy in May next will be the spark which will ignite the high explosive of revolution. The prophets of disorder maintain that the accumulation of misery among the workers will carry on the initial explosion to complete our national ruin.

Hits Disciples of Woe.

May next has been marked off for the upheaval. After that we are presumed to embrace Bolshevism and to be the first great industrial country to establish "the distatorship of the proletariat." The view is actively propagated by the energetic disciples of Lenin and receives the passive, though unconscious, support of those of our countrymen who have no beliefs whatsoever, except the one that our fate is written in the sands and that nothing we can do can stave it off.

There is absolutely no foundation for the optimism of the Communist nor for the pessimism of the Fatalist—these twin disciples of woe.

Great Britain is having a hard time. With this all agree. Her people suffer but do no give way to despair. By tradition and temperament we are prone to let things slide until catastrophe appears upon the horizon. Then we act. The bare thought of revolution by violence is more then the Britisher can stand.

The workers are in no wise different from the rest in this respect. They are in fact Britain s bulwark against revolution by force. They passionately desire improvement. Both politically and industrially they are organized for improvement. They rage against inertia and ineptitude. They are evolutionists by experience and training. In politics they enjoy a full and free franchise. In industry their trade union activities are limited only by the non-unionists of some of their fellows.

Proof Against Reds.

They see in trade unionsim something finer and nobler than the struggle for better wages and shorter hours. They recognize that it involves certain responsibilities for the general prosperity of the industries in which they are engaged. It is just this which will help to make up proof against revolution.

Though we desire many changes and though there is infinite room for improvement in our industrial and social life, we do not accept the doctrine that the way to betterment is by destroying such order as we now possess. The British way is the way for Britain. This way, in the face of the most distresing difficulties, is the way of co-operation in industry. Unity of purpose is increasing between the technician, the scientist and the manual worker. The present joint enquiries into the sick state of certain industries like shipbuilding and coal are welcome signs of the times.

The workmen have the sense to see that greater production and lower costs are the prerequsite of prosperity. In this highly specialized industrial country, possessing no agricultural background, it is realized that our dense and growing population can only be maintained and progress on an ever-growing industrial efficiency. This knowledge is a sure shield against industrial disruption.

Drinking Ambition Of Husband Gives Liberty to Woman

LOS ANGELES — "It is my ambition to become a perfect drunkard."

That was told Mrs. Bernice Allen by her husband, Horace D. Allen, according to testimony of the woman in a suit for divorce.

"It was a continual debauch and I think he realized his ambition," Mrs Allen said.

"He never drew a sober breath."

She was granted a decree.

Cottage Philosopher Fears Modern Progress Is Bar to Happiness

CLEVELAND — Thomas Fairfield, cottage philosopher, is wondering whether modern progress isn't a bit far-fetched. His old, ivy-covered house, is located on a small strip of wooded land. There is a small orchard, a little flower garden, chicken coops, dove cotes and some dilapidated benches.

His pets—canaries, bantam chickens and tumbler doves—have made his life peaceful and enjoyable, he says. He boasts without the slightest conceit of his birds' marvelous singing.

"But they've been blasting for new sewers and other modern improvements around here," he sighed, "and the noise has frightened my birds into a state which makes my heart ache."

Higher Taxes

Federal taxes are going down, but state and local taxes generally are going up. Both movements are natural and almost inevitable.

Federal taxes, of course, are lowered as war expenses diminish. But many a community finds peace more costly than war, as far as local public expenditures are concerned. And this doesn't necessarily mean extravagance. It does mean living up to new standards. Often it means a wise facing of new problems and courage to meet them.

More money is needed nowadays for the average American community, per capita or per dollar of valuation, because the community demands more than it used to. Taxpayers insist on better roads, better bridges, better public buildings, better parks, better schools, better sewers, better sidewalks, better water supply. The community is not content with the simple, frugal old standards, any more than the individual is. And in some aspects, in things affecting traffic for instance, the community cannot very well help itself. Traffic has to be taken care of. There are other needs almost as big, obvious and imperative.

So the trend of local taxes in most communities is upward, and may continue so for some time. It hurts, but usually it cannot be helped and should be borne as ungrudgingly as possible. The real question is not the number of dollars spent, nor even the tax rate itself, but the wisdom of the particular expenditures and the care with which the money is handled.

Well spent taxes, especially when devoted to public investment in long-lived or permanent improvements, nearly always pay big dividends, not only in public use and enjoyment but in the creation of new wealth which helps to pay the cost.

Calendar Reform

Every year when the league of nations meets, a little more is heard about calendar reform. The league has a special committee of experts studying the problem of simplifying the present calendar. Several changes have been suggested and several tentative schemes mapped out, but as yet nothing has been evolved which appears wholly practicable.

At present three suggested improvements have won the general approval of those studying the subject. They are the fixing of Easter permanently about the second Sunday in April; the establishment of the 365th day of the year as "Year-day" and setting it aside as an international Sabbath and of an extra day to end June in the leap-years as "Leap-day," and, finally, the division of the year into 13 months of exactly 28 days each.

It would undoubtedly be a good thing to have a uniform calendar year for all the peoples of the earth. Its advocates believe it would benefit civilization financially and otherwise to have 13 months of equal length. But somehow the public hasn't yet got so worked up about it as the reformers, and until the public does take more interest in the matter the work of the reformer is bound to remain rather theoretical.

Radio Regulation

American business men have been insisting for some time that "government should let business alone." Business might accomplish almost anything, they have suggested, if only it could make its own rules.

Yet here comes the giant young radio industry, insisting with tears in its eyes that the government must take and regulate it, and let the department of commerce exercise the authority. The radio magnates profess their eagerness to obey whatever rules the secretary of commerce shall see fit to impose.

"I feel that you are giving too much power to one man," says Mr. Hoover modestly. And the radio men protest that they are not.

Never was there a better example of the fact that modern business needs public regulation. Almost any big business would soon find itself in a heap of trouble if the government really "let it alone." It is merely a question of how much regulation is needed by any industry at any time.

Fireproof Lumber

Builders, and those who pay builders' bills, may be interested in a new kind of lumber produced in Tacoma, Wash. It is in the form of "synthetic boards" produced from sawdust, and is said to be fireproof.

The sawdust and other mill waste are treated with chemicals and made into a pulp, which is then pressed into boards of any desired size and shape. The boards are said to withstand a flame that would cut through steel. The prospect is held out of making fireproof houses of wood. Such a combination of lightness, strength, easy working and non-inflammability is very desirable.

The men producing this material say it can be made as cheaply as $15 a thousand feet for thin boards. A pleasant prospect—if nobody monopolizes it.

There are vast quantities of sawdust and lumber waste that ought to be put to some good use, anyway. Wood alcohol can be made from it. but the country needs boards more than alcohol.

Take an example from King Tut-Ankh-Amen. Be X-rayed to find out what's inside of you, and whether anything's wrong there. But don't wait, as Tut did, until 3,500 years after you're dead.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Thoughts and scenes while strolling around New York: Naivete in a Forty-second street souvenir shop: "Moose heads for returning hunters." Whatever became of the Turkish corners? A nip in the air and out come fur collared overcoats.

Ned Weyburn, however, in the customary cap and sweater. More morbid plays. Fogs of neuresthesia. As heavy as cold mutton and dull as rice pudding. The cafe keeper who walks with his blind dog. A pawnshop displaying a croix de guerre with palms.

Antiques that hold collectors in awe of reverence. Brass rings that may have been pillaged in the sack of Rome. Or pounded out week before last in Trenton, N. J. The ugly today may be beautiful tomorrow. Imagine a girl with her hair shingled off 20 years ago.

Foxhall Keene. A trifle bowlegged from polo. A novelist could not concoct a better name for a sportsman. They now say "Bungo!" instead of "Here's how!" over cocktails. Laurence D'Orsay in town again. And wearing a canary colored vest.

Fannie Brice's nose is becoming as famous as Pres'dent Coolidge's freckles. Or Ann Pennington's knees. The advertising bulldog that carries a pipe. Greek fruit vendors in red waistcoats. The hotel where David Belasco lives—the Marie Antoinette.

Bernard Sobel, Ziegfeld's press agent, who was a professor of English literature. The one-legged newsboy at Seventy-second street. The hotel named for an actor who says he doesn't like his name in print. I have beaten you to the smile.

One of the Algonquin poets who once wrote of a distinguished writer as "one of the little literary lice." Because he said Dadaism was the bunk. A louse may have his moments. He may worry a king. Ladies rolling dice in a limousine. The stroll is over.

The first act of a play was striving to lift itself above the din of theater coughers who were hitting on all twelve. It was a difficult task and finally a shrill voice in the gallery piped up: "Get a croup kettle!"

On a cross street in midtown a young man with a cane made his way at the pace of a sick turtle. It was a painful struggling performance. His body was bent and his head held at an abnormal angle. He was the waiter who was hurled from the ninth story of a hotel window by drunken revelers.

West Forty-seventh street, between Broadway and Sixth avenue, is loafer's paradise. They call it "The Forty Seventh Street Malaria." The police have made several sudden excursions there and arrested many. Others are told to move on. It is a haven for vaudevillians and patrons of the cluster of hotels in the block, but it is also said to be infested by many not so innocent—touts, gambling runners and others who live by nimble wits. Winter makes no difference, and even in a rain surbs will be lined.

Midtown New York now seems entirely free of the advertising "French and Parisian doctors" who stressed horror of social ills. They used to have gaudy electric signs and were open all night. Long ago newspapers barred their advertising, and while a few still flourish on the populated districts of the East Side, the great majority have sought greener pastures. "Old Doctor Grindle" was a famous character of 25 years ago and his signs were all over the town.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Highway Making.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 20.—Tincanners and other motor tourists are now assured that journeying up and down and across this broad land has been greatly simplified and that they can arrive at their destination without getting lost or traveling unnecessary distances and without running undue risks from road conditions and traffic hazards.

It will be just as easy for them to go from Maine to California, or from Minnesota to Florida, so far as keeping on the chosen route and avoiding recognizable road dangers are concerned, as to make a forty or fifty mile run between cities in their own states.

This will be due to the work of the joint board composed of experts of the United States Bureau of Public Roads and state highway officials, which has perfected a uniform system of marking highways that is to be used on 75,000 miles of roads traversing every state in the union. This work was initiated two years ago when the state highway departments called on the secretary of Agriculture to appoint a board or commission that could effect cooperation between the states and the nation in the matter of highway control.

Uniformity is the fundamental principle upon which the board has worked, with the result that the motorist, no matter where he may be, will no longer be confused, provided he can read signs and will rely for guidance upon the standard markers that carry, in effect, Uncle Sam's guarantee as to their accuracy. There will be signs along the highways that as now will probably conflict as to distances, directions, road names, and other information or alleged information which they convey to tourists, but if no attention is paid to them no confusion will result.

Moreover, the driver who is watching for Uncle Sam's signs will be able to recognize them and know by their shape and other distinctive features the information they convey long before he reaches them and even before he can read them, and can govern himself accordingly. This does not apply to distance and speed limit signs, of course, which necessarily must be read, but it goes for direction markers, and for all the other warnings as to curves, hills, right or left turns, bridges, schools, hospitals, etc.

Numbering the Roads.

All the highways will be numbered and to guard the motorist against going astray and getting off in a westerly direction when he wants to head south, the experts who developed the highway scheme have made a sharp distinction between roads running north and south and those running east and west by giving the former odd numbers and the latter even numbers.

Main roads are designated with units and tens, such as 1-11-21, etc., for north and south roads, and 10-20-30 etc., for east and west routes. Alternate routes, cross-roads and branches are to be given numbers expressed in hundreds.

Thus if a tourist who wants to go from some northern point to Florida finds himself on an even numbered road he will know at once that he is headed wrong. As long as the road he follows is designated with an odd number he may be assured that generally speaking he is going in the direction he wants, even if he may not be on the specific route he had chosen.

Road numbers are placed on shield-shaped signs with a black and white color scheme—black letters and figures on a white background. Across the top of the shield will be the name of the state in which the sign is erected. Immediately below that will be the letters "U. S." and below that the route number in large numerals.

Some of the principal roads running east and west in this United States Highway System are as follows: 50, Washington to Wadsworth, Nevada; 40, Baltimore to San Francisco; 20, Philadelphia to Salt Lake City; 20, Boston to Portland, Oregon; 70, Beaufort, N. C., to Holbrook, Arizona; 80, Savannah, Georgia, to San Diego; 90, Jacksonville, Fla., to El Paso, Texas; 60, Chicago to Los Angeles, and 10, Chicago to Seattle.

More important among the north and south highways are: 1, Fort Kent, Maine, to Miami, Florida; 11, Rouses Point, N. Y., to New Orleans; 21, Cleveland, O., to Jacksonville, Fla.; 31, Mackinaw Straits to Mobile; 41, Houghton, Mich., to Miami, Fla.; 45, Chicago to Meridian, Miss.; 51, Lake Superior, at Hurley, Wis., to New Orleans; 67, Fort Williams, Canada, to Baton Rouge, La.; 71, International Falls, Minn., to New Orleans; 81, Pembina, N. D., to Laredo, Texas; 91, Great Falls, Mont., to Route No. 60 for Los Angeles; 99, Blaine, Washington, to Mexican border; 101; Port Angeles, Astoria, etc., along the Pacific Coast to Tia Juana, Mexico.

Two General Classes of Signs.

The signs group themselves naturally into two classes—one including the standard shield and signs of a directional and informational nature, and the other comprising the danger and cautionary signs.

Since yellow is the color to be uniformly used to warn of danger on all street and big highway safety contrivances, all the cautionary signs will have a yellow background with black letters and symbols. The white background with black markings will characterize all signs of the first group of class.

Thus a round device, twenty-four inches in diameter, with a yellow background, and bearing the usual railroad cross and the letter "R. R." in the upper quadrants in black, will be the sign that will warn of the approach to railroad crossings on all highways in the U. S. system. It is of a size and will be so located that it can be seen and its warnings understood in ample time for the motorist to slow down. Where a complete stop is advisable the word "Stop" will be placed on an octagonal sign twenty four inches in size.

Diamond-shaped yellow signs will let the tourist know that he is approaching curves, narrow bridges, steep hills, and other hazardous points along the road. A curved arrow will indicate the direction in

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brooks entertained at a 6 o'clock dinner last evening in their home on Second street.

The tenth birthday anniversary of Miss Mildred Rigby was celebrated in her home on Ridgeway avenue, Wednesday evening.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Highway Making.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 20.—Tincanners and other motor tourists are now assured that journeying up and down and across this broad land has been greatly simplified and that they can arrive at their destination without getting lost or traveling unnecessary distances and without running undue risks from road conditions and traffic hazards.

It will be just as easy for them to go from Maine to California, or from Minnesota to Florida, so far as keeping on the chosen route and avoiding recognizable road dangers are concerned, as to make a forty or fifty mile run between cities in their own states.

This will be due to the work of the joint board composed of experts of the United States Bureau of Public Roads and state highway officials, which has perfected a uniform system of marking highways that is to be used on 75,000 miles of roads traversing every state in the union. This work was initiated two years ago when the state highway departments called on the secretary of Agriculture to appoint a board or commission that could effect cooperation between the states and the nation in the matter of highway control.

Uniformity is the fundamental principle upon which the board has worked, with the result that the motorist, no matter where he may be, will no longer be confused, provided he can read signs and will rely for guidance upon the standard markers that carry, in effect, Uncle Sam's guarantee as to their accuracy. There will be signs along the highways that as now will probably conflict as to distances, directions, road names, and other information or alleged information which they convey to tourists, but if no attention is paid to them no confusion will result.

Moreover, the driver who is watching for Uncle Sam's signs will be able to recognize them and know by their shape and other distinctive features the information they convey long before he reaches them and even before he can read them, and can govern himself accordingly. This does not apply to distance and speed limit signs, of course, which necessarily must be read, but it goes for direction markers, and for all the other warnings as to curves, hills, right or left turns, bridges, schools, hospitals, etc.

Numbering the Roads.

All the highways will be numbered and to guard the motorist against going astray and getting off in a westerly direction when he wants to head south, the experts who developed the highway scheme have made a sharp distinction between roads running north and south and those running east and west by giving the former odd numbers and the latter even numbers.

Main roads are designated with units and tens, such as 1-11-21, etc., for north and south roads, and 10-20-30 etc., for east and west routes. Alternate routes, cross-roads and branches are to be given numbers expressed in hundreds.

Thus if a tourist who wants to go from some northern point to Florida finds himself on an even numbered road he will know at once that he is headed wrong. As long as the road he follows is designated with an odd number he may be assured that generally speaking he is going in the direction he wants, even if he may not be on the specific route he had chosen.

Road numbers are placed on shield-shaped signs with a black and white color scheme—black letters and figures on a white background. Across the top of the shield will be the name of the state in which the sign is erected. Immediately below that will be the letters "U. S." and below that the route number in large numerals.

Some of the principal roads running east and west in this United States Highway System are as follows: 50, Washington to Wadsworth, Nevada; 40, Baltimore to San Francisco; 20, Philadelphia to Salt Lake City; 20, Boston to Portland, Oregon; 70, Beaufort, N. C., to Holbrook, Arizona; 80, Savannah, Georgia, to San Diego; 90, Jacksonville, Fla., to El Paso, Texas; 60, Chicago to Los Angeles, and 10, Chicago to Seattle.

More important among the north and south highways are: 1, Fort Kent, Maine, to Miami, Florida; 11, Rouses Point, N. Y., to New Orleans; 21, Cleveland, O., to Jacksonville, Fla.; 31, Mackinaw Straits to Mobile; 41; Houghton, Mich., to Miami, Fla.; 45, Chicago to Meridian, Miss.; 51, Lake Superior at Hurley, Wis., to New Orleans; 67, Fort Williams, Canada, to Baton Rouge, La.; 71, International Falls, Minn., to New Orleans; 81, Pembina, N. D., to Laredo, Texas; 91, Great Falls, Mont., to Route No. 60 for Los Angeles; 99, Blaine, Washington, to Mexican border; 101; Port Angeles, Astoria, etc., along the Pacific Coast to Tia Juana, Mexico.

Two General Classes of Signs.

The signs group themselves naturally into two classes—one including the standard shield and signs of a directional and informational nature, and the other comprising the danger and cautionary signs.

Since yellow is the color to be uniformly used to warn of danger on all street and big highway safety contrivances, all the cautionary signs will have a yellow background with black letters and symbols. The white background with black markings will characterize all signs of the first group of class.

Thus a round device, twenty-four inches in diameter, with a yellow background, and bearing the usual railroad cross and the letter "R. R." in the upper quadrants in black, will be the sign that will warn of the approach to railroad crossings on all highways in the U. S. system. It is of a size and will be so located that it can be seen and its warnings understood in ample time for the motorist to slow down. Where a complete stop is advisable the word "Stop" will be placed on an octagonal sign twenty-four inches in size.

Diamond-shaped yellow signs will let the tourist know that he is approaching curves, narrow bridges, steep hills, and other hazardous points along the road. A curved arrow will indicate the direction in

Spanish-American Fair to be Held at Seville in Two Years

BARCELONA—Work is proceeding on the buildings of the "Exposicion Ibero-Americana" to take place in 1927-28 at Seville.

All the Central and South American countries of Spanish origin, as well as Brazil, are to be represented. Nothing has pleased the royal commissary, the Conde de Columbi and King Alphonso more than the vote of the United States senate of $700,000 for a palace in the grounds—for the display of American products—and it is predicted this will be one of the finest buildings in the expedition.

Of 86,103,000 bushels of apples raised in this country last year, people of England ate 12,361,000 bushels.

Buys Bull Terrier To Guard Property But Thieves Take It

She went shopping, leaving the dog at home to take care of the house. Upon returning she found while she was gone thieves had effected an entrance by means of a false key and had stolen the dog. Although the house had been thoroughly ransacked, nothing else was taken.

Pact Between Soviet Russia and Greece Considered Important

SOFIA.—The proposed commercial treaty between Soviet Russia and the Greek Republic is considered with importance throughout Southern Europe.

The treaty is on the basis of the most favored nation, and apparently Russia will have the best of the bargain. Political observers think that the treaty is a ruse on the part of the Soviets to draw Greece into the Communist net, and that once it has been concluded the Soviets will take steps to establish a political influence in Greece.

Says Ed is Skinniest Man in Town

Cheerup, Ed—things aren't as bad as they look to you right now. Many hundreds of skinny, gaunt, emaciated men looked even worse than you do till someone told them about McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets (the new way to take Cod Liver Oil) and how it would put pounds of good firm, healthy flesh on their bones in just a few weeks.

Nothing like these health creating weight producing tablets for skinny, underweight men, as thousands can testify. Start to take them today—60 tablets—60 cents at Mathews Medicine Store or any druggist anywhere.

And listen; if they don't put 5 pounds of good flesh on you in 30 days, your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.

That's fair enough, but be sure—very sure that you get McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—the original and genuine.

Bowler Hat Wins Over Fez as Turks National Headgear

CONSTANTINOPLE — The bowler hat, the one-time favorite headgear of the American and northern European nations, which has been ousted from its popularity by the soft felt hat, looks like becoming the national headgear of the Turk, to the detriment of the time-honored fez.

Recently Mustapha Kemal, the Turkish president, appealed to his countrymen to abandon the fez and wear European covering for their heads. In consequence Turkish hatters have sent post-haste for large supplies of bowler hats from Europe.

So far most of the orders have been for cheap brands, since the Turk has always been accustomed to getting his fez for almost next to nothing.

7 STATES HOPE COLORADO DAM WILL BE BUILT

Boulder Canyon Plan Would Harness River's Rapids.

COST $70,000,000

Swing-Johnson Bill Will be Introduced in Congress.

LOS ANGELES—For three-quarters of a century residents of seven southwestern states have watched the battle over the problem of harnessing and developing the water of the madly racing rapids of the Colorado river.

Today, a short time before the opening of congress, belief is expressed in Los Angeles and the southwest generally that the Swing-Johnson bill, providing legislation for development of the Colorado, will be favorably considered and the long-cherished dream of a dam in Boulder canyon may come true. This sentiment was freely expressed on every hand following the visit in the west of the senate committe on irrigation, which conducted hearings in California, Arizona and Nevada.

To Cost $70,000,000.

That members of the senate committee, following their visit to the southwest and an inspection of the various proposed projects and dam sites, are convinced a dam at least must be built in Boulder canyon to provide flood control to protect the Imperial valley in California, is confidently believed. Cost of the dam project is estimated at more than $70,000,000.

Twelve members of the committee of 15 senators are known to favor a high dam, as provided in the Swing-Johnson measure for development of power from the river waters. This power, investigators declared, is badly needed by Los Angeles, other southern California cities and Arizona.

Principal objection to pending legislation in regard to the Colorado rests in the building of a canal from the river to the Imperial valley, which would be known as the all-American canal and be located entirely in the United States, according to those active in the fight for the Boulder dam project. The Alamo canal, in use at present, extends over the international line into Mexico, watering about 450,000 acres in this country and 200,000 acres in Mexico.

Claims of Both Sides.

Proponents of the all-American canal claim:

Opponents of the all-American plan assert:

1—Additional water is not needed.

2—Its estimated cost is excessive.

3—Because it is to be built in "shifting" sand hills, the canal is not feasible.

Interest in the Swing-Johnson bill is intense throughout California and the coming congress is looked upon as at least certain to consider the Swing-Johnson legislation other than in committee, something that has not happened in the many years Colorado river development has been discussed in Washington.

Bowler Hat Wins Over Fez as Turks National Headgear

CONSTANTINOPLE — The bowler hat, the one-time favorite headgear of the American and northern European nations, which has been ousted from its popularity by the soft felt hat, looks like becoming the national headgear of the Turk, to the detriment of the time-honored fez.

Recently Mustapha Kemal, the Turkish president, appealed to his countrymen to abandon the fez and wear European covering for their heads. In consequence Turkish hatters have sent post-haste for large supplies of bowler hats from Europe.

So far most of the orders have been for cheap brands, since the Turk has always been accustomed to getting his fez for almost next to nothing.

7 STATES HOPE COLORADO DAM WILL BE BUILT

Boulder Canyon Plan Would Harness River's Rapids.

COST $70,000,000

Swing-Johnson Bill Will be Introduced in Congress.

LOS ANGELES—For three-quarters of a century residents of seven southwestern states have watched the battle over the problem of harnessing and developing the water of the madly racing rapids of the Colorado river.

Today, a short time before the opening of congress, belief is expressed in Los Angeles and the southwest generally that the Swing-Johnson bill, providing legislation for development of the Colorado, will be favorably considered and the long-cherished dream of a dam in Boulder canyon may come true. This sentiment was freely expressed on every hand following the visit in the west of the senate committe on irrigation, which conducted hearings in California, Arizona and Nevada.

To Cost $70,000,000.

That members of the senate committee, following their visit to the southwest and an inspection of the various proposed projects and dam sites, are convinced a dam at least must be built in Boulder canyon to provide flood control to protect the Imperial valley in California, is confidently believed. Cost of the dam project is estimated at more than $70,000,000.

Twelve members of the committee of 15 senators are known to favor a high dam, as provided in the Swing-Johnson measure for development of power from the river waters. This power, investigators declared, is badly needed by Los Angeles, other southern California cities and Arizona.

Principal objection to pending legislation in regard to the Colorado rests in the building of a canal from the river to the Imperial valley, which would be known as the all-American canal and be located entirely in the United States, according to those active in the fight for the Boulder dam project. The Alamo canal, in use at present, extends over the international line into Mexico, watering about 450,000 acres in this country and 200,000 acres in Mexico.

Claims of Both Sides.

Proponents of the all-American canal claim:

Opponents of the all-American plan assert:

1—Additional water is not needed.

2—Its estimated cost is excessive.

3—Because it is to be built in "shifting" sand hills, the canal is not feasible.

Interest in the Swing-Johnson bill is intense throughout California and the coming congress is looked upon as at least certain to consider the Swing-Johnson legislation other than in committee, something that has not happened in the many years Colorado river development has been discussed in Washington.

MATTERHORN IS WASTING AWAY

Celebrated Peak Keeping Up Habit of Sending Down Rock Slides.

Washington, D. C.—Rumors that the famous Matterhorn of Switzerland is "moving," published in Germany recently, seem to indicate only that that stony spire is keeping up its age-old habit of sending down rock slides, according to a bulletin from the Washington (D. C.) headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"That the Matterhorn (or Mount Cervin, as French-speaking Swiss call it) is slowly wasting away, has been known for a long time," says the bulletin. "But there is reassurance in the thought that it will live in its present shape for a few more geologic minutes—that is, for several thousand calendar years.

Tons of Rock Fall Daily.

"The lower slopes of the Matterhorn are of softer rock than its upper portion; and while the higher section yields few fragments to the continual onslaught of weather and gravity, the supporting section is robbed of hundreds, and sometimes thousands of tons of material a day in fine, sunny, thawing weather. The mechanism of destruction is the release of 'trigger' rocks by the sinking of moisture into crevices; its freezing and expansion, so forcing the rock fragments from their beds; and the subsequent thawing, which lets the fragments slip down the cliff or rock slope. The 'trigger' rock dislodges other pieces of rock, some of them of considerable size, and these in turn may jar loose boulders. Soon the first flying rock has grown into a huge avalanche of stones, ice, and snow, which thunders downward until checked by the flatter slopes, built through the ages by similar slides. All other mountains, of course, are undergoing similar changes, although in most cases more slowly.

"Now and then, when exceptional weather conditions favor it, an avalanche on the Matterhorn may grow to huge proportions with a momentum which sweeps its flying missiles over the lower slopes and out onto the valley floors used for pasturage. Several such far-wandering slides rolled down the Italian side of the mountain during the past summer, and these are supposed to be responsible for the German rumors of a 'moving' Matterhorn.

"The falling boulders of the Matterhorn have caused some fatalities and many narrow escapes. Each season some climbers must flatten themselves against the cliffs while small rocks whiz by with the speed and the rasping sound of rifle bullets, or great boulders bound from shoulder to shoulder, sometimes missing the heads of the mountaineers by only a foot or so. Many of the falling fragments are gathered into regular paths by funnel-like depressions in the face of the mountain. One of the most valuable services of the guides is their knowledge of these dangerous couloirs and their additional knowledge of the weather conditions and times of day for safest crossing.

"Most Matterhorn ascents are made from the Swiss side with Zarmatt the starting point, though the climb from Breuil, in Italy, is rated the greater feat. The Italian-Swiss boundary runs over the crest of the mountain. Zermatt grew from a village to a respectable litfle town largely because of the rise in popularity of the Matterhorn and the consequent influx of those who wished to look upon it in its various moods, and those who wished to scale it. The town is also the center from which many less difficult climbs are made. On its one main street hotels are almost as numerous as shops. The latter are well stocked with mountaineering outfits. A low stone wall opposite one of the leading hotels is 'Guide's row.' On it guides out of employment sit until patrons engage their services. Housing, outfitting and guiding climbers are Zermatt's three leading industries.

Long Rated Unattainable.

"The Matterhorn is one of the most dangerous of the Alpine peaks to climb, and if weather conditions are not right, one of the most difficult. Long after many other famous heights of the Alps were scaled the Matterhorn remained unvanquished, and by 1850 it was rated unattainable. It was first climbed by a party of four Englishmen and three guides on July 14, 1865. It was a tragic attainment. On the way down three of the climbers and one guide, tied together, fell over a 4,000-foot precipice to their deaths. Only the breaking of the rope saved the lives of one climber and the two other guides.

"Day by day in warm weather the Matterhorn continues to shower down a part of itself. Already the hard upper pyramid hangs over a bit in places, where the softer rock below has wasted away. Some day—how many thousands of years hence it is useless to guess—the supporting rock will give way, geologists say, and the huge top, weighing millions of tons, will topple over with one of the most tremendous crashes ever heard by the ear of man."

which the road curves, and the warning, "Hill, 2nd Gear," will tell the motorist when he is coming to a grade that should be taken with extreme caution.

Large square signs with the yellow background and in black letters the word "School" or "Hospital" will call the motorist's attention to the fact that he is drawing near to one or the other of those public institutions and should regulate the speed of his car accordingly.

One of the most important of the signs, because it may save the tourist many miles of retracing his way, is a smaller shield of black and white, with the letter "R" or "L" to be placed under the large shield with the route number as a warning that a fork in the road is near at hand and that to stick to the route indicated the driver should bear to the right or left, as the case may be.

Also there will be black and white signs bearing the names of rivers, creeks and towns, indicating the speed limit, and giving the direction and distance to points not on the route.

All the motorists of the future will have to do to keep straight is to believe in signs, and pick out Uncle Sam's markers as the ones to which he will pin his faith.

DEFIANCE—A Defiance hunter is out for bear—the real grizzly kind.

At any rate that's what he told Clerk Maxwell when he applied for a hunting license.

"I had a license last year and never even had a shot at a rabbit. This year I'm out for two bears."

Sokol Congress Will Take Place at Prague During Next Summer

PRAGUE — A gigantic Sokol Congress will take place at Prague in June and July of 1926. Although this will be the eighth Sokol Congress, it is only the second purely Slavonic Congress. The last one was held in 1922. A huge new stadium is being constructed in a suburb for the purposes of this meeting.

The Sokol movement was started as far back as the 'sixties, when the Slav minorities under the Austrian yoke were struggling for freedom.

It started in a small private circle called Sokol, or Falcon, which practiced athletics and gymnastics. Altogether 14,600 clubs will take part in next year's congress, as against 11,000 in 1922.

Long after many other famous heights of the Alps were scaled the Matterhorn remained unvanquished, and by 1850 it was rated unattainable. It was first climbed by a party of four Englishmen and three guides on July 14, 1865. It was a tragic attainment. On the way down three of the climbers and one guide, tied together, fell over a 4,000-foot precipice to their deaths. Only the breaking of the rope saved the lives of one climber and the two other guides.

"Day by day in warm weather the Matterhorn continues to shower down a part of itself. Already the hard upper pyramid hangs over a bit in places, where the softer rock below has wasted away. Some day—how many thousands of years hence it is useless to guess—the supporting rock will give way, geologists say, and the huge top, weighing millions of tons, will topple over with one of the most tremendous crashes ever heard by the ear of man."

Bible in 835 Tongues

which the road curves, and the warning, "Hill, 2nd Gear," will tell the motorist when he is coming to a grade that should be taken with extreme caution.

Large square signs with the yellow background and in black letters the word "School" or "Hospital" will call the motorist's attention to the fact that he is drawing near to one or the other of those public institutions and should regulate the speed of his car accordingly.

One of the most important of the signs, because it may save the tourist many miles of retracing his way, is a smaller shield of black and white, with the letter "R" or "L" to be placed under the large shield with the route number as a warning that a fork in the road is near at hand and that to stick to the route indicated the driver should bear to the right or left, as the case may be.

Also there will be black and white signs bearing the names of rivers, creeks and towns, indicating the speed limit, and giving the direction and distance to points not on the route.

All the motorists of the future will have to do to keep straight is to believe in signs, and pick out Uncle Sam's markers as the ones to which he will pin his faith.

DEFIANCE—A Defiance hunter is out for bear—the real grizzly kind.

At any rate that's what he told Clerk Maxwell when he applied for a hunting license.

"I had a license last year and never even had a shot at a rabbit. This year I'm out for two bears."

Sokol Congress Will Take Place at Prague During Next Summer

PRAGUE — A gigantic Sokol Congress will take place at Prague in June and July of 1926. Although this will be the eighth Sokol Congress, it is only the second purely Slavonic Congress. The last one was held in 1922. A huge new stadium is being constructed in a suburb for the purposes of this meeting.

The Sokol movement was started as far back as the 'sixties, when the Slav minorities under the Austrian yoke were struggling for freedom.

It started in a small private circle called Sokol, or Falcon, which practiced athletics and gymnastics. Altogether 14,600 clubs will take part in next year's congress, as against 11,000 in 1922.

CONVICTS FLEE STATE PRISON

Third Jail Delivery in Eight Days at Moundsville.

Three more convicts made their escape last night from the state prison at Moundsville by forcing their way through the roof covering the north cell hall and making a 25 foot drop over the west wall of the institution.

It is the third delivery in eight days at the penitentiary, liberating a total of seven prisoners, and only one has been recaptured. One of the men, Harry Sowers, was later recaptured at Rosby's Rock and returned to the institution.

Last night's delivery was cleverly planned and executed. It was while the usual "lockout" was being enjoyed, between the hours of five and six o'clock, that the three men hid in their cells, watched the guards all leave to supervise the conduct of the men at liberty in the courtyard and then sped up the bars of the cell tier to a point just under the roof.

The roof is of light boards and tar paper, and it was the work of but a few moments with a rudely fashioned saw to break an opening which provided a gateway to liberty.

All three of the escaped men were known as "third-termers,' thus called because each had three times been received at the prison to serve terms for different crimes. They were all white men, and the oldest was but 31 years of age.

The list of escaped men, and a description of each, was furnished Warden S. P. Smith of the prison, as follows:

George Harrington, 31, of Bellaire. Sent up from Wetzel county in 1920 to serve five years for forgery. He is five feet, five inches tall, weighs 114 pounds, slightly bald. His hair, eyes and complexion are dark. Harrington had served out his original sentence, and was serving an additional year for having escaped from a road camp.

Harry Sowers, 30, sent up from Wood county to serve five years for larceny. He was given five years additional for a former conviction. Sowers was receivced in November, 1921.

Harless James, 28, was sent up from Cabell county to serve 10 years for burglary. An additional sentence of 10 years was imposed for former conviction. He has dark brown hair, gray eyes, is five feet, eight inches tall and weighs 165 pounds.

Warden Smith said last night that a reward of $50 has been placed on the head of each of the men who have escaped within the past eight days, and are still at large.

Miss Esther Ankrim, Bride-elect, Honor Guest at Luncheon

Honoring Miss Esther G. Ankrim of West Fourth street, who will become the bride of Millard Emerson Blythe in the near future, the prospective bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Gilbert Follansbee entertained a group of friends at a luncheon-bridge party yesterday afternoon in the Fort Steuben hotel in Steubenville.

The luncheon table was arranged with a large basket of roses and chrysanthemums, tied with pink and blue, while at each end of the table lighted candles were arranged. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. J. Millard Boyd, of Toronto, a cousin.

The afternoon was spent with progressive bridge, trophies being awarded Mrs. Lawrence W. Thomas, Jr., Miss Mildred Ankrim and Mrs. Robert Weinstein, of Steubenville. Mis Esther Ankrim received an honor guest gift.

Among the out-of-town guests were: Mrs. H. H. Blythe of College street, Mrs. B. D. Kenney of Pennsylvania avenue; Misses Esther and Mildred Ankrim of West Fouth street; Mrs. Frank M. Gardner of West Seventh street; Mrs. Lawrence W. Thomas Jr., of East Fifth street; Mrs. Robert W. Harker of Newell Heights, and Mrs. George A. Patterson of Park Way and Mrs. Stewart Thompson, of Third street, all of this city; Mrs. M. E. Boyd of Wheeling, W. Va., and Mrs. Clifford Poole and Mrs. J. Millard Boyd, of Toronto.

Presbyterian Choir's Program.

Following the usual custom, the First Presbyterian church choir will present the third of a series of musical programs in the auditorium of the church at 10:50 o'clock Sunday morning. W. A. Macdonald, director, has assembled the representative singers of the city to assist at these special services.

In addition to soprano solo numbers by Mrs. John Patton and Mrs. W. H. Gerber, choruses from "St. Cecilia Mass" and "The Creation" will be presented. Special organ selections are being arranged for these programs by Mrs. J. F. Calhoun.

The Sunday evening service, Nov. 29, will be devoted entirely to music. The general public is invited.

Considerable interest has been shown in the program by music lovers. The choir is considered as one of the best in eastern Ohio.

Mrs. Smith Fowler Entertains.

In her home in Eighth street Tuesday evening, Mrs. Smith Fowler entertained the members of the Ohio club with fancywork, games and radio music. Guessing contests were won by Mrs. James Emmerling and Mrs. John Seckman. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Tom Jones.

Special guests were Mrs. Herbert and Mrs. Thomas Jones.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. John Seckman of West Eighth street.

SOCIETY

Miss Esther Ankrim, Bride-elect, Honor Guest at Luncheon

Honoring Miss Esther G. Ankrim of West Fourth street, who will become the bride of Millard Emerson Blythe in the near future, the prospective bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Gilbert Follansbee entertained a group of friends at a luncheon-bridge party yesterday afternoon in the Fort Steuben hotel in Steubenville.

The luncheon table was arranged with a large basket of roses and chrysanthemums, tied with pink and blue, while at each end of the table lighted candles were arranged. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. J. Millard Boyd, of Toronto, a cousin.

The afternoon was spent with progressive bridge, trophies being awarded Mrs. Lawrence W. Thomas, Jr., Miss Mildred Ankrim and Mrs. Robert Weinstein, of Steubenville. Mis Esther Ankrim received an honor guest gift.

Among the out-of-town guests were: Mrs. H. H. Blythe of College street, Mrs. B. D. Kenney of Pennsylvania avenue; Misses Esther and Mildred Ankrim of West Fouth street; Mrs. Frank M. Gardner of West Seventh street; Mrs. Lawrence W. Thomas Jr., of East Fifth street; Mrs. Robert W. Harker of Newell Heights, and Mrs. George A. Patterson of Park Way and Mrs. Stewart Thompson, of Third street, all of this city; Mrs. M. E. Boyd of Wheeling, W. Va., and Mrs. Clifford Poole and Mrs. J. Millard Boyd, of Toronto.

Presbyterian Choir's Program.

Following the usual custom, the First Presbyterian church choir will present the third of a series of musical programs in the auditorium of the church at 10:50 o'clock Sunday morning. W. A. Macdonald, director, has assembled the representative singers of the city to assist at these special services.

In addition to soprano solo numbers by Mrs. John Patton and Mrs. W. H. Gerber, choruses from "St. Cecilia Mass" and "The Creation" will be presented. Special organ selections are being arranged for these programs by Mrs. J. F. Calhoun.

The Sunday evening service, Nov. 29, will be devoted entirely to music. The general public is invited.

Considerable interest has been shown in the program by music lovers. The choir is considered as one of the best in eastern Ohio.

Mrs. Smith Fowler Entertains.

In her home in Eighth street Tuesday evening, Mrs. Smith Fowler entertained the members of the Ohio club with fancywork, games and radio music. Guessing contests were won by Mrs. James Emmerling and Mrs. John Seckman. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Tom Jones.

Special guests were Mrs. Herbert and Mrs. Thomas Jones.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. John Seckman of West Eighth street.

HIGH GRIDDERS PLAY AT MINGO

Final Game Before Clash With Steubenville Eleven.

In the next to the final game of the 1925 campaign, Coach Earl Klinck's high school football team will tackle the Mingo Junction scholastic eleven tomorrow afternoon at Mingo.

The locals have had the advantage of two weeks' rest as a result of the fact that no game was scheduled for last Saturday, and, consequently, will be in first class condition for their battle with the down-river aggregation.

Although the Mingoans are not as strong as the Mingo elevens of former years, judging by their record of the present season, they are expected to give the Orange and Black a stiff tussle, with the advantage of playing on their own field aiding them to a certain extent. In a recent engagement at Mingo, the Toronto high eleven was able to earn a decisive 16 to 0 decision.

The big game of the schedule for the Orange and Black, however, will be staged next Thursday at Central park when the locals battle Steubenville in the second tilt of a home and home series.

Wellsville was defeated last year at Steubenville, and the prospects for this year's meeting are anything but rosy in view of the fact that the Jefferson county combine is one of the best in recent years at Steubenville.

C. E. FOGLE OPENS MEETINGS HERE

Evangelist Charles E. Fogle, of St. Marys, W. Va., is scheduled to launch a series of revival services tonight in the Church of Christ, Seventeenth and Commerce streets.

Services will be held each evening at 7:30 o'clock, according to announcement by church officials. An invitation is extended to the public.

C. & P. TEAM READY FOR GREYS' GAME

The Wellsville C. & P. football team tonight will conclude a week of hard practice work in preparation for its contest tomorrow with the East Liverpool Greys at Columbian park, East Liverpool.

Although the contest was originally booked at Patterson field, officials of the two teams agreed to transfer the engagement to the East End lot as a result of almost impossible playing conditions at the former lot.

The contest will be the first of a three-game series for the semi-pro grid championship of the two cities. The second battle will be staged the Saturday after Thanksgiving at Central park.

TRIBUTE IS PAID TO LATE MAYOR

Throughout the morning and afternoon of yesterday, and into the night up until 10 o'clock, there was almost a steady stream of men, women and children, filing in and out of the residence of Chief of Police John Fultz, Henry avenue, where lay the body of the late Mayor James S. Barnes.

From Wednesday night until last night at 10 o'clock, the doors of the Fultz home were open to those who wished to view the mayor's body preparatory to funeral service.

Men and women, old and young, of various business callings and professions, of a wide variety of nationalities, paid last respects to the city's former executive who died without completing his two-year term.

The large parlor of the home was a veritable garden of flowers, tribute from high and low.

The body was removed from the Fultz home this morning to the John Haugh funeral home in Seventh and Main streets, where last rites will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

A large number of local business establishments, complying with Mayor Frank C. Blackburn's request, were to suspend operations from 2 until 4 this afternoon during the funeral services.

The children of the public schools were dismissed at 2 o'clock as a tribute of respect to the late executive.

Gets Hearing Nov. 28.

Dick Springer, arrested recently by Patrolman Hurd on a charge of selling mortgaged property, is scheduled to appear for a hearing before Mayor Blackburn on November 28. The charge was filed by C. H. Patterson.

Miss Semple, at Wellsville, has just had her studio painted and papered throughout and with new equipment, is prepared to make photographs of quality.

How pleasantly surprised your friends would be to receive a photo of yourself. You are invited to make all appointments now before it is too late for Christmas orders.

WILL GIVE FINAL SERMON TONIGHT

Dr. J. H. Lawther, widely known evangelist, who has been conducting services for two weeks in the First Presbyterian church, tonight will deliver the final address of his series in the local church.

Last night he delivered an interesting talk on the subject, "Man's Great Question in Life." His final sermon topic will be, "The Great Invitation, or God's Infinite Love."

With special services on Sunday evening, Rev. Frank H. Magill will close the two weeks' revivals, called the most successful of their kind ever held in the local church. The revivals, it was announced, have resulted in large number of accessions to the church which Dr. Lawther leaves in excellent condition.

The best wishes of the entire church have been tendered Dr. Lawther as he returns to his own pastorate, the First Presbyterian church of Niles, by the congregation and friends of the local church.

PARTHENON CLASS IS ENTERTAINED

Members of the Parthenon Sunday school class of the First Methodist Episcopal church were entertained Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Mary Tasker, in Commerce street, with Mrs. Genevieve Wolf as co-hostess.

Music and games were diversions following the regular business session. A two-course luncheon was served at the close of the affair by Mrs. Tasker and Mrs. Wolf, covers being laid for the following guests:

Miss Jean Fogo, Mrs. Pearl Robinson, Miss Birdie Rice, Mrs. Mabel McConnell, Mrs. Reba Lloys, Miss Ruth Manypenny, Mrs. Enid Yost, Mrs. Lottie Wilson, Mrs. Elizabeth Stoakes, Mrs. Genevieve Yates, Mrs. Cecil Hassell, Mrs. Mary Tasker, Mrs. Helen Crawford, Mrs. Genevieve Wolf and Mrs. Mary Hammond.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Pearl Robinson, in Clark avenue.

MRS. W. F. LONES CLUB HOSTESS

Mrs. W. F. Lones will be hostess to members of the Wellsville Twentieth Century club this afternoon at her home in Tenth street.

A musical and literary program will be carried out with topics assigned as follows:

"Cora Harris"—Miss Carrie Southwick.

"Walt Mason"—Mrs. J. S. Lambing.

"Edward W. Bok"—Mrs. Naomi Forber.

"Immigration"—Mrs. D. P. Morrison.

GRID FANS TO SEE ILLINOIS STAR

All roads of the Ohio sport world tonight and early tomorrow will lead to Columbus, where the famous Harold "Red" Grange is scheduled to appear in the final game of his collegiate career with Illinois against Ohio State.

And Wellsville will probably be represented by a delegation of football fans at the Columbus classic. Among those who plan to motor to the capital are Corydon Arnold and Edward T. Fogo.

Re-Enters Allegheny Hospital.

C. F. McCafferty, of Main street, has re-entered Allegheny General hospital for further treatment for mastoiditis. Mr. McCafferty recently left the hospital, where he had been a patient for a number of days and up until Wednesday was at his home here.

Loyal Women Entertain.

Loyal Women's class of the First Christian church entertained members of the Loyal Men's class last evening in the church. Nine members of the former organization were tendered a handkerchief shower in honor of their birthdays.

Plans were completed for the annual Royal Watch concert to be held December 5.

STOPS SORE THROAT IN 15 MINUTES

New Internal Prescription Guarantees Results or Money Back

No longer need you depend on ordinary gargles for sore throat. Specialists have perfected a wonderful new prescription that goes to the internal cause and stops all pain and hard swallowing in 15 minutes. Thoxine, as this new discovery is called, works on an entirely new principle. Contains no chloroform or other harmful drugs. One swallow is all that's needed. Nothing better for children. Thoxine is guaranteed to stop sore throat and night coughing in 15 minutes or money refunded. Try it. Pleasant to take. 35c., 60c. and $1.00. All druggists.

A native Christian in Japan has copied the whole Bible on a scholl of paper little more than six feet long, every word being written by hand in a task that has taken seven years.

Because she believed she had made her pupils work too hard, was the reason given by a New Cross, England, school teacher for committing suicide.

POLICIES GUARD SOCIAL CAREER OF DEBUTANTES

Court Presentation Insurance is Latest Novelty.

$2,500 PAYMENT

Protects Daughters if Parents Suffer Reverses.

LONDON—Court presentation insurance is the latest novelty offered by Enlish insurance companies to parents, titled or otherwise, of daughters anywhere from one day to 12 years old.

The idea is that if the parents suffer financial reverses their daughters will not necessarily have to endure social oblivion.

Parents may take out $2,500 policies on their daughters, payable when they attain the age of 18. For girls up to one year old the premium is approximately $100 annually. The fee increases with age, the fee of a girl of 10 being $250 annually.

The policies have been carefully worked out from estimates made by peeresses that it costs at least $2,500 for a girl's first season "out."

How Money Goes.

This is the way the insurance companies estimate that the $2,500 will have to be spent:

Court gown—$150.
Six evening gowns—$360.
Ten day dresses—$400.
Nine pairs of shoes—$100.
Eighteen pairs of stockings—$65.
One dozen pairs of gloves—$60.
Town and country coats, skirts, jumpers and woolen clothes—$375.
Opera cloak—$60.
The remainder of the $2,500, it is estimated, will have to be spent on incidentals.

Thanksgiving Spices!
We have every known and UNknown sort, so that the most fastidious, finicky palate can be made happy and content.

Adhesive Tape And Castor Oil!
I figgered up 32 DIFFERENT uses for Adhesive Tape. A few are split nails, broken windows, cuts over eye, and to bind arrow heads to shafts. Castor Oil has 365 uses all more or less the same. The kind We have has the ornery taste removed. Thanksgiving's next Thursday, too!

Vanities!
We have them here (all for sale), ranging in price from $1.00 up to $1,000,000—mebbe not QUITE that high, but they LOOK like a million —some of 'em. All the good makes are here, too. Fillers and evthin!

Try and switch the conversation around to CANDIES. Find out if he knows it's the polite, proper and appreciated thing to do — to bring you a box of Whitman's Chocolates. The price is $1.00 to $7.50, but you don't need to mention THIS to him.

Thanksgiving Day — Age 304 Years!

Three hundred and four years go—1621, the Plymouth Fthears celebrated the FIRST Thanksgiving Day in acknowledgement of their FIRST harvest in America! Its National celebration in recognition of the year's blessings was FIRST proclaimed in New York in 1789 by George Washington and set for observation Thursday, November 26th of that year. In 1863 Abraham Lincoln, by proclamation, set the last Thursday in November as the day of Thanksgiving.

If those sturdy, early pioneers could today visit the country that received them so harshly, could see what their children and children's children had made of the barren wastes in only a short three centries, amazement and wonder would sit in their minds!

Probably the only vestige left of a typical Thanksgiving ceremony of the 17th Century is our insistence on the TURKEY as the centerpiece for the Thanksgiving feast. To thousands, Thanksgiving Day is called "Turkey Day," only the more thoughtful sensing the deeper and more beautiful meaning of its title.

Our Publicists, our Economistss, our Observers in the High Tower of matters financial join in a mighty chorus, without discord, that NEVER in the proud history of this proud and mighty country have the people thereof enjoyed more prosperity than in 1925.

And the sky has few, if any, clouds in it! Our future is bright!

Thursday, November 26th, is our 1925 day of Thanksgiving!

JOHN CARNAHAN.

Shorty Says:

I looked up some dope on how these Plymouth folks celebrated their Thanksgiving days and bleeve ME they must have been real exciting meals! Half of 'em would eat while the other half were on guard to see that the Indians didn't set fire to the house! The head of the house generally excused himself a couple of times before dessert to adjourn to a peephole with a blunderbus to nick a redskin.

Nowadays the only Indians we're bothered with are bootleggers! And they've got so blamed civilized you don't have to shoot them only occasionally! Wouldn't a bootlegger look foolish in 1621?

Yes, times change in 300 years. Wonder what kind of Indians they'll have on Thanksgiving Day in 2239? There's a thought for you!

HIGH GRIDDERS PLAY AT MINGO

Final Game Before Clash With Steubenville Eleven.

In the next to the final game of the 1925 campaign, Coach Earl Klinck's high school football team will tackle the Mingo Junction scholastic eleven tomorrow afternoon at Mingo.

The locals have had the advantage of two weeks' rest as a result of the fact that no game was scheduled for last Saturday, and, consequently, will be in first class condition for their battle with the down-river aggregation.

Although the Mingoans are not as strong as the Mingo elevens of former years, judging by their record of the present season, they are expected to give the Orange and Black a stiff tussle, with the advantage of playing on their own field aiding them to a certain extent. In a recent engagement at Mingo, the Toronto high eleven was able to earn a decisive 16 to 0 decision.

The big game of the schedule for the Orange and Black, however, will be staged next Thursday at Central park when the locals battle Steubenville in the second tilt of a home and home series.

Wellsville was defeated last year at Steubenville, and the prospects for this year's meeting are anything but rosy in view of the fact that the Jefferson county combine is one of the best in recent years at Steubenville.

C. E. FOGLE OPENS MEETINGS HERE

Evangelist Charles E. Fogle, of St. Marys, W. Va., is scheduled to launch a series of revival services tonight in the Church of Christ, Seventeenth and Commerce streets.

Services will be held each evening at 7:30 o'clock, according to announcement by church officials. An invitation is extended to the public.

C. & P. TEAM READY FOR GREYS' GAME

The Wellsville C. & P. football team tonight will conclude a week of hard practice work in preparation for its contest tomorrow with the East Liverpool Greys at Columbian park, East Liverpool.

Although the contest was originally booked at Patterson field, officials of the two teams agreed to transfer the engagement to the East End lot as a result of almost impossible playing conditions at the former lot.

The contest will be the first of a three-game series for the semi-pro grid championship of the two cities. The second battle will be staged the Saturday after Thanksgiving at Central park.

TRIBUTE IS PAID TO LATE MAYOR

Throughout the morning and afternoon of yesterday, and into the night up until 10 o'clock, there was almost a steady stream of men, women and children, filing in and out of the residence of Chief of Police John Fultz, Henry avenue, where lay the body of the late Mayor James S. Barnes.

From Wednesday night until last night at 10 o'clock, the doors of the Fultz home were open to those who wished to view the mayor's body preparatory to funeral service.

Men and women, old and young, of various business callings and professions, of a wide variety of nationalities, paid last respects to the city's former executive who died without completing his two-year term.

The large parlor of the home was a veritable garden of flowers, tribute from high and low.

The body was removed from the Fultz home this morning to the John Haugh funeral home in Seventh and Main streets, where last rites will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

A large number of local business establishments, complying with Mayor Frank C. Blackburn's request, were to suspend operations from 2 until 4 this afternoon during the funeral services.

The children of the public schools were dismissed at 2 o'clock as a tribute of respect to the late executive.

Gets Hearing Nov. 28.

Dick Springer, arrested recently by Patrolman Hurd on a charge of selling mortgaged property, is scheduled to appear for a hearing before Mayor Blackburn on November 28. The charge was filed by C. H. Patterson.

Miss Semple, at Wellsville, has just had her studio painted and papered throughout and with new equipment, is prepared to make photographs of quality.

How pleasantly surprised your friends would be to receive a photo of yourself. You are invited to make all appointments now before it is too late for Christmas orders.

WILL GIVE FINAL SERMON TONIGHT

Dr. J. H. Lawther, widely known evangelist, who has been conducting services for two weeks in the First Presbyterian church, tonight will deliver the final address of his series in the local church.

Last night he delivered an interesting talk on the subject, "Man's Great Question in Life." His final sermon topic will be, "The Great Invitation, or God's Infinite Love."

With special services on Sunday evening, Rev. Frank H. Magill will close the two weeks' revivals, called the most successful of their kind ever held in the local church. The revivals, it was announced, have resulted in large number of accessions to the church which Dr. Lawther leaves in excellent condition.

The best wishes of the entire church have been tendered Dr. Lawther as he returns to his own pastorate, the First Presbyterian church of Niles, by the congregation and friends of the local church.

PARTHENON CLASS IS ENTERTAINED

Members of the Parthenon Sunday school class of the First Methodist Episcopal church were entertained Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Mary Tasker, in Commerce street, with Mrs. Genevieve Wolf as co-hostess.

Music and games were diversions following the regular business session. A two-course luncheon was served at the close of the affair by Mrs. Tasker and Mrs. Wolf, covers being laid for the following guests:

Miss Jean Fogo, Mrs. Pearl Robinson, Miss Birdie Rice, Mrs. Mabel McConnell, Mrs. Reba Lloys, Miss Ruth Manypenny, Mrs. Enid Yost, Mrs. Lottie Wilson, Mrs. Elizabeth Stoakes, Mrs. Genevieve Yates, Mrs. Cecil Hassell, Mrs. Mary Tasker, Mrs. Helen Crawford, Mrs. Genevieve Wolf and Mrs. Mary Hammond.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Pearl Robinson, in Clark avenue.

MRS. W. F. LONES CLUB HOSTESS

Mrs. W. F. Lones will be hostess to members of the Wellsville Twentieth Century club this afternoon at her home in Tenth street.

A musical and literary program will be carried out with topics assigned as follows:

"Cora Harris"—Miss Carrie Southwick.

"Walt Mason"—Mrs. J. S. Lambing.

"Edward W. Bok"—Mrs. Naomi Forber.

"Immigration"—Mrs. D. P. Morrison.

GRID FANS TO SEE ILLINOIS STAR

All roads of the Ohio sport world tonight and early tomorrow will lead to Columbus, where the famous Harold "Red" Grange is scheduled to appear in the final game of his collegiate career with Illinois against Ohio State.

And Wellsville will probably be represented by a delegation of football fans at the Columbus classic. Among those who plan to motor to the capital are Corydon Arnold and Edward T. Fogo.

Re-Enters Allegheny Hospital.

CLIP THIS PROGRAM FOR REFERENCE TOMORROW

A native Christian in Japan has copied the whole Bible on a scholl of paper little more than six feet long, every word being written by hand in a task that has taken seven years.

Because she believed she had made her pupils work too hard, was the reason given by a New Cross, England, school teacher for committing suicide.

More than $4,000,000 in bullion was "spirited" from a ship to the Bank of England as whisky.

POLICIES GUARD SOCIAL CAREER OF DEBUTANTES

Court Presentation Insurance is Latest Novelty.

$2,500 PAYMENT

Protects Daughters if Parents Suffer Reverses.

LONDON—Court presentation insurance is the latest novelty offered by Enlish insurance companies to parents, titled or otherwise, of daughters anywhere from one day to 12 years old.

The idea is that if the parents suffer financial reverses their daughters will not necessarily have to endure social oblivion.

Parents may take out $2,500 policies on their daughters, payable when they attain the age of 18. For girls up to one year old the premium is approximately $100 annually. The fee increases with age, the fee of a girl of 10 being $250 annually.

The policies have been carefully worked out from estimates made by peeresses that it costs at least $2,500 for a girl's first season "out."

How Money Goes.

This is the way the insurance companies estimate that the $2,500 will have to be spent:

Court gown—$150.
Six evening gowns—$360.
Ten day dresses—$400.
Nine pairs of shoes—$100.
Eighteen pairs of stockings—$65.
One dozen pairs of gloves—$60.
Town and country coats, skirts, jumpers and woolen clothes—$375.
Opera cloak—$60.
The remainder of the $2,500, it is estimated, will have to be spent on incidentals.

Thanksgiving Day — Age 304 Years!

Three hundred and four years go—1621, the Plymouth Fthears celebrated the FIRST Thanksgiving Day in acknowledgement of their FIRST harvest in America! Its National celebration in recognition of the year's blessings was FIRST proclaimed in New York in 1789 by George Washington and set for observation Thursday, November 26th of that year. In 1863 Abraham Lincoln, by proclamation, set the last Thursday in November as the day of Thanksgiving.

If those sturdy, early pioneers could today visit the country that received them so harshly, could see what their children and children's children had made of the barren wastes in only a short three centries, amazement and wonder would sit in their minds!

Probably the only vestige left of a typical Thanksgiving ceremony of the 17th Century is our insistence on the TURKEY as the centerpiece for the Thanksgiving feast. To thousands, Thanksgiving Day is called "Turkey Day," only the more thoughtful sensing the deeper and more beautiful meaning of its title.

Our Publicists, our Economistss, our Observers in the High Tower of matters financial join in a mighty chorus, without discord, that NEVER in the proud history of this proud and mighty country have the people thereof enjoyed more prosperity than in 1925.

And the sky has few, if any, clouds in it! Our future is bright! Thursday, November 26th, is our 1925 day of Thanksgiving!

JOHN CARNAHAN.

Shorty Says:

I looked up some dope on how these Plymouth folks celebrated their Thanksgiving days and bleeve ME they must have been real exciting meals! Half of 'em would eat while the other half were on guard to see that the Indians didn't set fire to the house! The head of the house generally excused himself a couple of times before dessert to adjourn to a peephole with a blunderbus to nick a redskin.

Nowadays the only Indians we're bothered with are bootleggers! And they've got so blamed civilized you don't have to shoot them only occasionally! Wouldn't a bootlegger look foolish in 1621?

Yes, times change in 300 years. Wonder what kind of Indians they'll have on Thanksgiving Day in 2239? There's a thought for you!

HONOR GUARD STILL WATCHES HARDING TOMB

Sentries on Duty at Marion for Two Years.

MEET THOUSANDS

Soldiers are Now Allowed to Talk to Visitors.

MARION — Guarding the tomb of President and Mrs. Warren G. Harding in Marion cemetery may appear to be an easy task to the casual visitor, but to the men on guard it is a duty fraught with many trying circumstances.

Members of the Tenth infantry guard detachment, Lieut. Walter Lee Sherfrey, find pleasure and a certain compensation in the work, however. Above all it is a signal honor to them as individuals, and to the regiment to be stationed as honorary guard at the last resting place of their late chief.

Then, too, they are meeting thousands of persons every week, rubbing shoulders with prominent men and women from all over the world. Theirs is an important assignment.

Every one in Marion knows that the soldiers stand watch over the city's illustrious dead. Many people have personal friends in the detachment. Few, however, know just what the soldiers' duties are.

A day with the honor guard might not be uninteresting.

At 6 in the morning the troopers are aroused by a blast of the first sergeant's whistle. They have an hour in which to make beds, sweep out the quarters, get ready for breakfast. "Police up," the soldiers say.

Drill periods are held each morning. If the weather is good, the drill is held outdoors with rifles. On stormy days calisthenics and volleyball in the gymnasium at the "Y" is the order.

Two men comprise each relief on duty at the tomb. When there are visitors at or near the vault, these men stand in the formal position of "at ease." If there are no persons about, they are permitted to walk up and down before the tomb. During the months of good weather, it is seldom that there are no visitors. Then standing motionless for two hours becomes a task that no civilian and only a well-trained soldier could perform.

Unlike a guard on a military reservation, the sentries at the tomb of President Harding are permitted to talk with tourists and other visitors. This breach of military discipline is necessary, as all who come to view the tomb, have questions that they ask. Information must be given clearly, polite, and briefly.

After two hours on post, the sentries are relieved for four hours, when they are again posted. During the time they are off, they may sleep, or just sit around. They are not permitted to leave the vicinity of the little guard house during the 24 hours they are on duty.

From 8:30 p. m. until 6 a. m. there are no visitors at the tomb, but through the night the guard is constantly kept. In the stillness of the cemetery no sound falls save maybe the screaming of a hoot-owl, the honking of a goose, or the crying of some bird disturbed from slumber by a hunting enemy. In these hours sentries on duty walk and walk.

For two years the guard has been maintained at President Harding's tomb. Things happen every day that change the scheme of individual lives; but, until the order that relieves this honr guard is receeived, the soldiers will continue their walk. If that order is 100 years in coming, it will yet find sentries on post.

Whole World Contributes to Medicine

Ginger from India—Iodine from Chile—Olive Oil from Italy—Epsom Salts from England—Menthol from Japan and roots and herbs from almost every country in the world contribute their share towards alleviating the ills of the race. No other medicine, however, compounded from roots and herbs has ever attained such a marvelous record for success as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For over fifty years it has been overcoming some of the most stubborn ailments of womanhood, and is constantly growing in popularity and favor.

HONOR GUARD STILL WATCHES HARDING TOMB

Sentries on Duty at Marion for Two Years.

MEET THOUSANDS

Soldiers are Now Allowed to Talk to Visitors.

MARION — Guarding the tomb of President and Mrs. Warren G. Harding in Marion cemetery may appear to be an easy task to the casual visitor, but to the men on guard it is a duty fraught with many trying circumstances.

Members of the Tenth infantry guard detachment, Lieut. Walter Lee Sherfrey, find pleasure and a certain compensation in the work, however. Above all it is a signal honor to them as individuals, and to the regiment to be stationed as honorary guard at the last resting place of their late chief.

Then, too, they are meeting thousands of persons every week, rubbing shoulders with prominent men and women from all over the world. Theirs is an important assignment.

Every one in Marion knows that the soldiers stand watch over the city's illustrious dead. Many people have personal friends in the detachment. Few, however, know just what the soldiers' duties are.

A day with the honor guard might not be uninteresting.

At 6 in the morning the troopers are aroused by a blast of the first sergeant's whistle. They have an hour in which to make beds, sweep out the quarters, get ready for breakfast. "Police up," the soldiers say.

Drill periods are held each morning. If the weather is good, the drill is held outdoors with rifles. On stormy days calisthenics and volleyball in the gymnasium at the "Y" is the order.

Two men comprise each relief on duty at the tomb. When there are visitors at or near the vault, these men stand in the formal position of "at ease." If there are no persons about, they are permitted to walk up and down before the tomb. During the months of good weather, it is seldom that there are no visitors. Then standing motionless for two hours becomes a task that no civilian and only a well-trained soldier could perform.

Unlike a guard on a military reservation, the sentries at the tomb of President Harding are permitted to talk with tourists and other visitors. This breach of military discipline is necessary, as all who come to view the tomb, have questions that they ask. Information must be given clearly, polite, and briefly.

After two hours on post, the sentries are relieved for four hours, when they are again posted. During the time they are off, they may sleep, or just sit around. They are not permitted to leave the vicinity of the little guard house during the 24 hours they are on duty.

From 8:30 p. m. until 6 a. m. there are no visitors at the tomb, but through the night the guard is constantly kept. In the stillness of the cemetery no sound falls save maybe the screaming of a hoot owl, the honking of a goose, or the crying of some bird disturbed from slumber by a hunting enemy. In these hours sentries on duty walk and walk.

For two years the guard has been maintained at President Harding's tomb. Things happen every day that change the scheme of individual lives; but, until the order that relieves this honr guard is receeived, the soldiers will continue their walk. If that order is 100 years in coming, it will yet find sentries on post.

CAPTAIN FOLEY EXONERATED BY INQUIRY COURT

Decision Regarded as Blow at Lansdowne's Widow.

ACTION UPHELD

Secretary Wilbur Will Ignore Attorney's Demand.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Captain Paul Foley today was given official exoneration by the Shenandoah court of inquiry in the charges of attempting to influence the testimony of Mrs. Margaret Ross Lansdowne, widow of the commander of the dirigible that crashed in Ohio with a loss of 14 lives.

The decision was regarded as a direct blow at the widow who told both the navy tribunal and the Col. William Mitchell court martial that Foley sought to "twist the facts" in her testimony.

The court held that Foley, as its former judge advocate, was required by navy regulations to visit Mrs. Lansdowne before she took the stand to determine whether her testimony would be germane.

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur probably will ignore the demand of Joseph Davies, counsel for Mrs. Lansdowne, that the Shenandoah court be discharged because attempts had been made to influence the widow's testimony, it was indicated at the navy department today.

Davies accused the court of using "unfair" methods in prosecuting its investigation.

After reading Davies' letter, Wilbur sent it to the judge advocate general of the navy without making a reply.

Navy officials said Wilbur had no intention of discharging the court.

The court specifically held that Capt. Foley was not guilty of unethical or improper conduct and discharged him as a defendant.

Magnificent were the designs, in pure gold, of different gods, with which his frail corpse was decorated.

There were the "upper Egyptian vulture, Nekhbet" and the "lower Egyptian serpent, Buto," winged scarabs, and sacred ewes. Thirteen rings were on the young king's fingers. A gold mask on his face, is not yet removed. All that seemed sufficient to carry him safely to the happy land of the great god Amean-Ra. Instead of that, he, his upper vulture and his lower serpent will go no farther than the Cairo museum.

Those that relied on ancient religious certainly had surprises in store for him—starting for heaven and landing in a museum.

France may find it necessary to bombard the seaport of Beirut, starting point of the Beirut-Damascus railway, if the rebel Druses succeed in capturing the city.

Such a bombardment, following that of Damascus, with great destruction of property and lives will have a bad effect on the Mohammedan population. The result of the French mandate in Syria may be a Mohammedan coalition and uprising, very troublesome to Europe.

Asiatics left to themselves find occupation and pleasure in fighting each other. The wise British know that. In India, Hindus and Mohammedans hate and fight each other, while the British rule.

To build up Europe and stop killing among the white races the wise policy would be to permit Asiatics to manage themselves in their ancient way.

TWO MURDERERS ARE EXECUTED

Double Electrocution Takes Place at Ohio Prison.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 20.—The seventh double electrocution in Ohio's history took place here this morning when Bucor Tudor, 39, Cleveland, and Robert Little, 21, colored, Cincinnati, convicted murderers, met death in the electric chair at the penitentiary.

Their lips moving inaudibly in prayer, both men maintained silence in the death chamber. Each man was accompanied to the chair by clergymen, who had been their spiritual advisers.

Tudor was convicted of killing his wife while jealous because she received attentions from another man. Little was found guilty of murdering John Keeler, Cincinnati night watchman. A life sentence is being served at the penitentiary by John Fitzhugh, who was Little's accomplice in the crime.

Tudor's body will be sent to the home of his sister at Cleveland, while that of Little will be shipped to Birmingham, Ala., where his mother and two brothers live.

mit helpless imbeciles to be a public care. We send them to institutions where more or less disinterested attendants allow them to wither away for years—suffering agonies which none of us can imagine—in the end to die pitifully. Would it incur the displeasure of the Almighty or be inhumane if we were to destroy them by some painless method and end their tortures?"

"Dr. Blazer believed that he was nearing death and that it would leave the care of his daughter to others," it was pointed out to Whitby.

"I would do precisely the same as he did. I will not leave Rolla behind me if it is within my power to prevent it," the poet-agrarian declared.

His Religious Views.

Neighbors call him "one of God's noblemen,' as they explain how he has performed many acts of charity, despite the confining nature of his duties.

He is always cheerful, these acquaintances assert, never referring to his own misfortunes but always willing to listen to the other fellow's hard luck tale.

Wheat experts declare that he has been instrumental in developing a cross between wheat and barley which may revolutionize the grain industry.

For several years Whitby has spent his "spare moments" in writing verse which for a time was a weekly feature in the Wheat Growers' Journal, being credited merely to "Wm. W., the Mud Flats Poet." Other farm publications in various states reprinted his works.

His verses are usually light, facetious quibs on the incongruities of life, which he discusses in a philosophical strain, always ending optimistically.

East End Smallpox Case Quarantined By Health Officer

Home of James Kirby, Dewey avenue, East End, has been placed under quarantine for smallpox, Dr. John A. Fraser, city health commissioner, announced today. Miss Hazel Morris, 20, is ill.

Miss Morris, health board officials claim, recently visited friends in Glenmoor, where an epidemic developed about a week ago. A few days after returning home she became ill.

This is the only case of contagious disease in the city, the health commissioner said.

SUNKEN BRITISH "SUB" IS LOCATED

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The British submarine M-1 sunk last week in the English channel, has been located and it has been established that the sinking of the vessel and the loss of 68 lives was caused by some one leaving a hatch door open when the vessel submerged, according to the Evening Standard.

The admiralty does not confirm this report.

Thanksgiving Day Bird Cost Lower Than Last Year

HATFIELD, Pa., Nov. 20.—In this town, the home of the Thanksgiving turkey, more than 2,500 belligerent young gobblers, handsome hens and strutting "Toms" were moving around restlessly today here in the fields where every year for the last 30 years auctions have been held.

The edict went out that the bird which adorns the Thanksgiving day dinner table will cost no more than last year and may be slightly lower.

M. B. Benner, known as the "North Pennsylvania turkey king," said that the first choice lots of turkeys, 25 in number, brought 46 cents a pound. Market men figure about 11 cents added to the auction price will be market prices for dressed turkeys which would be 57 cents a pound.

RHINELANDER TRIAL HALTED

Rumor of Agreement to Settle Sensational Suit.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 20.—The marriage annulment trial of Leonard Kip Rhinelander against Beatrice Jones Rhinelander was suddenly adjourned by Justice Morschauser today until Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

The attorneys for both sides have been in a series of conferences since yesterday's court recess.

With a rumor floating through the packed courtroom that an agreement to "settle the suit" was being considered, convening of court was postponed while attorneys and the judge engaged in a "conversation" in Judge Morschauser's chambers for 20 minutes.

Court was then convened as the spectators sensed a "crisis."

"An emergency arose yesterday afternoon," said Mills, addressing the court, "concerning which I had not the slightest intimation. Mr. Jacobs (Mills associate counsel) and myself have made diligent inquiry but failed to gain the necessary knowledge.

"I set out at once with Mr. Jacobs to investigate the new facts but the inquiry has not been completed. I ask, therefore, that the case be put over to Monday."

Davis agreed and the motion was granted.

Before adjournment Judge Morschauser cautioned the jury against coming in contact with outside influences.

"At this time of all times, gentlemen," he said," you should be careful because I consider this the most important moment of the trial, the slightest thing would cause a mistrial."

BROWN PLANS SECOND VISIT

Secretary of State Spends Few Hours in City.

Thad H. Brown, serving his second term as secretary of state, and who recently entered the race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, will make another visit to East Liverpool before the primaries next August, he announced yesterday afternoon during a brief stop in the pottery center.

Brown came to East Liverpool on the 2:30 o'clock Y. & O. car from Youngstown, where he attended a Republican rally Wednesday evening. He conferred with several party leaders. He refused to make any statement bearing upon his candidacy.

The secretary of state was accompanied to Columbus by Municipal Judge-elect J. C. Hanley, who was his classmate in the law school at Ohio State university. Hanley will witness the Ohio State-Illinois football game at the Columbus stadium tomorrow afternoon.

DEATH ROLL

Bradfield Funeral Services.

Funeral services for Mrs. Catherine Bradfield, 75 years old, who died suddenly of heart trouble, will be held at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the home, 152 Thompson avenue. Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ, will have charge.

The body will be taken to East Fairfield for burial.

Mrs. Rebecca Chamberlain.

Mrs. Rebecca Chamberlain, 82 years old, died yesterday at the home of her nephew, William Richardson, Power Point, following an attack of pneumonia.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. John Rairden, East Liverpool, and one son, Frank, Madison township.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Chamberlain home. Rev. J. Johnson, pastor of the Power Point Nazarene church, will be in charge. Burial will be made in Madison township cemetery.

WOMAN FACES DEATH CHAIR

Convicted of Murder of Third Husband, Deputy Sheriff.

ELIZABETHTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 20.—Mrs. Fannie Soper today faced the prospect of death in the electric chair.

She was found guilty of first degree murder of her third husband, William Soper, a deputy sheriff, by a jury which deliberated one hour and 45 minues.

Sentence was to be imposed today by Justice Edward C. Whitmyer, presiding judge.

The prosecution contended Mrs. Soper shot and killed her husband while he was asleep. Mrs. Soper had asserted a stranger called at their home and that he killed her husband.

Mrs. Soper received the verdict without emotion.

in the rate for Leetonia, although a bond issue for sewage purposes was proved by the electors there at the Nov. 3 election. The 1925 rate for Leetonia was 22.30, and this has been cut to 20.60 for 1926.

In the Hanover district, where a three-mill levy was approved at the last election for school purposes, the rate has been increased from 15.60 to 19.80.

Only a slight increase has been made in the rate for Salem city, this being advanced from 20.10 to 20.50.

Budgets Determine Rates.

The four districts where the rate is unchanged are: Madison school district No. 1; Goshen school district, Butler township, Salem township and Washingtonville.

All tax rates are fixed in accordance to the requirements of the different districts, based on the budget sheets filed with the county auditor by municipal, village, township and school district authorities.

The new rates will apply to taxes which are due in December, but the time for payment of which has been extended by the county commissioners until January 20.

Coolidge Back

that the rapid expansion of American financial interests abroad constitute "accumulating reasons for our adherence to the permanent court of international justice."

To the scores of bankers in his audience, the president delivered a message of commendation and of warning. He commended their willingness to spend American capital abroad, characterizing this as one of America's greatest contributions to the restoration of Europe, but he coupled with it a warning to them against the indiscriminate lending of money to borrowers who did not wish to use it for constructive purposes.

Refers to Foreign Loans.

Concerning foreign loans, the president said:

"If rightly directed, they ought to be of benefit to both borrower and lender.

"If used to establish industry and support commerce abroad, through adding to the wealth and productivity of those countries, they create their own security and increase consumptive power to the probable advantage of American trade.

"But when used in ways that are not productive, like the maintainence of great military establishments or to meet municipal expenditures which should either be eliminated by government economy or supplied by taxation, they do not appear to serve a useful purpose and ought to be discontinued.

"Our bankers have a great deal of responsibility in relation to the soundness of these loans when they undertake to invest the savings of our country abroad."

While the president, of course, mentioned no names, most of the bankers present interpreted this as an indirect thrust at France, which is maintaining the largest military establishment in Europe, while her states and municipalities are trying to effect extensive loans from American, English and Swiss bankers.

Two Boys, Denying Beliet In Hereafter, Shoot Selves

One is Dead, Other is Dying as Result of Suicide Pact Partly Carried Out.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 20.—Because "this life of a human being is not worth all the effort which must be put forth to maintain it,' one Walnut Hills high school student, William Strauss, 17, was dead today, and his chum, Albert J. Rosenberg, 15, is dying, the outcome of a suicide pact, partly carried out last night.

"We do not believe in any hereafter," a postscript to the note found by men who took Rosenberg to a hospital said. "In our last moments we believe we are sane.

"Whereas," read the body of the note, "we the undersigned do not consider the living of this life of a human being worth all the effort we must put forth to sustain it, and, whereas, we do not want to die a slow death of starvation or of exposure, we hereby agree to follow out the provisions of this covenant, and although we know that the feebleminded who call themselves American citizens will call us insane, we agree to shoot ourselves. Our last wish is that we be cremated."

The pact was carried out on a country road near Cincinnati. Farmers were attracted to the scene by the honking of an auto horn. They found Rosenberg with a bullet wound in his head. He directed the searchers to a ditch where the dead body of Strauss was found.

Rosenberg told how Strauss reproached him for his bad markmanship, then said:

"I'll make a better job of it," fired one shot and was dead.

Strauss was the son of Morris Strauss, vice president of the Washington Mortgage company. Rosenberg's father is a member of the firm of L. Rosenberg & Sons, owners of a women's store here.

Relatives said that neither lad had ever shown any evidence of unusual behavior. They were close companions.

Mother is Called At Inquest Into Murder of Baby

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Coroner Oscar Wolf today ordered Mrs. John R. Allen to appear before him in the reopening of the inquest into the death of her five-weeks-old son, John, Jr. The baby was found dead from chloroform early Monday in his crib in the Allen suite at the exclusive Belmont hotel.

The coroner said he would assemble a jury at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

mit helpless imbeciles to be a public care. We send them to institutions where more or less disinterested attendants allow them to wither away for years—suffering agonies which none of us can imagine—in the end to die pitifully. Would it incur the displeasure of the Almighty or be inhumane if we were to destroy them by some painless method and end their tortures?"

"Dr. Blazer believed that he was nearing death and that it would leave the care of his daughter to others," it was pointed out to Whitby.

"I would do precisely the same as he did. I will not leave Rolla behind me if it is within my power to prevent it," the poet-agrarian declared.

His Religious Views.

Neighbors call him "one of God's noblemen,' as they explain how he has performed many acts of charity, despite the confining nature of his duties.

He is always cheerful, these acquaintances assert, never referring to his own misfortunes but always willing to listen to the other fellow's hard luck tale.

Wheat experts declare that he has been instrumental in developing a cross between wheat and barley which may revolutionize the grain industry.

For several years Whitby has spent his "spare moments" in writing verse which for a time was a weekly feature in the Wheat Growers' Journal, being credited merely to "Wm. W., the Mud Flats Poet." Other farm publications in various states reprinted his works.

His verses are usually light, facetious quibs on the incongruities of life, which he discusses in a philosophical strain, always ending optimistically.

East End Smallpox Case Quarantined By Health Officer

Home of James Kirby, Dewey avenue, East End, has been placed under quarantine for smallpox, Dr. John A. Fraser, city health commissioner, announced today. Miss Hazel Morris, 20, is ill.

Miss Morris, health board officials claim, recently visited friends in Glenmoor, where an epidemic developed about a week ago. A few days after returning home she became ill.

This is the only case of contagious disease in the city, the health commissioner said.

SUNKEN BRITISH "SUB" IS LOCATED

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The British submarine M-1 sunk last week in the English channel, has been located and it has been established that the sinking of the vessel and the loss of 68 lives was caused by some one leaving a hatch door open when the vessel submerged, according to the Evening Standard.

The admiralty does not confirm this report.

Thanksgiving Day Bird Cost Lower Than Last Year

HATFIELD, Pa., Nov. 20.—In this town, the home of the Thanksgiving turkey, more than 2,500 belligerent young gobblers, handsome hens and strutting "Toms" were moving around restlessly today here in the fields where every year for the last 30 years auctions have been held.

The edict went out that the bird which adorns the Thanksgiving day dinner table will cost no more than last year and may be slightly lower.

M. B. Benner, known as the "North Pennsylvania turkey king," said that the first choice lots of turkeys, 25 in number, brought 46 cents a pound. Market men figure about 11 cents added to the auction price will be market prices for dressed turkeys which would be 57 cents a pound.

RHINELANDER TRIAL HALTED

Rumor of Agreement to Settle Sensational Suit.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 20.—The marriage annulment trial of Leonard Kip Rhinelander against Beatrice Jones Rhinelander was suddenly adjourned by Justice Morschauser today until Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

The attorneys for both sides have been in a series of conferences since yesterday's court recess.

With a rumor floating through the packed courtroom that an agreement to "settle the suit" was being considered, convening of court was postponed while attorneys and the judge engaged in a "conversation" in Judge Morschauser's chambers for 20 minutes.

Court was then convened as the spectators sensed a "crisis."

"An emergency arose yesterday afternoon," said Mills, addressing the court, "concerning which I had not the slightest intimation. Mr. Jacobs (Mills associate counsel) and myself have made diligent inquiry but failed to gain the necessary knowledge.

"I set out at once with Mr. Jacobs to investigate the new facts but the inquiry has not been completed. I ask, therefore, that the case be put over to Monday."

Davis agreed and the motion was granted.

Before adjournment Judge Morschauser cautioned the jury against coming in contact with outside influences.

"At this time of all times, gentlemen," he said," you should be careful because I consider this the most important moment of the trial, the slightest thing would cause a mistrial."

BROWN PLANS SECOND VISIT

Secretary of State Spends Few Hours in City.

Thad H. Brown, serving his second term as secretary of state, and who recently entered the race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, will make another visit to East Liverpool before the primaries next August, he announced yesterday afternoon during a brief stop in the pottery center.

Brown came to East Liverpool on the 2:30 o'clock Y. & O. car from Youngstown, where he attended a Republican rally Wednesday evening. He conferred with several party leaders. He refused to make any statement bearing upon his candidacy.

The secretary of state was accompanied to Columbus by Municipal Judge-elect J. C. Hanley, who was his classmate in the law school at Ohio State university. Hanley will witness the Ohio State-Illinois football game at the Columbus stadium tomorrow afternoon.

Col. John Coolidge, President's Father, Shows Improvement

The body will be taken to East Fairfield for burial.

Mrs. Rebecca Chamberlain.

Mrs. Rebecca Chamberlain, 82 years old, died yesterday at the home of her nephew, William Richardson, Power Point, following an attack of pneumonia.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. John Rairden, East Liverpool, and one son, Frank, Madison township.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Chamberlain home. Rev. J. Johnson, pastor of the Power Point Nazarene church, will be in charge. Burial will be made in Madison township cemetery.

WOMAN FACES DEATH CHAIR

Convicted of Murder of Third Husband, Deputy Sheriff.

ELIZABETHTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 20.—Mrs. Fannie Soper today faced the prospect of death in the electric chair.

She was found guilty of first degree murder of her third husband, William Soper, a deputy sheriff, by a jury which deliberated one hour and 45 minues.

Sentence was to be imposed today by Justice Edward C. Whitmyer, presiding judge.

The prosecution contended Mrs. Soper shot and killed her husband while he was asleep. Mrs. Soper had asserted a stranger called at their home and that he killed her husband.

Mrs. Soper received the verdict without emotion.

in the rate for Leetonia, although a bond issue for sewage purposes was proved by the electors there at the Nov. 3 election. The 1925 rate for Leetonia was 22.30, and this has been cut to 20.60 for 1926.

In the Hanover district, where a three-mill levy was approved at the last election for school purposes, the rate has been increased from 15.60 to 19.80.

Only a slight increase has been made in the rate for Salem city, this being advanced from 20.10 to 20.50.

Budgets Determine Rates.

The four districts where the rate is unchanged are: Madison school district No. 1; Goshen school district, Butler township, Salem township and Washingtonville.

All tax rates are fixed in accordance to the requirements of the different districts, based on the budget sheets filed with the county auditor by municipal, village, township and school district authorities.

The new rates will apply to taxes which are due in December, but the time for payment of which has been extended by the county commissioners until January 20.

Coolidge Back

that the rapid expansion of American financial interests abroad constitute "accumulating reasons for our adherence to the permanent court of international justice."

To the scores of bankers in his audience, the president delivered a message of commendation and of warning. He commended their willingness to spend American capital abroad, characterizing this as one of America's greatest contributions to the restoration of Europe, but he coupled with it a warning to them against the indiscriminate lending of money to borrowers who did not wish to use it for constructive purposes.

Refers to Foreign Loans.

Concerning foreign loans, the president said:

"If rightly directed, they ought to be of benefit to both borrower and lender.

"If used to establish industry and support commerce abroad, through adding to the wealth and productivity of those countries, they create their own security and increase consumptive power to the probable advantage of American trade.

"But when used in ways that are not productive, like the maintainence of great military establishments or to meet municipal expenditures which should either be eliminated by government economy or supplied by taxation, they do not appear to serve a useful purpose and ought to be discontinued.

"Our bankers have a great deal of responsibility in relation to the soundness of these loans when they undertake to invest the savings of our country abroad."

While the president, of course, mentioned no names, most of the bankers present interpreted this as an indirect thrust at France, which is maintaining the largest military establishment in Europe, while her states and municipalities are trying to effect extensive loans from American, English and Swiss bankers.

Two Boys, Denying Belief In Hereafter, Shoot Selves

One is Dead, Other is Dying as Result of Suicide Pact Partly Carried Out.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 20.—Because "this life of a human being is not worth all the effort which must be put forth to maintain it,' one Walnut Hills high school student, William Strauss, 17, was dead today, and his chum, Albert J. Rosenberg, 15, is dying, the outcome of a suicide pact, partly carried out last night.

"We do not believe in any hereafter," a postscript to the note found by men who took Rosenberg to a hospital said. "In our last moments we believe we are sane.

"Whereas," read the body of the note, "we the undersigned do not consider the living of this life of a human being worth all the effort we must put forth to sustain it, and, whereas, we do not want to die a slow death of starvation or of exposure, we hereby agree to follow out the provisions of this covenant, and although we know that the feebleminded who call themselves American citizens will call us insane, we agree to shoot ourselves. Our last wish is that we be cremated."

The pact was carried out on a country road near Cincinnati. Farmers were attracted to the scene by the honking of an auto horn. They found Rosenberg with a bullet wound in his head. He directed the searchers to a ditch where the dead body of Strauss was found.

Rosenberg told how Strauss reproached him for his bad marksmanship, then said:

"I'll make a better job of it," fired one shot and was dead.

Strauss was the son of Morris Strauss, vice president of the Washington Mortgage company. Rosenberg's father is a member of the firm of L. Rosenberg & Sons, owners of a women's store here.

Relatives said that neither lad had ever shown any evidence of unusual behavior. They were close companions.

Mother is Called At Inquest Into Murder of Baby

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Coroner Oscar Wolf today ordered Mrs. John R. Allen to appear before him in the reopening of the inquest into the death of her five-weeks-old son, John, Jr. The baby was found dead from chloroform early Monday in his crib in the Allen suite at the exclusive Belmont hotel.

The coroner said he would assemble a jury at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

GAS LEASE CASE MAY BE APPEALED

The case of the Big Seven Oil and Gas company and H. H. Hyland, Jr., against A. H. Woods and others, which was filed in common pleas court July 17, last, for the purpose of obtaining an order for the cancellation of leases will eventually reach the court of appeals.

In common pleas court No. 2, Judge John B. Worley has placed bond at $300 after both the plaintiffs and the defendants filed exceptions.

The case was submitted to the court on the pleadings and the evidence and the court held that the leases held by the plaintiff were valid and in full force and effect. However, the court held that the leases held on certain acreage by the defendant, Clyde Woods, void as against the plaintiff. The defendants were enjoined from interference with the plaintiff in possession and operation of the leases in question and held by it.

An order of court followed that the plaintiff is to pay $1,400 within 30 days for the cost of drilling and equipping the Woods well, but that the defendants, A. H. and Ida Woods, are entitled to royalty upon the terms of the leases held by them. The plaintiffs, however, are entitled to the production from these wells, but subject to the royalty. The defendants have also been ordered to pay the costs.

All parties have filed their exceptions and have given notice of appeal, whereupon the court set the bond at $300.

MASTER'S DEGREE TO BE CONFERRED

Past masters' night will be observed by New Lisbon lodge No. 65, F. & A. M., next Monday night, at which time the master's degree will be exemplified by past masters. This meeting will be preceded by a banquet at 6 o'clock in the new lodge rooms of New Lisbon lodge, East Lincoln way.

The entertainment committee of New Lisbon lodge, which is composed of W. M. Morgan, J. H. Vogan, N. K. Bowling, R. L. Hendricks, H. S. Roller and W. A. Frew, have arranged for an informal dance in the Lisbon Masonic temple tonight. The music for this event will be furnished by Cave's orchestra of Sharon, Pa.

Jury Trial Waived.

A jury was waived and there was a trial to the court, Judge James G. Moore presiding, in the case of A. F. Vonderau and Joseph Voight against George Wheeler, where the plaintiffs sought a judgment against the defendant for work and labor performed in the construction of a garage. The court rendered judgment for the plaintiffs for $300, and taxed the costs in the action against Wheeler. The amount sued for was claimed as balance due on the contract assumed by the plaintiffs.

Case Settled.

After the case had been scheduled for trial, counsel for both the plaintiff and the defendant agreed upon a settlement in the case of Sarah Evelsizer, represented by Cochran and Cochran, of East Liverpool, and the Stark Electric company, represented by Hart and Kohler, of Alliance.

This action, which was entered in common pleas court March 25, last, was for $5,000 damages for personal injuries.

Judgment Entered.

Judgment by default for $524 has been entered in the case filed in common pleas court October 6, last, by C. D. Tullis against Henry R. Drinkef. The original action was filed on a claim of $510.77, which was then due, but upon which interest was asked. The judgment is for both the claim and the interest.

GAS LEASE CASE MAY BE APPEALED

The case of the Big Seven Oil and Gas company and H. H. Hyland, Jr., against A. H. Woods and others, which was filed in common pleas court July 17, last, for the purpose of obtaining an order for the cancellation of leases will eventually reach the court of appeals.

In common pleas court No. 2, Judge John B. Worley has placed bond at $300 after both the plaintiffs and the defendants filed exceptions.

The case was submitted to the court on the pleadings and the evidence and the court held that the leases held by the plaintiff were valid and in full force and effect. However, the court held that the leases held on certain acreage by the defendant, Clyde Woods, void as against the plaintiff. The defendants were enjoined from interference with the plaintiff in possession and operation of the leases in question and held by it.

An order of court followed that the plaintiff is to pay $1,400 within 30 days for the cost of drilling and equipping the Woods well, but that the defendants, A. H. and Ida Woods, are entitled to royalty upon the terms of the leases held by them. The plaintiffs, however, are entitled to the production from these wells, but subject to the royalty. The defendants have also been ordered to pay the costs.

All parties have filed their exceptions and have given notice of appeal, whereupon the court set the bond at $300.

MASTER'S DEGREE TO BE CONFERRED

Past masters' night will be observed by New Lisbon lodge No. 65, F. & A. M., next Monday night, at which time the master's degree will be exemplified by past masters. This meeting will be preceded by a banquet at 6 o'clock in the new lodge rooms of New Lisbon lodge, East Lincoln way.

The entertainment committee of New Lisbon lodge, which is composed of W. M. Morgan, J. H. Vogan, N. K. Bowling, R. L. Hendricks, H. S. Roller and W. A. Frew, have arranged for an informal dance in the Lisbon Masonic temple tonight. The music for this event will be furnished by Cave's orchestra of Sharon, Pa.

Jury Trial Waived.

A jury was waived and there was a trial to the court, Judge James G. Moore presiding, in the case of A. F. Vonderau and Joseph Voight against George Wheeler, where the plaintiffs sought a judgment against the defendant for work and labor performed in the construction of a garage. The court rendered judgment for the plaintiffs for $300, and taxed the costs in the action against Wheeler. The amount sued for was claimed as balance due on the contract assumed by the plaintiffs.

Case Settled.

After the case had been scheduled for trial, counsel for both the plaintiff and the defendant agreed upon a settlement in the case of Sarah Evelsizer, represented by Cochran and Cochran, of East Liverpool, and the Stark Electric company, represented by Hart and Kohler, of Alliance.

This action, which was entered in common pleas court March 25, last, was for $5,000 damages for personal injuries.

Judgment Entered.

Judgment by default for $524 has been entered in the case filed in common pleas court October 6, last, by C. D. Tullis against Henry R. Drinkef. The original action was filed on a claim of $510.77, which was then due, but upon which interest was asked. The judgment is for both the claim and the interest.

"Red Meteor" Will Flash Last Time Tomorrow At Columbus

STATE-ILLINOIS BATTLE NATION'S PREMIER TILT

Harvard-Yale, Both Beaten, Call Upon Tradition for Big Following at Cambridge; Stanford and California Will Meet in Annual Coast Classic Out at Palo Alto.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Another page of football history is to be written tomorrow; a documeent of such moment that it will be filed away in the card index system of time itself.

Out at Columbus, O., the inimitable "Red" Grange will play his last game of college football. The occasion will be worth a typographical broadside.

Up in Cambridge, Mass., the quite discredited teams of Harvard and Yale will meet in their annual game. A typographical pop gun could do justice to this one but the boys are bound to rally around with a lot of words, the chains of habit being what they are.

Out in Palo Alto, Cal., the annual coast classic between Stanford and California will come down to a decision but without its usual significance. Neither is a champion, impending or otherwise, for the first time in many years. Like the meetings between Drake and Iowa State, Lehigh and Lafayette, Fordham and Georgetown and Swarthmore and Haverford, the Harvard-Yale and Stanford-California games are worthy of mention this year only because of their tradition.

Likewise, the Ohio State-Illinois game at Columbus lacks the consequence of other years but is saved from obscurity by the fact that it will mark the passing of Grange the Creat from the college gridiron.

Unbeaten Teams in Action.

Another contribution to the page of time will be furnished before the end of the day. Several unbeaten teams are to go into action and the writer is pleased to believe that this condition may be rectified in some cases. Here in New York, the undefeated Fordham outfit is to take on Georgetown for the Catholic college title. The writer looks for Georgetown to win and ruin Fordham's record.

Up in Providence, Brown and New Hampshire will couple up. The latter is another unbeaten team but has been pushing over a lot of push-overs with great rapidity and Brown is not exactly in this class. In fact, Brown should win comfortably, unless its slump against Harvard is chronic.

Missouri, one of the contenders for the national title, also goes into action in a Valley conference game. It will meet Kansas and, drawing a line through the records of this pair against Nebraska, the "Show-me" eleven looks somewhat superior. The same may be said for Tulane, another unbeaten contender, against Louisiana State, the latter having finished second to Alabama second to Alabama by a matter of 42 to 0. If Tulane is as good as it happens to think, the thing should be something of a cross country run.

The Western conference title will go to the winner of the Michigan-Minnesota game at Ann Arbor. The writer ventures to favor Michigan, although the Gophers, in sight of a title for the first time in some years, have come along like the wind during recent weeks.

Other Big Ten games will involve Chicago and Wisconsin and Indiana and Purdue but they mean nothing or even less.

International meetings of some consequence also are down on the books Iowa, an early season sensation in the Western conference, will take on Southern California at Los Angeles and it should be a romp for the latter, unless Iowa's showing against Minnesota was not typical.

In any case, Southern California has one of the best teams in the country and last Saturday, Iowa looked like one of the worst.

Two other intersectional games will bring together Centenary and Butler at Shreveport and Columbia and Alfred in New York.

50-50 SPLIT IS RICKARD'S PLAN

Will Ask Gotham Ring Commission for Approval.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Tex Rickard today will seek permission from the state athletic commission to put over his plan, whereby Mickey Walker and Tommy Milligan, of England, are to meet for the welterweight title, December 2, with the profits to be split equally between the boxers and the local Christmas fund. This plan was made necessary by the fact that a recent commission ruling calls for promoters of all charity shows to turn over 50 per cent of the proceeds to the beneficiary.

Under these conditions, it was deemed impossible to obtain the services of prominent boxers. Therefore, Rickard decided to run the Walker-Milligan bout as a private enterprise, with the Christmas fund a silent partner.

If sanction to the plan is granted, it is likely that Jimmy Goodrich and Luis Vincentini will be signed this afternoon to meet in a lightweight championship match on the same card.

"Red's" Famous 77 Shirt to Be Hung In Illinois Hall of Fame

University of Illinois doesn't propose that any other Illini player shall ever use the number "77" that Red Grange made famous and is providing a permanent place among the trophies of the institution for his shirt.

COUNTS UPON ITS 'CHEEK' IN YALE CONTEST

Not One-eyed Connolly Kind But Perfectly Good Quarterback.

HARVARD has tried everything else under the sun in its efforts to keep from becoming the joke of eastern football.

Now the Crimson leaders are going to try Cheek.

Not the kind of cheek One-Eyed Connolly uses to crash the gate, or an insurance agent has in coming to your house at night.

The kind Harvard intends to employ in the final battle of the year against Yale is a perfectly good quarterback, in fact, one of the best quarters in the east. Given a powerful line and a great trio to work with him in the backfield he might be claiming a place in the football sun.

Cheek served notice last year in that heroic stand the Crimson made against Ducky Pond and his cohorts that he would demand a chance for fame this year.

While Gehrke, with his educated toe and beautiful line plunging drew the lion's share of attention, Cheek was adding his bit of fight to the superhuman defense Harvard put up in the closing minutes of play to prevent the defeat from turning into a debacle.

This year Cheek has more than lived up to expectations.

The game means more to Harvard than the usual battle with Yale. This may sound odd to those who know the tradition back of these yearly clashes. But it is true.

The defeats Harvard has suffered during the Fisher regime have not only brought the Big Three down from its place in the football sun, but now threaten to throw Harvard into a "set up" class.

Teams which once were looked upon as practice teams have come to lock upon Harvard as a stepping stone to fame. This to the point where Harvard might now have to fight its way into a so-called "Big Eight" or "Big Ten" conference is such an organization were to be formed in the eastern sector.

As far as Yale is concerned Harvard need not bow its head.

True Yale has won 25 of the 43 contests played to date Harvard has won but 13 and five games have ended in ties. But, confining the matter of prowess to the post-war period Harvard has the edge. The Crimson has won four of the six games played and Yale but two Harvard has scored 45 points against the Bulldog and his nibs has scored but 40. Nineteen of those 40 points were registered last year.

Here are the scores of those last six meetings:

1919—Harvard 10, Yale 2.
1920—Harvard 9, Yale 0.
1921—Harvard 10, Yale 3.
1922—Harvard 10, Yale 3.
1923—Yale 13, Harvard 0.
1924—Yale 19, Harvard 6.

BOWLING

By a margin of an even hundred pins the Wood Choppers defeated the Rail Splitters in the "Moninger ten pin league" last night at the Liberty alleys. Art Smith rolled up high scores of 192 and had total of 523. They will roll again on Tuesday.

In the Industrial Duckpin league tonight, K. T. K. will take on Hall China.

The pin scores:

Totals	774	845	839

Last Night's Fights

At Meadville, Pa.—Pedro Lopez, of Mexico, knocked out Jack Sullivan, of Bayonne, N. J. (heavyweights), in first round. Kid Lyberger, of Meadville, awarded judges' decision over Joe Severo, of Meadville.

At Philadelphia—George Siddons, Philadelphia, defeated Roach Rodgers, Wilmington, Del., 10 rounds. Joe Shannon, Philadelphia, stopped Eddie Fischer, Riverside, N. J., in sixth round.

FINISH SEASON IN PEAK FORM

Dartmouth's football team has been disbanded at the conclusion of a wonderful season. And an interesting condition existed at the close of the year, during which the team played such teams as Harvard, Brown, Cornell and Chicago. The team finished the season in perfect physical condition. Not one member was there on the injured list when the team trotted off the field after the final fray.

This may well be offered as proof that rugged physique and endurance of its stars play a big part in the making of a great team. No team can carry on through a season with one or two brittle stars.

If there is any prospect of another football season similar to the one now ending—as far as weather and field conditions are concerned—it might be well for the football rules committee to prepare for said conditions by adding to the rules.

For instance: What is the ruling regarding a "dead" ball when the ball, instead of lying on the ground, is floating around in a pond?

Now don't laugh.

Couple of weeks ago Baldwin-Wallace and Otterbein college staged a battle at Westerville, O., for the championship of something or other. On the fourth down the question as to whether the team with the ball had made the necessary yardage was raised. The linesman and his line were summoned. And while the players waited for the chain gang to arrive the ball, which had been grounded in a puddle, floated away a couple of feet under a gentle wind. Officials had to guess where the ball was before the regatta. The team making the down retained the ball.

Four members of the Princeton team (don't mention that name to Yale right now) are honor men in their studies. Which may or may not have some bearing on the success of the Tiger eleven in preventing the Big Three being pushed entirely off the sport pages.

Crago, guard, and Hobson, another letter man, are among the seniors ranking high in their studies. Bartell and Weekes, juniors, are also honor students.

One of the outstanding surprises of the waning football season was the collapse of the usually impregnable Cornell defense. Gil Dobie's team suffered a total of 76 points to be scored against it in two games 14 by Columbia and 62 by Dartmouth. Which explains clearly the weakness of the team.

When the University of Michigan team retired to their dressing rooms after the game with Ohio State they had not permitted a single touchdown to be scored against them. The field goal booted by Northwestern in that grand old upset was the only score made against them up to the Ohio game and the Buckeye team failed to penetrate the Michigan goal line.

MARSHALL STAR SECOND IN CLEVELAND SCORING

Eight Touchdowns Gives Him Total of 48 Points for Year's Work, With Team Winning Four, Losing Three and Tying Two; Play West Commerce Eleven Today.

THREE Greater Cleveland Conference football players, from teams of the same ranking as John Marshall, high school's Thanksgiving day opponents here, and one of them Marshall's star ground gainer, up until this afternoon were topping all Cleveland scholastic point makers.

The trio consists of Ted Kunner, of Shaker Heights; Woods, of John Marshall, and Korencic, of Euclid Central.

They were far ahead of such players as Diebold, of Holy Name; Brickna, of St. Ignatius; Schwartz, of Lakewood; Owens, of West Tech, and other stars of the Senate and Quadrangular circuits.

Of interest chiefly to East Liverpool football fans, however, is the fact that Woods, who is tied for second place with Korencic, is the big threat of the John Marshall eleven, and probably the most dangerous man that the Fifth City outfit will send against the Blue and White on Thanksgiving day at Patterson field.

Two years ago it was Seedhouse of Rocky River; this year it is Woods of John Marshall.

Against all opposition for the season, Woods has scored eight touchdowns for a total of 48 points. In Greater Cleveland Conference games, he has registered seven touchdowns and is second in the conference, to Korencic.

Korencic, of Euclid Central, has registered seven touchdowns, and in this matter is second to Woods, and has kicked six points following touchdowns.

Marshall has won four games, lost three and tied two during the present season and were scheduled to clash with Commerce this afternoon.

Here is their record:

Marshall 6; Berea 0.
Marshall 6; Lakewood Lightweights 0.
Marshall 0; Rocky River (1924 champions) 0.
Marshal 6; Cleveland Heights 12.
Marshall 0; Euclid Central 19.

Scholz and Hahn will sail early next month from Vancouver for the South Seas, the first stop being Honolulu. They also will compete in Australia, New Zealand and the Irient.

COLUMBUS BOWS TO MIGHTY 'RED'

City Wears Festive Air on Eve of Great Game.

By Jack Cejnar.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 20.—The mighty "Red" Grange, of Illinois, pulled into this city today to find it virtually football mad.

The city wore a festive air. Thousands of old grads and Ohio State followers were already here. The campus district was decked out in scarlet and gray, the varsity colors. Ticket scalpers were doing a flourishing trade. Upon everybody's lips was the name of Grange.

The Illinois star and 44 of his teammates, including coaches and trainers, were immediately hurried to the Southern hotel, their headquarters while here.

With the day dawning bright and fair, and the weatherman predicting ideal conditions for tomorrow's struggle between Ohio State and Grange, the demand for tickets became unprecedented. Ohio State officials estimated that $5,000 would witness the game. Tickets sold as high as $25. One hundred and forty officers will handle traffic. Over 50,000 automobiles are expected.

And three ambulances will be kept on the university campus all day tomorrow.

Day Off for "Tigers."

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—As a reward for winning the Big Three title, twenty-five members of the Princeton football squad will be spectators at the Yale-Harvard game at Cambridge tomorrow as guests of the Princeton Athletic association. The squad will be banqueted by the Princeton club in New York tonight and will leave for the scene of the game tomorrow morning.

"Red Meteor" Will Flash Last Time Tomorrow At Columbus

Harvard-Yale, Both Beaten, Call Upon Tradition for Big Following at Cambridge; Stanford and California Will Meet in Annual Coast Classic Out at Palo Alto.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Another page of football history is to be written tomorrow; a documeent of such moment that it will be filed away in the card index system of time itself.

Out at Columbus, O., the inimitable "Red" Grange will play his last game of college football. The occasion will be worth a typographical broadside.

Up in Cambridge, Mass., the quite discredited teams of Harvard and Yale will meet in their annual game. A typographical pop gun could do justice to this one but the boys are bound to rally around with a lot of words, the chains of habit being what they are.

Out in Palo Alto, Cal., the annual coast classic between Stanford and California will come down to a decision but without its usual significance. Neither is a champion, impending or otherwise, for the first time in many years. Like the meetings between Drake and Iowa State, Lehigh and Lafayette, Fordham and Georgetown and Swarthmore and Haverford, the Harvard-Yale and Stanford-California games are worthy of mention this year only because of their tradition.

Likewise, the Ohio State-Illinois game at Columbus lacks the consequence of other years but is saved from obscurity by the fact that it will mark the passing of Grange the Creat from the college gridiron.

Unbeaten Teams in Action.

Another contribution to the page of time will be furnished before the end of the day. Several unbeaten teams are to go into action and the writer is pleased to believe that this condition may be rectified in some cases. Here in New York, the undefeated Fordham outfit is to take on Georgetown for the Catholic college title. The writer looks for Georgetown to win and ruin Fordham's record.

Up in Providence, Brown and New Hampshire will couple up. The latter is another unbeaten team but has been pushing over a lot of push-overs with great rapidity and Brown is not exactly in this class. In fact, Brown should win comfortably, unless its slump against Harvard is chronic.

Missouri, one of the contenders for the national title, also goes into action in a Valley conference game. It will meet Kansas and, drawing a line through the records of this pair against Nebraska, the "Show-me" cleven looks somewhat superior. The same may be said for Tulane, another unbeaten contender, against Louisiana State, the latter having finished second to Alabama second to Alabama by a matter of 42 to 0. If Tulane is as good as it happens to think, the thing should be something of a cross country run.

The Western conference title will go to the winner of the Michigan-Minnesota game at Ann Arbor. The writer ventures to favor Michigan, although the Gophers, in sight of a title for the first time in some years, have come along like the wind during recent weeks.

Other Big Ten games will involve Chicago and Wisconsin and Indiana and Purdue but they mean nothing or even less.

International meetings of some consequence also are down on the books Iowa, an early season sensation in the Western conference, will take on Southern California at Los Angeles and it should be a romp for the latter, unless Iowa's showing against Minnesota was not typical.

In any case, Southern California has one of the best teams in the country and last Saturday, Iowa looked like one of the worst.

Two other intersectional games will bring together Centenary and Butler at Shreveport and Columbia and Alfred in New York.

50-50 SPLIT IS RICKARD'S PLAN

Will Ask Gotham Ring Commission for Approval.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Tex Rickard today will seek permission from the state athletic commission to put over his plan, whereby Mickey Walker and Tommy Milligan, of England, are to meet for the welterweight title, December 2, with the profits to be split equally between the boxers and the local Christmas fund. This plan was made necessary by the fact that a recent commission ruling calls for promoters of all charity shows to turn over 50 per cent of the proceeds to the beneficiary.

Under these conditions, it was deemed impossible to obtain the services of prominent boxers. Therefore, Rickard decided to run the Walker-Milligan bout as a private enterprise, with the Christmas fund a silent partner.

If sanction to the plan is granted, it is likely that Jimmy Goodrich and Luis Vincentini will be signed this afternoon to meet in a lightweight championship match on the same card.

"Red's" Famous 77 Shirt to Be Hung In Illinois Hall of Fame

University of Illinois doesn't propose that any other Illini player shall ever use the number "77" that Red Grange made famous and is providing a permanent place among the trophies of the institution for his shirt.

COUNTS UPON ITS 'CHEEK' IN YALE CONTEST

Not One-eyed Connolly Kind But Perfectly Good Quarterback.

HARVARD has tried everything else under the sun in its efforts to keep from becoming the joke of eastern football.

Now the Crimson leaders are going to try Cheek.

Not the kind of cheek One-Eyed Connolly uses to crash the gate, or an insurance agent has in coming to your house at night.

The kind Harvard intends to employ in the final battle of the year against Yale is a perfectly good quarterback, in fact, one of the best quarters in the east. Given a powerful line and a great trio to work with him in the backfield he might be claiming a place in the football sun.

Cheek served notice last year in that heroic stand the Crimson made against Ducky Pond and his cohorts that he would demand a chance for fame this year.

While Gehrke, with his educated toe and beautiful line plunging drew the lion's share of attention, Cheek was adding his bit of fight to the superhuman defense Harvard put up in the closing minutes of play to prevent the defeat from turning into a debacle.

This year Cheek has more than lived up to expectations.

The game means more to Harvard than the usual battle with Yale. This may sound odd to those who know the tradition back of these yearly clashes. But it is true.

The defeats Harvard has suffered during the Fisher regime have not only brought the Big Three down from its place in the football sun, but now threaten to throw Harvard into a "set up" class.

Teams which once were looked upon as practice teams have come to look upon Harvard as a stepping stone to fame. This to the point where Harvard might now have to fight its way into a so-called "Big Eight" or "Big Ten" conference is such an organization were to be formed in the eastern sector.

As far as Yale is concerned Harvard need not bow its head.

True Yale has won 25 of the 43 contests played to date Harvard has won but 13 and five games have ended in ties. But, confining the matter of prowess to the post-war period Harvard has the edge. The Crimson has won four of the six games played and Yale but two Harvard has scored 45 points against the Bulldog and his nibs has scored but 40. Nineteen of those 40 points were registered last year.

Here are the scores of those last six meetings:

1919—Harvard 10, Yale 2.
1920—Harvard 9, Yale 0.
1921—Harvard 10, Yale 3.
1922—Harvard 10, Yale 3.
1923—Yale 13, Harvard 0.
1924—Yale 19, Harvard 6.

BOWLING

By a margin of an even hundred pins the Wood Choppers defeated the Rail Splitters in the "Moninger ten pin league" last night at the Liberty alleys. Art Smith rolled up high scores of 192 and had total of 523. They will roll again on Tuesday.

In the Industrial Duckpin league tonight, K. T. K. will take on Hall China.

The pin scores:

Rail Splitters—
Paul	137	170	150

Last Night's Fights

At Meadville, Pa.—Pedro Lopez, of Mexico, knocked out Jack Sullivan, of Bayonne, N. J. (heavyweights), in first round. Kid Lyberger, of Meadville, awarded judges' decision over Joe Severo, of Meadville.

FINISH SEASON IN PEAK FORM

Dartmouth's football team has been disbanded at the conclusion of a wonderful season. And an interesting condition existed at the close of the year, during which the team played such teams as Harvard, Brown, Cornell and Chicago. The team finished the season in perfect physical condition. Not one member was there on the injured list when the team trotted off the field after the final fray.

This may well be offered as proof that rugged physique and endurance of its stars play a big part in the making of a great team. No team can carry on through a season with one or two brittle stars.

If there is any prospect of another football season similar to the one now ending—as far as weather and field conditions are concerned—it might be well for the football rules committee to prepare for said conditions by adding to the rules.

For instance: What is the ruling regarding a "dead" ball when the ball, instead of lying on the ground, is floating around in a pond?

Now don't laugh.

Couple of weeks ago Baldwin-Wallace and Otterbein college staged a battle at Westerville, O., for the championship of something or other. On the fourth down the question as to whether the team with the ball had made the necessary yardage was raised. The linesman and his line were summoned. And while the players waited for the chain gang to arrive the ball, which had been grounded in a puddle, floated away a couple of feet under a gentle wind. Officials had to guess where the ball was before the regatta. The team making the down retained the ball.

Four members of the Princeton team (don't mention that name to Yale right now) are honor men in their studies. Which may or may not have some bearing on the success of the Tiger eleven in preventing the Big Three being pushed entirely off the sport pages.

Crago, guard, and Hobson, another letter man, are among the seniors ranking high in their studies. Bartell and Weekes, juniors, are also honor students.

One of the outstanding surprises of the waning football season was the collapse of the usually impregnable Cornell defense. Gil Dobie's team suffered a total of 76 points to be scored against it in two games 14 by Columbia and 62 by Dartmouth. Which explains clearly the weakness of the team.

When the University of Michigan team retired to their dressing rooms after the game with Ohio State they had not permitted a single touchdown to be scored against them. The field goal booted by Northwestern in that grand old upset was the only score made against them up to the Ohio game and the Buckeye team failed to penetrate the Michigan goal line.

MARSHALL STAR SECOND IN CLEVELAND SCORING

Eight Touchdowns Gives Him Total of 48 Points for Year's Work, With Team Winning Four, Losing Three and Tying Two; Play West Commerce Eleven Today.

THREE Greater Cleveland Conference football players, from teams of the same ranking as John Marshall, high school's Thanksgiving day opponents here, and one of them Marshall's star ground gainer, up until this afternoon were topping all Cleveland scholastic point makers.

They were far ahead of such players as Diebold, of Holy Name; Brickna, of St. Ignatius; Schwartz, of Lakewood; Owens, of West Tech, and other stars of the Senate and Quadrangular circuits.

Of interest chiefly to East Liverpool football fans, however, is the fact that Woods, who is tied for second place with Korencic, is the big threat of the John Marshall eleven, and probably the most dangerous man that the Fifth City outfit will send against the Blue and White on Thanksgiving day at Patterson field.

Two years ago it was Seedhouse of Rocky River; this year it is Woods of John Marshall.

Against all opposition for the season, Woods has scored eight touchdowns for a total of 48 points. In Greater Cleveland Conference games, he has registered seven touchdowns and is second in the conference, to Korencic.

Korencic, of Euclid Central, has registered seven touchdowns, and in this matter is second to Woods, and has kicked six points following touchdowns.

Marshall has won four games, lost three and tied two during the present season and were scheduled to clash with Commerce this afternoon.

Marshall 6; Berea 0.
Marshall 6; Lakewood Lightweights 0.
Marshall 0; Rocky River (1924 champions) 0.
Marshal 6; Cleveland Heights 12.
Marshall 0; Euclid Central 19.
Marshall 10; Euclid Shore 9.
Marshall 6; Shaker Heights 9.
Marshall 31; Longwood 0.
Marshall 6; Painesville 6.
Marshall total scores 71; opponents 55.

RE-DEDICATE TWO PARTIES, KNIGHT URGES

Akron Publisher Speaks at Zanesville Church Society Meeting.

CONDEMNS EVILS

Declares Ohio Taxes and Bonded Debt are Mounting.

ZANESVILLE, O., Nov. 20.—"The greatest work before us as citizens is to make a last effort to re-dedicate the two paries (Republican and Democratic) to those principles which might remove from us every agency or activity of government which is not necessary to transact strictly public business in the simplest and most inexpensive way," Charles L. Knight, of Akron, publisher of the Beacon-Journal, and regarded as a probable candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, told the Brotherhood of the Central Presbyterian church here last night.

Really able men in the state are being driven out of politics, Knight said by candidates who have subscribed to every ism and fad. Rejection at the primaries and elections of candidates whose platforms consist of flowery platitudes was the remedy for this condition, he declared.

Disclaiming any personal ambition, Knight pointed out some of the evils in government in Ohio as he viewed them today. He declared that powerful groups and blocs "have not been satisfied to rest their contentions upon argument, but have sought to impose a reign of terror" to the end that the public welfare is neglected.

Swarm Under "Economy Banner."

"Men of first rate abilities now feel," Knight continued, "that if we have reached the point where their peculiar knowledge of taxation or of administration cannot be given to the state unless they are willing to swear a slavish fealty to the ideals of Westerville or subscribe to the idea that the pope of Rome is packing his grip for Baltimore, or that both the open and the closed shop are slavery, then the people and the state can take the job and go to the devil with it."

In these days, he said, if candidates "know nothing, their first care is to conceal that fact," and as a result they all swarm cut under the "banner of economy and efficiency."

Tax burdens, in less than a decade, Knight continued, had mounted in Ohio from $6 per person to more than $50. In the same period the bonded debt of the state's subdivisions had increased from less than $300,000,000 to more than $900,000,000.

200 POTTERS ATTEND DINNER

Standard Company Gives Get-together Banquet.

The banquet and entertainment given by employes of the Standard Pottery company in St. Stephen's Episcopal parish house, Wednesday evening, will be made a semi-annual affair according to an announcement today by plant executives today. The next affair will be in the form of a picnic, date and place to be determined later.

More than 200 employes and members of their families attended the first function. A roast beef dinner was served by members of Circle No. 1 of the church.

Mrs. Ila Marshall Cronin, wife of Daniel Cronin, president of the company, was toastmistress. Brief responses were made by Daniel Cornin, Mess Cronin, Charles McNicol, E. J. Fitzgerald, George Steele, chairman of the committee on arrangements; Edwin Barnett and Dean T. G. C. McCalla acting rector of St. Stephen's church.

Miss Phyllis Fitzgerald of the D. E. McNicol pottery, rendered two vocal solos, "Save Your Sorrow for Tomorrow," and "Pal of My Cradle Days.' Miss Juanita Harris said "The Garden of Tomorrow" nad "A Kiss in the Dark." John Dougherty was accompanist for the soloists.

This program was followed by a dance for which Edward Green's orchestra furnished the music.

Dr. and Mrs. John S. Cronin, of Cleveland, were special guests.

TITLE TILT ON EAST END LOT

Greys-C. & P. Will Clash in First Game of Series.

Preparatory to the inaugural clash of the three-game series with the Wellsville C. & P. eleven for the inter-city semi-pro football championship, the Greys will hold their final practice session of the week this evening at City park.

The Greys and the Wellsville railroaders will tangle tomorrow afternoon at Columbian park, instead of at Patterson Field.

Manager Czech, after inspecting the West End lot, decided today that it would be next to impossible to play football on Patterson Field in its present condition and accordingly ordered the game transferred to the East End lot, which is practically dry.

The engagement is scheduled to get under way at 3 o'clock. The second game of the series will be staged on the Saturday following Thanksgiving at Central park, Wellsville.

A third and deciding game, if necessary, will be played on the site decided by the toss of a coin.

Manager Czech has lined up a formidable array of local independent stars for the impeding series, including a majority of the former Greys. The backfield will include "Chappie" Finley, "Cheese" Plant, Frank Davis, T. Walker and Boso.

On the line will be found C. Golden and Neidles at ends; Gibas and Gerace at tackles; C. and J. Smith at guards, and R. Walker at center.

Big Story Vanishes.

MARION.—A peach of a murder mystery has gone "bloole."

A hotel maid entered the room occupied by J. A. McClaskey in a Telodo hotel. He was gone.

But blood stains were on the pillow.

The maid screamed and notified the management.

Police were notified and a state wide search began for the missing man.

He was located here.

"My teeth pained me that night and the gums bled considerably.'

Exit murder mystery.

RE-DEDICATE TWO PARTIES, KNIGHT URGES

CONDEMNS EVILS

Declares Ohio Taxes and Bonded Debt are Mounting.

ZANESVILLE, O., Nov. 20.—"The greatest work before us as citizens is to make a last effort to re-dedicate the two paries (Republican and Democratic) to those principles which might remove from us every agency or activity of government which is not necessary to transact strictly public business in the simplest and most inexpensive way," Charles L. Knight, of Akron, publisher of the Beacon-Journal, and regarded as a probable candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, told the Brotherhood of the Central Presbyterian church here last night.

Really able men in the state are being driven out of politics, Knight said by candidates who have subscribed to every ism and fad. Rejection at the primaries and elections of candidates whose platforms consist of flowery platitudes was the remedy for this condition, he declared.

Disclaiming any personal ambition, Knight pointed out some of the evils in government in Ohio as he viewed them today. He declared that powerful groups and blocs "have not been satisfied to rest their contentions upon argument, but have sought to impose a reign of terror" to the end that the public welfare is neglected.

Swarm Under "Economy Banner."

"Men of first rate abilities now feel," Knight continued, "that if we have reached the point where their peculiar knowledge of taxation or of administration cannot be given to the state unless they are willing to swear a slavish fealty to the ideals of Westerville or subscribe to the idea that the pope of Rome is packing his grip for Baltimore, or that both the open and the closed shop are slavery, then the people and the state can take the job and go to the devil with it."

In these days, he said, if candidates "know nothing, their first care is to conceal that fact," and as a result they all swarm cut under the "banner of economy and efficiency."

Tax burdens, in less than a decade, Knight continued, had mounted in Ohio from $6 per person to more than $50. In the same period the bonded debt of the state's subdivisions had increased from less than $300,000,000 to more than $900,000,000.

200 POTTERS ATTEND DINNER

Standard Company Gives Get-together Banquet.

The banquet and entertainment given by employes of the Standard Pottery company in St. Stephen's Episcopal parish house, Wednesday evening, will be made a semi-annual affair according to an announcement today by plant executives today. The next affair will be in the form of a picnic, date and place to be determined later.

More than 200 employes and members of their families attended the first function. A roast beef dinner was served by members of Circle No. 1 of the church.

Mrs. Ila Marshall Cronin, wife of Daniel Cronin, president of the company, was toastmistress. Brief responses were made by Daniel Cornin, Kress Cronin, Charles McNicol, E. J. Fitzgerald, George Steele, chairman of the committee on arrangements; Edwin Barnett and Dean T. G. C. McCalla acting rector of St. Stephen's church.

Miss Phyllis Fitzgerald of the D. E. McNicol pottery, rendered two vocal solos, "Save Your Sorrow for Tomorrow," and "Pal of My Cradle Days." Miss Juanita Harris said "The Garden of Tomorrow" nad "A Kiss in the Dark." John Dougherty was accompanist for the soloists.

This program was followed by a dance for which Edward Green's orchestra furnished the music.

Welcome Class Entertained.

The Welcome class of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church was entertained last evening at the home of Miss Mabel Gilliand of Erie street. A short business session preceded a program of music. The class quartet, composed of Carl Warning, Edgar Pittenger, Prof. Wherry and Robert Wirth, gave several selections, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Mary Ketchum. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her mother and brother, Roy, covers being arranged for 25 guests.

The committee in charge of the next meeting, to be held at the home of Edgar Pittenger, Lincoln highway, Dec. 10, includes Mrs. Mary Ketchum, Herbert Plate, Carl Warning and Edgar Pittenger. This party will be in the form of a Christmas gift exchange, and all members are urged to be present.

Art Circle Club Entertained

Members of the Art Circle club were entertained last evening at the home of Mrs. Pearl Butcher of John street. Thanksgiving effects predominated in the decorations of the home and the luncheon appointments. Misses Martha and Mary Butcher interpreted fancy dancing. The guessing contest was won by Mrs. J. J. McKeever, Jr., refreshments were served by theh ostess, assisted by Mrs. Harry Carson.

The next meeting will be in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Samuel Broomhall of Vine street.

Bridge Party at Country Club.

Three tables of bridge were in play at the weekly bridge party at the East Liverpool Country club Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Samuel Groglode was hostess. Mrs. Jackson Comstock was awarded the trophy for the highest score. Tea was served.

Next Wednesday a bridge-tea will be featured, with Mrs. Ben. L. Bennett and Mrs. Clyde C. Davidson as hostesses.

Mrs. H. B. Hall Hostess

The "Go-As-You Are" club met last evening in the home of Mrs. H. B. Hall of Thompson avenue. Music and games were enjoyed during the informal social hours, trophies being awarded Mrs. Celia Gill and Mrs. Sara Pyles.

A three-course luncheon was served by theh ostess, assisted by Mrs. Homer Risinger, and Mrs. Charles Laughlin. Places were arranged for 25 guests.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Charles Watson of West Second street.

Country Club Card Party

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Russell and Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Beatty will be the committee in charge of the semi-monthly card party to be given tonight at the East Liverpool Country club. All club members are urged to be present promptly at 8 o'clock.

Rebekah Lodge Service.

Danceland Books Crable's Band.

The Curran Dancing Academy has booked the famous Russ Crable's band which has been playing for the last two weeks at Morgantown, W. Va., to be at Danceland on Thanksgiving evening. Dancing will continue from 9 until 1 o'clock.

Saturday evening, there will be a round and square dance at Danceland.

Mary Blazer Society Meeting.

The Mary Blazer Missionary society of the Emmanuel Presbyterian church met at the home of Mrs H. J Wayne of St. Clair avenue, last evening. Mrs. H. R Thompson was in charge of the devotionals. Mrs. J. M. McCarty discussed the home topic, "Mountaineers." Mrs. Edward Adams had charge of the foreign topic, "Siam and Missions."

Informal social hours followed the program. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Miss Hilda, and Mrs George Faulk and Mrs. Edward Adams.

Tendered Miscellaneous Shower.

Mrs Basil Rough was honor guest last evening at a miscellaneous shower, given in the home of Mrs. William Rough of Ogden street by members of the Loval Workers' class of the First Church of Christ. This class is taught by Mrs. Kurt Bergner. Many gifts was received by the bride, who will be remembered as Miss Geraldine Moneypenny.

Music and fancywork were the diversions of the social hours. Luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. James Moneypenny. Covers were arranged for 25 guests.

TITLE TILT ON EAST END LOT

Greys-C. & P. Will Clash in First Game of Series.

Preparatory to the inaugural clash of the three-game series with the Wellsville C. & P. eleven for the inter-city semi-pro football championship, the Greys will hold their final practice session of the week this evening at City park.

The Greys and the Wellsville railroaders will tangle tomorrow afternoon at Columbian park, instead of at Patterson Field.

Manager Czech, after inspecting the West End lot, decided today that it would be next to impossible to play football on Patterson Field in its present condition and accordingly ordered the game transferred to the East End lot, which is practically dry.

The engagement is scheduled to get under way at 3 o'clock. The second game of the series will be staged on the Saturday following Thanksgiving at Central park, Wellsville.

A third and deciding game, if necessary, will be played on the site decided by the toss of a coin.

Manager Czech has lined up a formidable array of local independent stars for the impeding series, including a majority of the former Greys. The backfield will include "Chappie" Finley, "Cheese" Plant, Frank Davis, T. Walker and Boso.

On the line will be found C. Golden and Neidles at ends; Gibas and Gerace at tackles; C. and J. Smith at guards, and R. Walker at center.

Big Story Vanishes.

MARION.—A peach of a murder mystery has gone "blooie."

A hotel maid entered the room occupied by J. A. McClaskey in a Toledo hotel. He was gone.

But blood stains were on the pillow.

The maid screamed and notified the management.

Police were notified and a state wide search began for the missing man.

He was located here.

"My teeth pained me that night and the gums bled considerably."

Exit murder mystery.

MOVIE INQUIRY IS REAL DRAMA OF REEL LIFE

REVEAL STORIES

Simply Produces Superior Films for Public is Defense.

Within the next few months the government's effort to break up what is charged as a national conspiracy on the part of Adolph Zukor, and associated motion picture corporations, to monopolize the industry, will come to a conclusion before the Federal Trade Commission. In a series of three articles the International News Service presents the vast scope of the charges as contained in a document filed with the commission.

No. I.

By Robert S. Thornburgh,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Between the covers of a 115,000 document attacking the legality of Adolph Zukor's gigantic Famous Players-Lasky motion picture combine, the federal trade commission has written a more fantastic story than ever the movie producers dared flash on the silver screen.

Reeking with deep laid plots and commercial intrigues, marked by the rise and fall of America's most popular photodrama stars, and the losing battle of the "little fellow" against the "big fellow," are the far-reaching charges preferred by the government.

It's a drama in itself, vivid with imagination, amazing in enormity and scope, compelling in power—this internal battle of wits and dollars which, according to the government, has swept through the billion-dollar movie industry as one man—Zukor—attempted to dominate the business from studio to theatre, from ownership of stars to plays, plots and authors.

The drama, in which 20,000,000 Americans play the audience part, where $1,500,000,000 in capital is working, has its settings from Hollywood to Long Island, Paris to the Sahara, from the bleak steppes of Russia to the romantic isles of the South Seas.

The curtain dropped on one phase of the play when the Famous Players-Lasky corporation appeared before the Federal Trade Commission with an answer to the government's charges. On November 24 the final arguments will be held after which the commission will proceed to a verdict.

Another curtain may rise shortly thereafter with the government-alleged "villain" in the hands of the law, with the attorney general taking steps to drive him into the federal courts. Or it may turn out, as the Zukor interests insist, that he is no villain at all—simply an industrial and dramatic giant making it possible for the film fans of the United States to enjoy their daily dramas far superior to those produced in any other nation.

Playing opposite Zukor as the "villain" are J. D. Williams, general manager of the First National organization which the government charges Zukor tried to wreck, and Doug Fairbanks as hero, and Mary Pickford as heroine. Williams, the commission holds, forestalled Zukor in his intentions on the First National while Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks, along with Charlie Chaplin, Jack Pickford, James Oliver Curwood, Mack Sennett, Anita Stewart and the Talmadge sisters, kicked over Zukor's contracts.

300,000 Employed.

Statistics presented in the case disclose that more than 300,000 persons—stars, just actors, mere folks in the background, stage hands, camera men, technical experts, business executives and others—are employed in this industry which but a few years ago was no more than a dream.

About 700 feature pictures are produced annually. Paid admissions to 16,000 movie theaters were over $1,000,000,000 last year. Approximately $500,000 a day was spent in 1924 in the construction of new theaters. Distributors received about $155,000,000 last year.

"These figures show the magnitude of the industry," the government's brief said. "The witnesses, best qualified in America to testify as to the potential power of the screen—have given us facts to show that never before has there been a case brought by the government in which the general public has been more vitally concerned.

"It is astonishing to learn that within so short a time this new science for imparting knowledge has developed a greater potential power to influence the character, habits, dress, morals and general conduct of our youth than the public school system."

Thirteen actions against fire insurance companies, filed by Samuel Breakstone, proprietor of the National Wholesale Millinery company, as a result of the fire which destroyed the Milligan, Thompson and Wasby buildings, Feb. 22, last, will be heard before Judge James G. Moore, at Lisbon, on Monday. Nineteen cases have been assigned for the week.

The suits were instituted by Breakstone after the companies failed to adjust losses due to the burning of his establishment. Breakstone will be represented by Lones, Hill & Davidson and J. F. McGarry of this city, and George T. Farrell of Lisbon. Billingsley & Moore of Lisbon and Mooney, Bigbee & Edmonds of Cleveland are attorneys for the insurance companies.

Four actions for divorce will be heard on Friday, Nov. 27. Jury cases will be tried before Judge John B. Worley of Cadiz in court room No. 2, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. One of these cases is that of Mrs. Mary Penney, of this city, against the city of East Liverpool, for damages for the death of her husband, who was injured in a fall near the corner of Fifth street and Broadway.

William Johnson, Salineville, Dies; Funeral Tomorrow

Funeral services for William Johnson, 75, Salineville meat dealer, who died in his home in Salineville at 11 o'clock Wednesday night, will be conducted in the late home at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Rev. W. S. Martin, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will be in charge. Interment will be made in Woodland cemetery.

Mr. Johnson was born in Salineville and had worked at the butcher trade since 16 years of age. For about 28 years he conducted his own shop.

He is survived by nine children: Charles, James, Wilbur, Louis, William and Pearl Johnson, Mrs. Grant Dorrance and Mrs. Clifford Randolph, all of Salineville and one sister, Mrs. Rella Daniels, also of Salineville. He was a member of the Salineville Presbyterian church.

STRINGENT JAIL RULES PLANNED

The escape of four prisoners from the state prison at Moundsville during the past week will probably result in more stringent regulations being put into effect by prison officials. Three of the four men were speedily captured in the vicinity of Moundsville. Majority of the convicts that secured freedom were serving long terms for various offenses.

PARENTS VISIT LOCAL SCHOOLS

Parents and patrons visited the local and district school buildings today as a part of the program arranged for National Education week, being observed in the various schools of the district.

Many To Attend Game.

Large crowd of soccer fans are expected to attend the game here tomorrow afternoon between Homer Laughlin China and Sharon teams. This will be the final league contest of the season.

Lodge To Meet.

Members of Clark lodge No. 447, I. O. O. F., will meet this evening in the Aaron building. Routine business will be transacted.

Clearing Court Calendar.

Large number of cases have been disposed of this week at the session of the circuit court at New Cumberland, with Judge J. Harold Brennan, of Wheeling, presiding. Civil cases will be taken up when the criminal calendar is completed.

Preparing Briefs.

Attorneys for gas companies engaged in the fight to have the gross sales tax law of the state declared unconstitutional are preparing briefs which will be submitted to the supreme court which body will eventually make the final decision.

Kerker Asthma Remedy

Recommended highly for asthma; also severe colds, coughs and "flu." Sold by Carnahan's Drug Stores, East Liverpool and by good druggists everywhere.

Why Thin Folks Have Weak Blood

A Quick Way To Build Up.

Thin folks don't go around looking pale and drawn as though the life had all gone out of you! Scientists have now found a way to put more red and strength into the blood, at the same time you are putting on flesh and weight.

And here's how it is done: Go to any druggist and ask for Burke's Cod Liver Oil and Iron in tablet form. In a day or two you'll find you are eating more, the angular hollows will begin to fill out, the blood being greatly enriched will quickly show the color of health and vigor in your face.

This sugar coated tablet, containing the purest Cod Liver Oil and blood making iron is pleasant to take—no fishy nauseous taste. In order to guard against cheap imitations go to the druggist that sells Burke's Cod Liver Oil and Iron Tablets the original and genuine. Don't forget to use the word Iron. For sale by Carnahan's Drug Co., 3 stores, and all good druggists.

SURVIVORS OF ILL-FATED STEAMER LENAPE RETURN TO SAFE ENVIRONMENT

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Survivors of the ill-fated Clyde liner Lenape, which burned to a blackened hulk off the Delaware coast Tuesday night, were returning to a safe and normal environment today after their stirring adventure at sea.

One and all they gave unstinted praise of the plan of rescue of Captain Charles W. Devereux after the liner, with 368 persons on board, caught fire at sea.

Sixty-five passengers were brought into New York last night on a special train from Lewes, Del., where they had been taken in cutters after they had been rescued from the burning ship. The other passengers were sent to Jacksonville, Fla., over the Seaboard Air line.

Officials of the line this morning estimated the loss of the Lenape at $3,000,000.

One Passenger Drowned.

All on board, with one exception, were rescued. He was Robert Leverton, 60 years old, of Williamnest, Mass. He was drowned when he leaped overboard. Ten persons were injured, either burned or bruised, during the rescue by the pilot boat Philadelphia and coast guard cutter Kickapoo.

Each of the survivors had a thrilling tale. All of them paid sincere tribute to Captain Devereux, of the Lenape. It was just before midnight Tuesday that the fire broke out and Devereux ordered S. O. S. messages sent out when the flames threatened to get beyond control of the crew.

Capt. Devereux sent his officers to arouse sleeping passengers and tell them not to be alarmed. They were told to dress quietly, which they did, and don life belts.

Makes Run for Shore.

Rather than allow a transfer of passengers then, Captain Devereux determined to make a run for shore. It was pitch dark and there was a fairly rough sea.

Thick, black smoke poured out of the holds as the fire gradually spread. Meanwhile members of the crew were bravely battling to subdue the flames.

The passengers were lined up at the rails, Captain Devereux passed among them, giving words of assurance.

As the liner headed for the Delaware shore, Charles S. Morris, pilot, who knew every reef in the vicinity, was at the wheel. If Morris did not have this knowledge, Captain Devereux said, he would have had to sent the passengers out in the life boats.

Investigate Fire.

The rescue was robbed of much of the color that usually marks sea disasters by the business-like manner in which the passengers were taken off in life boats to the pilot boat Philadelphia and the coast guard cutter Kickapoo.

The Lenape today lies a blackened, smoking wreck on the coast of Delaware, about a mile from Lewes, Del., to which point most of the survivors were first taken.

The cause of the fire is unknown. Officials, however, were conducting an investigation.

METHUSELAH'S WIFE

THE STORY OF A GIRL WHO MARRIED FOR MONEY

BY EDGAR POE NORRIS

FOUR.

If the mayor of Central City had been a man of any sense of the appropriateness of things, he would have issued a formal proclamation declaring it a holiday. It was that anyway. The procession over the hill to Harwood house wasn't limited to the invited guests, and the stream of caterers, florists, gift-bearers. An alarming number of women of the town were sick that day, according to excuses made in the shops in which they worked, or the offices in which they typed. Mrs. Gus Long and Mrs. Bob Roester left their reviewing stand at 9 o'clock in the morning to seek vantage positions outside the iron fence surrounding Harwood house and gape for hours at the stream of arriving and departing motors, and thrilling over glimpses of bejeweled or high-hatted notables.

And with what gusto the town—and particularly the invited guests, pored over the details of the affair published in that afternoon's edition of the Daily Times. The story occupied two whole columns on the first page and ran over to an inside space.

"The marriage service was solemnized at 1 o'clock in the library of the Harwood mansion, with the Very Rev. Lewis W. Burling, dean of Grace Protestant Episcopal Cathedral officiating.

"The bridal procession marched down the broad stairway. First came the ushers, Messrs. Wyman Holt, James Archer, Leslie Manley, Edgar Wright, of Central City; Harry Bede, Chicago; Ben Kirkington, New York.

"Following the ushers came the bridesmaids, Misses Marion Harwood, daughter of the bridegroom; Gloria Baird, Alice Kenwick, Ileana Wales, Davidine Clark, all of Central City; Josephine Stafford, Pittsburgh.

"Next in the processional were the maid and matron of honor, Miss Bernice Todd, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Brent Daly, Mr. Harwood's sister.

"Then, escorted by her mother, who gave her away, came the bride, beautiful in her bridal robes. The gown was modeled after the d' Medici period, with tight bodice, full skirt touching the floor, long tight-fitting sleeves, the neck-line low in front, but finished at the back with the high Medici collar. The gown was trimmed with rare old lace and pearls. The court train, untrimmed, was attached to the shoulders, and the veil of tulle formed a high cap effect, and was attached to the hair with a semi-wreath of orange blossoms. A full wreath of the same blossoms attached the veil to the train about half way.

"The bride's only jewelry was Mr. Harwood's wedding gift, a magnificent diamond-studded wrist watch on a pearl bracelet. White gardenias and bouvardia formed the bridal bouquet.

"The maid of honor wore a gown of silver cloth. The tight bodice and semi-circular skirt were untrimmed. Her slippers were of silver cloth and her hat was covered with silver lace. She carried a great sheath of lilies, tied with silver ribbons.

"The matron of honor wore white and silver, her gown being untrimmed. Her hat and slippers were silver. She carried white roses and gardenias, tied with white tulle.

All the bridesmaids wore similar gowns, fashioned of white chiffon with tight bodices, and full circular skirts, with the neck lines furnished by bands of chiffon which formed bow ties at the back. Their hats were of white chantilly lace with a small poke bonnet effect, turned up at the back and untrimmed. Their slippers and flowers were all white.

"Mr. Harwood's best man was Harry Yancey, Sr.

"White roses in Venetian bowls decorated the bride's table. Members of the bridal party were seated at tables arranged in the dining room. Other guests were seated in the adjoining drawing room.

"A change made necessary by press of affairs, will postpone the extended wedding tour of the couple for a week. They are making an automobile trip to a secret destination late this afternoon, but will return some time tomorrow to be at Harwood house until they leave for New York.

"Many expensive gifts were showered upon the bride, and it was felt necessary to have two detectives of the city force on hand to guard the display.

"Among the guests were * * *."

Names of only four guests were spelled incorrectly in the account.

Efforts of Noble Harwood and his bride to leave the house unnoticed at four-thirty in the afternoon failed. Their low, swift sedan, shiningly new, was followed down the drive way by the sound of laughter and familiar hails, so that the sightseers who still pressed their noses to the iron fence had warning. Low cries of "There they are!" issued from a score of throats. Laurel could not restrain a desire to look at them as the car dashed out, given a right of way by a suddenly energetic traffic policeman. Children ran after it futilely. The sight-seeing throng eddied away. Central City had had its festive day.

Two hours later the automobile turned from the main highway into a dirt road that led down to a shimmering lake. Trees swished against the side of the car with an eerie sound. Laurel, clutching her husband's arm as it rested on the wheel, shivered. That shiver ran through Noble Harwood, delighted him, intoxicated him.

When the automobile finally stopped, it rested before a log lodge set picturesquely at the head of the lake. Silently they entered. A fire blazed a welcome.

"Ooh, this is so nice," Laurel exclaimed. She looked around, fascinated by the place. The interior was of unfinished logs. Heavy fur rugs, sturdy log furniture, a corner occupied by books, a piano, a radio receiving instrument, radiated comfort.

"It's a surprise," Noble said. "It's a place we can come whenever we wish to be absolutely alone. No one knows I own it."

Laurel sank down in one of the massive chairs and gazed into the fireplace. "I'm so tired—and so happy." He knelt down beside her. Her eyes became great pools of starry darkness, her moist red lips fascinated and held him.

"At last we are alone," he murmured. He felt very young.

MEETING HELD BY PAST GRANDS

Past Grands Association of Odd Fellows of district No. 28, southern district of Columbiana county, met last evening in the rooms of Pennova lodge No. 880, in the Hill building, Mulberry street. Past grand officers were present from Lisbon, Salineville, Wellsville and the two lodges in East Liverpool.

Rebekahs To Meet.

Ohio City Rebekah lodge No. 782 will meet this evening in the Hill building, Mulberry street. Class of candidates will be initiated, after which a social session will be held.

Scouts Meet Tonight.

Boy and Girl Scouts will meet this evening in the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. Scoutmaster Harold Downard will be in charge.

Spence Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth E. Spence, 51 years old, were held this afternoon in the home, 1552 Globe street. Rev. Dr. J. O. Campbell, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church, was in charge. Burial was made in Riverview cemetery.

Missionary Meeting.

Home Missionary society of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church met last evening in the church parlors. Regular program was carried out.

Illustrated Lecture.

E. P. Gethardt, missionary to Soudan, Egypt, gave an illustrated lecture on his work in Africa last evening at the Second Presbyterian church. Large number attended.

BUCYRUS.—Because the district election board at North Robinson has lost track of the election tally sheets, results of the election in that district is not yet known.

L. S. Wagner, Jefferson township clerk, has the poll books, but claims that no tally sheets have been turned over to him. He has therefore been unable to announce official results.

A New Way To Get Thin

"Chew 'Silph' and be Sylph-Like"

"Did you hear about the latest discovery to reduce?" one fat woman is whispering it to the other—"It is called 'Silph' and is making a hit because it does take off FAT in the easiest and most agreeable way. What is there to do? Simply chew two or three pieces of a refreshing and pleasant gum—it is as good as eating candies."

Through a most marvelous recent discovery scientists have been able to incorporate the extract of sea plants and herbs known for years as wonderful reducers into a delicious, refreshing chewing gum called, "Silph"—Doctors—medical authorities and grateful users, who had been burdened with obesity for years are amazed at the quick and astonishing results produced by "Silph" in most obstinate cases where everything else seemed to have failed.

If you are suffering from excess fat you should TODAY get a package of SILPH Reducing Gum which sells for 50c—That is enough for one week or you send in a dollar bill and get a full two weeks supply which is a sufficient amount to see wonderful results. If your druggist cannot get it for you send direct to the Silph Medical Company, 9 West 60th Street, New York City. Silph is also recommended for stomach troubles."

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS

Colleen Moore Stars In "Desert Flower," Booked at American

A shot.

A man falls dead.

"I did it," cries the girl, stepping forth.

"It was I," insists the handsome young man.

And as the sheriff scratches his head in perplexity and indecision, Jose, the faithful Mexican, protector of the woman, appears on the scene like an appartition, displaying a gun with one of the chambers empty, as mute testimony of his guilt.

But who, really, was guilty? You'd never guess, unless you sit through the entire showing of "The Desert Flower,' an absorbing new First National photoplay of Western life, with the delightful Coleen Moore in the leading role, which opens a three-day engagement at the American theatre Monday.

According to all reports, you won't find it difficult to sit through the performance; in fact, you might constitute yourself a "repeater"—a role entirely legal at the boxoffice, though not considered so at the polls.

"The Desert Flower" is based on the highly successful Al Woods stage offering of the name, which intrigued New Yorkers throughout the recent theatrical season. It was put into screen form by June Mathis, declared to be the highest priced writer in cinema circles.

Campaign Launched To Make Rome Quiet City Instead of Noisy

ROME—A campaign to make Rome one of the quetest cities in the world instead of one of the noisiest has been begun by the municipal authorities. New regulations issued by the authorities prohibit street car conductors using their blatant whistles, while an attempt to restrict the use of automobile horns is to be made.

In addition to providing marks on the sidewalks where pedestrians must cross the streets, corner stores are to be asked to erect mirrors which will enable drivers to see approaching traffic and thus abviate the necessity of furiously blowing automobile horns at every corner.

Wide spread interest is being aroused in the appearance at the Ceramic theatre on Thanksgivisg day of William Faversham, in "Foot-Loose," he described as a modern society drama of intrigue with an unusual European atmosphere.

It is the work of Zoe Akins, and is said to provide the celebrated star with a role in every way worthy of his ripened talent. There are few players on the stage today who can play so superbly and at the same time with such charming individuality and local play-goers can look forward to a memorable evening in the theatre.

Mr. Faversham personally directed and staged "Foot-Loose' in its entirety and the presentation will be in keeping with the high standard of excellence expected of a William Faversham production.

The supporting cast includes such well known players as: Sarah Truax, Edith Campbell, Ann Warrington, Antonio Salerno, Dennis Cleugh, Beatrice Vert, Milton C. Herman and others.

Star British Golfer Plans to Make His Home in America

LONDON — Archie Compston, now considered Britains' leading professional golfer, plans sooner or later to emigrate to America. In other words he believes that being a professional golfer in these islands is not remunerative enough and he wants to collect some of the big money which is paid out annually to outstanding "pros" in the United States.

Before leaving Great Britain he wants to establish a firm reputation as the best golfer here. He has been the outstanding golfing success of the year and has very nearly reached the pinnacle of British golfing fame. In addition to finishing second in the British open, tied with Abe Mitchell, he has defeated Mitchell in two recent tournaments. He also tied with Arnaud Masey for the French open tttle, but was beaten in the play-off.

ANNOUNCEMENT

To enlighten the public on Permanent Hair Waving, Prof. Francois Marcel, who has given preliminary announcement of so-called "Permanent Marcel Wave" is still in Paris, but announces demonstrations will be given in Brooklyn, N. Y., upon the return of Prof. and Mme. Marcel from Paris, France, last of November. As yet there is not any company advertising their machine will produce Permanent Marcel. The nearest approach to Marcel effect is the Nestle Method of Flat Winding as taught by Nestle ("and not amateurs idea of it") producing a flat wave.

The only new thing in permanent hair waving was when Nestle, the originator of permanent waving, introduced the Lanoil Method and doing away with dangerous steam, tubes and reducing heating period to 7 minutes.

BELLEFONTAINE — While working in his field near here, C. H. Hertenstein, farmer on the West Mansfield paved road, spied a white object in a grove, which he took to be a lame, white duck.

On investigation he discovered it was a huge mushroom that weighed 7¾ pounds. A smaller fungus growing by it gave the group the appearance of a reclining duck from a distance.

Special Exercises for Women Over 40 Chief Aim of Culture Club

LONDON.—Special exercises for women over forty to get rid of that "heavy" feeling are to be a feature of the Professional Women's Physical Culture club, shortly to be opened here.

"Women of forty have lost the spring of youth, and are likely to let themselves 'slump' into a premature middle age," says Alice Michelmore, Secretary of the club.

"They need a regular scientific exercise even more than young workers do. We are therefore arranging a special course of exercises, which, without being too strenuous, are designed to make the woman of forty feel like twenty-five again.'

Only Chrysler Four Combines These Performance Abilities

The Chrysler Four's extraordinary performance—itself the direct and positive evidence of the highest quality in design, materials and craftsmanship—literally leaves no alternative in its field.

Today's market holds nothing of any type, approaching the Chrysler Four price range, which even remotely approximates its supreme combination of performance abilities.

In speed, the Chrysler Four gives you a new standard—58 miles an hour, achieved quickly and easily, not for a momentary spurt, but for eager mile after mile, as long as you like.

When you would dash away ahead of the crowd in traffic, the Chrysler Four whisks you from 5 to 25 miles in eight seconds—with sure-footed reliability and purring smoothness.

Yet, with all the super-power necessary for such speed and such swift pick-up, you can get 25 miles to the gallon.

Any one of these exceptional abilities would be sufficient evidence of value for any manufacturer except Chrysler: the three of them clinch the assurance of Chrysler Four's transcendent quality and worth.

We are eager to afford you the opportunity of proving the superiority of this favored Four. We ask you to ride in the car—drive it—see and feel for yourself, its speed, its swift response, its pliability of power, its smooth operation, and even more particularly, its riding steadiness and comfort. Then, we believe, you will inevitably share in the enthusiasm of its tens of thousands of owners.

ANNOUNCEMENT

To enlighten the public on Permanent Hair Waving, Prof. Francois Marcel, who has given preliminary announcement of so-called "Permanent Marcel Wave" is still in Paris, but announces demonstrations will be given in Brooklyn, N. Y., upon the return of Prof. and Mme. Marcel from Paris, France, last of November. As yet there is not any company advertising their machine will produce Permanent Marcel. The nearest approach to Marcel effect is the Nestle Method of Flat Winding as taught by Nestle ("and not amateurs idea of it") producing a flat wave.

The only new thing in permanent hair waving was when Nestle, the originator of permanent waving, introduced the Lanoil Method and doing away with dangerous steam, tubes and reducing heating period to 7 minutes.

BELLEFONTAINE — While working in his field near here, C. H. Hertenstein, farmer on the West Mansfield paved road, spied a white object in a grove, which he took to be a lame, white duck.

On investigation he discovered it was a huge mushroom that weighed 7¾ pounds. A smaller fungus growing by it gave the group the appearance of a reclining duck from a distance.

Special Exercises for Women Over 40 Chief Aim of Culture Club

LONDON.—Special exercises for women over forty to get rid of that "heavy" feeling are to be a feature of the Professional Women's Physical Culture club, shortly to be opened here.

"Women of forty have lost the spring of youth, and are likely to let themselves 'slump' into a premature middle age," says Alice Michelmore, Secretary of the club.

"They need a regular scientific exercise even more than young workers do. We are therefore arranging a special course of exercises, which, without being too strenuous, are designed to make the woman of forty feel like twenty-five again.'

Only Chrysler Four Combines These Performance Abilities

The Chrysler Four's extraordinary performance—itself the direct and positive evidence of the highest quality in design, materials and craftsmanship—literally leaves no alternative in its field.

Today's market holds nothing of any type, approaching the Chrysler Four price range, which even remotely approximates its supreme combination of performance abilities.

In speed, the Chrysler Four gives you a new standard—58 miles an hour, achieved quickly and easily, not for a momentary spurt, but for eager mile after mile, as long as you like.

When you would dash away ahead of the crowd in traffic, the Chrysler Four whisks you from 5 to 25 miles in eight seconds—with sure-footed reliability and purring smoothness.

Yet, with all the super-power necessary for such speed and such swift pick-up, you can get 25 miles to the gallon.

Any one of these exceptional abilities would be sufficient evidence of value for any manufacturer except Chrysler: the three of them clinch the assurance of Chrysler Four's transcendent quality and worth.

We are eager to afford you the opportunity of proving the superiority of this favored Four. We ask you to ride in the car—drive it—see and feel for yourself, its speed, its swift response, its pliability of power, its smooth operation, and even more particularly, its riding steadiness and comfort. Then, we believe, you will inevitably share in the enthusiasm of its tens of thousands of owners.

"Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the only thing that relieved me of constipation"

Constipation is dreaded, not only for its insidious self, but for the serious diseases which may be traced to it. Mr. Palludon tells us the helpful story of his relief:

Doing hard work while constipated brought on piles, from which I suffered for two years. I tried almost every remedy without success. Finally I tried Kellogg's ALL-BRAN and it has made me fit again. It is the only thing that helped me and I want everybody to know about it.
(Signed) JOHN PALLUDON,
Clementon, N. Y.

You can get sure, prompt, permanent relief from constipation. Simply eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly. Two tablespoonfuls daily, or in chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN. It is nature's own way of cleaning the intestine. It is a bulk food which sweeps the system of constipation's poisons and stimulates normal, healthy action.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to be permanently effective, if eaten regularly, or your grocer returns the purchase price. Eat it with milk, cream, fruits, or try the recipes printed on the package. Made in Battle Creek, Michigan. Served in leading hotels and restaurants. Your grocer sells it.

Mrs. Mary Hanley Enrolled In Daughters of Revolution

East End Woman Boasts of Family War Record Believed to Have Few Equals in District.

A family war record, which is believed to have few equals in East Liverpool, is that held by Mrs. Mary Hanley, High street, East End, who has just been enrolled in the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, national headquarters of which are maintained at Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Hanley will be initiated by the Michael Meyers chapter, of Toronto, at a meeting on Monday, December 14. While only women whose direct descendants served in the Revolutionary war against England in 1775-83 are eligible to membership, the Toronto chapter has enrolled 50.

Mrs. Hanley comes from a family of fighting men, her ancestors on both her mother's and fathers' side having served in practically every war in which the United States has participated. Thirteen ancestors on her father's side served in the American Revolution with Pennsylvania units, although no record is available as to the number of ancestors on her mother's side who participated in the same war.

John Peden, a son of Mary Peden, her father's grandmother, and James Finney, Mrs. Hanley's great great grandfather, fought in the Revolutionary war. Her great grandfather John Peden fought in the second war with England in 1812, when Great Britain sought to force American seamen into the British service. Her mother's grandfather, Henry Walter fought with an Ohio unit in this same conflict.

Several of her ancestors were in the service of the United States in the war with Mexico. Mrs. Hanley's father, Charles W. Finney was a member of the 85th Indiana Infantry during the four years of the Civil war. He served in the capacity of a first lieutenant and was captured by the Rebels at Thompson's landing. He spent three months in the famous Libby prison camp where thousands of Union soldiers died from starvation, exposure and disease before their release was effected.

Robert Finney, a brother of the East End woman, fought in the Spanish-American war to free Cuba from Spain in 1898, while her son, Harry Hanley, is a veteran of the World war.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

U. S. PRODUCES 90 PER CENT OF WORLD'S AUTOS

Turned Out 3,640,000 Cars and Trucks in 1924.

EUROPE LAGGING

Cheap Production Results Because of Unlimited Demand.

WASHINGTON.—The United States in a comparatively few years has erected an automotive industry that produces over 90 per cent of the automobiles used in the world.

Figures made public at the Department of Commerce illustrate this tremendous control of the market—in 1924 the manufacturers of this country built 3,640,000 cars and trucks, in contract with an output of 330,000 machines in Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany. All Europe did not produce in excess of 350,000 automobiles last year.

Mass production, made possible in the United States because of the tremendous lucrative domestic market, is the answer to American supremacy in the automobile industry.

To Hold Supremacy.

Because there is so great a demand for cars in the United State the manufacturer virtually is unlimited in his output—cheap production is the result. In Europe, on the other hand, there is not found the domestic demand. Mass production was tried by several manufacturers without success.

Officials here believe that for all time to come the manufacturers in America will have this great advantage over the European and hence never will be seriously hampered in competition regardless of the cheap foreign labor and other lowered costs of operation.

"Export figures for the different European auto-producing countries are so dissimilarly classified as to make a direct comparison with United States and Canada difficult,' a department official said.

"However, on an approximate basis of grouping passenger cars and trucks, American exports (United States and Canada)' during 1924 amounted to 224,851 units, as compared with a combined total of 84,961 for Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany. This difference of something less than 3 to 1 in favor of American exports contrasts with the much greater disparity of 11 to 1, between the relative production totals of the two comparative groups and suggests greater relative export activity on the part of the European producers."

Officials say that it is not the amount of foreign trade that leading European producing countries are getting but even more the volume of their production which should be of greater interest to the American automotive exporter. Our exports compete not only with European cars in markets foreign to both, but as well in the domestic markets of the European producer. American exports are directly competitive with European production.

"At this point," it was stated, "it is interesting to note the rapid increase of European production which has taken place within the past two years, as compared with placement of American cars abroad.

Europe's Output Grows.

"Production in the United Kingdom, France, Germany and Italy, according to the best available data, increased from 258,000 passenger cars and trucks in 1923 to 330,000 in 1924, a gain of approximately 30 per cent, including foreign assemblies from the United States and Canada, advanced only 16½ per cent, or from 315,381 to 367,197 units.

"If this condition of rising overseas production keeps up — and there is good reason for making this assumption—it logically follows that American automobile exporters cannot hope to secure as great a percentage of foreign business in the future as they otherwise would.

"This statement should NOT be misconstrued to mean that our exports will not increase, for figures comparable to the above covering the first six months of 1925, amounting to 269,393 units, indicate that a new high record will be made when complete returns for the full year are made known."

New Legal Phrase.

CLEVELAND—"From the beginning of the world" is perhaps a new legal phrase. Walter C. Cobham, secured a divorce. Cobham paid alimony of $1,500 and his lawyer asked Mrs. Cobham's Chicago atterney for a release. The release became effective "from the beginning of the world."

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE ANSWERED

As a protest against the government's failure to put more Indians on the committee, a movement has been started to keep everyone from testifying before the recently appointed currency commission.

RHEUMATISM, NEURITIS, PAIN

"Heet" Relieves Instantly

With applicator attached to cork, just brush "Heet" over the pain area, whether in hands, elbows, shoulders, feet, knees, legs, back, neck or body. Instantly, you feel this harmless, glorious, penetrating heat draw the pain, soreness and stiffness right out of the aching or swollen joint, muscle or nerve. Besides, "Heet" scatters the congestion and establishes a cure.

"Heet" contains two soothing, penetrating ingredients, too expensive to use in ordinary liniments or analgesics. "Heet" is a clean, pleasant liquid; doesn't stain, blister or irritate the skin and costs only 60 cents at any drug store.

U. S. PRODUCES 90 PER CENT OF WORLD'S AUTOS

Turned Out 3,640,000 Cars and Trucks in 1924.

EUROPE LAGGING

Cheap Production Results Because of Unlimited Demand.

WASHINGTON.—The United States in a comparatively few years has erected an automotive industry that produces over 90 per cent of the automobiles used in the world.

Figures made public at the Department of Commerce illustrate this tremendous control of the market—in 1924 the manufacturers of this country built 3,640,000 cars and trucks, in contract with an output of 330,000 machines in Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany. All Europe did not produce in excess of 350,000 automobiles last year.

Mass production, made possible in the United States because of the tremendous lucrative domestic market, is the answer to American supremacy in the automobile industry.

To Hold Supremacy.

Because there is so great a demand for cars in the United State the manufacturer virtually is unlimited in his output—cheap production is the result. In Europe, on the other hand, there is not found the domestic demand. Mass production was tried by several manufacturers without success.

Officials here believe that for all time to come the manufacturers in America will have this great advantage over the European and hence never will be seriously hampered in competition regardless of the cheap foreign labor and other lowered costs of operation.

"Export figures for the different European auto-producing countries are so dissimilarly classified as to make a direct comparison with United States and Canada difficult,' a department official said.

"However, on an approximate basis of grouping passenger cars and trucks, American exports (United States and Canada)' during 1924 amounted to 224,851 units, as compared with a combined total of 84,961 for Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany. This difference of something less than 3 to 1 in favor of American exports contrasts with the much greater disparity of 11 to 1, between the relative production totals of the two comparative groups and suggests greater relative export activity on the part of the European producers."

Officials say that it is not the amount of foreign trade that leading European producing countries are getting but even more the volume of their production which should be of greater interest to the American automotive exporter. Our exports compete not only with European cars in markets foreign to both, but as well in the domestic markets of the European producer. American exports are directly competitive with European production.

"At this point," it was stated, "it is interesting to note the rapid increase of European production which has taken place within the past two years, as compared with placement of American cars abroad.

Europe's Output Grows.

"Production in the United Kingdom, France, Germany and Italy, according to the best available data, increased from 258,000 passenger cars and trucks in 1923 to 330,000 in 1924, a gain of approximately 30 per cent, including foreign assemblies from the United States and Canada, advanced only 16½ per cent, or from 315,381 to 367,197 units.

"If this condition of rising overseas production keeps up — and there is good reason for making this assumption—it logically follows that American automobile exporters cannot hope to secure as great a percentage of foreign business in the future as they otherwise would.

"This statement should NOT be misconstrued to mean that our exports will not increase, for figures comparable to the above covering the first six months of 1925, amounting to 269,393 units, indicate that a new high record will be made when complete returns for the full year are made known."

New Legal Phrase.

America Expends $334 Yearly on Each Pauper

Washington.—The cost of maintaining the average pauper in the United States is $334.64 annually, and he has 2.14 acres of land cultivated for his support, the Department of Labor found.

The per capita value of buildings and equipment devoted to the pauper's care averaged $1,118.96.

States of the Union were shown to have widely different ideas as to what and how much should be done for their paupers. In Nevada, the subsistence and maintenance of almshouse inmates cost per year $865.10 per capita. In Alabama, it cost $187.58.

In South Dakota, the property investment in almshouses and almshouse farms per person cared for is $5,600, while in Mississippi it is $415.68.

One of the reasons for high cost, the department said, is the large number of small institutions devoted to the care of the poverty stricken. It was found that one-third of all such establishments had less than ten inmates, and one-half had less than twenty-five.

Police Dog Guards Well, but Picks Wrong Auto

Fortuna, Cal.—J. H. Struba's dog hopped into an automobile on Essex street, near Washington street, perched on the front seat and defied efforts of three police officers and an angry car owner to coax or dislodge him from his position. The dog was in the wrong automobile, but refused to take anyone's word for it except that of his owner, who came along after half an hour. The animal hopped from the auto without a murmur and accompanied his owner down Essex street a short distance, where the owner's car had been parked.

Owner and animal became separated on Bedford street. The dog had no trouble in finding his way back to Essex street, but his scent was a bit defective in selecting the proper automobile.

A crowd of several hundred persons gathered and witnessed the dog's victory over the minions of the law.
